Woman Dies After Crash at Iola; 4 Injured

Mrs. Peter Hansen, Waupaca, Passenger In Auto Struck in Side

WAUPACA — A Waupaca woman died at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Appleton about 10 p m. Monday, five hours after she and four other persons were injured in a two-car crash at Waupaca County Trunk E and State 161, five miles east of Iola.

Dead is Mrs. Peter J. Hansen, 68, 1140 Riverside Drive. Her death and the deaths of three boys in separate accidents Monday boosted Wisconsin's 1967 highway death toll to 633, compared with 638 on this date a year ago.

Mrs. Hansen who, with her husband, was a passenger in a car driven by John H Myers, 73, Alberta, Canada, suffered a fractured jaw and head and internal injuries. A post mortem examination was scheduled for today.

Also injured in the accident were Myers, with a back injury and face and body lacerations; Hansen, who suffered back injuries and face cuts; Donald L. Shatters, 41, route 1, Amherst Junction, driver of the other car, with multiple head and body lacerations; and his son, 13, who suffered serious head injuries and possible internal injuries.

All of the injured were taken by ambulance to Iola Hospital, but Mrs. Hansen and the Shatters boy later were transferred to the Appleton hospital.

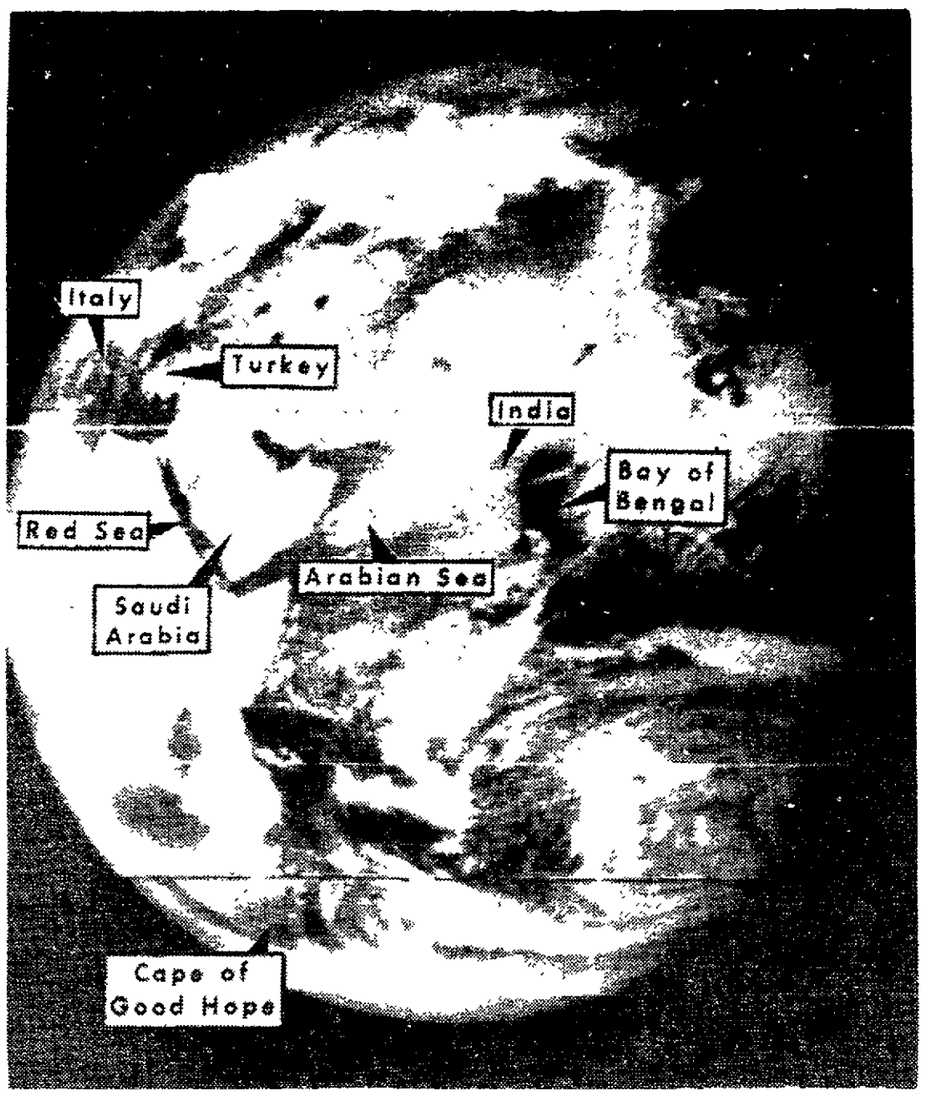

Waupaca County police said Myers was southbound on County Trunk E when his car was struck by the Shatters auto which was westbound on 161.

Myers stated he was not familiar with the road and did not stop at the arterial on E, according to Capt. John F. Penney, of the county police. Shatters and his son were thrown from their car. Both autos were demolished.

Carl Peter Rath, 11, of rural Mukwonago, was killed Monday when his bicycle and a car collided on Highway 24, five miles northeast of East Troy.

Jay Fischer, 5, of Luxemburg in Kewaunee County, was killed Monday when a car struck him sa he crossed Highway 54 in front of his home.

Jeffrey R. Jira, 15, of Burlington, died after a jeep in which he was riding with another 15-year-old, overturned on a road five miles southwest of Burlington and pinned him.

Johnson Backed By Ike, Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen joins former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in defending President Johnson's decision to bomb North Vietnam targets only 10 miles from Red China.

Eisenhower, commander of allied military forces in Europe in World War II, and Dirksen said separately but in almost identical words that military targets were involved and the air attacks should be continued.

The White House, meanwhile, declined any comment on the latest U.S. air assaults.

Not a Risk

Eisenhower and Dirksen said they do not believe such near-border raids risk bringing Red China into the conflict—a contention made in the Senate Monday by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and echoed by Republican Sens. Charles H. Percy of Illinois and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky. In the face of this split of Republican opinion, Eisenhower told a news conference as he left Walter Reed Army Hospital after a 10-day stay, he hopes the conduct of the war does not become an issue in next year's presidential campaign. He said he doesn't want to be among those who might make it one.

"What do politicans know about conducting a war?" he asked. "We must use force and get done with it."

'Win' War

Eisenhower said he believes the war should be pursued, "with the idea of winning it." He added: "You should get everything you can, and use it as fast as you can, and get it over with as quickly as possible because war is a nasty thing."

Dirksen said in an interview he is satisfied legitimate military targets were hit in the raids to within 10 miles of the Red Chinese border. He said he is certain American fliers have been instructed thoroughly in avoiding Red Chinese air space.

"I think it's necessary and I don't think it's dangerous," he said. "I haven't heard of any protest from China."

Mansfield called the bombing raids "a very dangerous extension of the war." He said they "bring us that much closer to the brink of a possible confrontation with China."

New Efforts

Endorsing this contention, Cooper called for a move toward de-escalation and new efforts to get peace negotiations.

Percy said in a statement that by approving the air attacks, Johnson "not only has escalated the war but he has risked a widening of the war which could result in tens of thousands of additional casualties" by inviting Communist Chinese intervention.

Dirksen backed Eisenhower's contention that the fighting must be pursued vigorously. He opposed a proposal made earlier by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., former GOP national chairman, for a change in the policy of bombing the North. Morton once supported that bombing but said it had failed to bring Hanoi to the peace table.

Reconnaissance Craft on Photo Mission Only 10 Miles From Border; Two Crewmen Missing

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that the North Vietnamese shot down a U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane Sunday, apparently while it was photographing damage from a raid only 10 miles from Red China's border.

The RA5C Vigilante's two-man crew was listed as missing. The plane was the 642nd U.S. warplane announced as lost over the North so far in the war.

Navy planes raided the Lang Son railroad and highway bridge Sunday in what were the closest raids to Red China in the Vietnam war. They followed up with raids on nearby targets Monday.

U.S. B52 bombers raided the southern half of the demilitarized zone today, for the second time in three days and dumped tons of explosives on what the command described as extensive North Vietnamese artillery and antiaircraft positions.

Communist Buildup

The stepped up raids by the eight-engine Stratofortresses, each capable of carrying up to 50,000 pounds of bombs, indicated that the Communists may be building up for another sustained drive on U.S. Marine outposts at Con Thien and Dong Ha just south of the zone.

Both outposts were heavily shelled in June and the first week of July, but shellings have been infrequent since tactical fighter-bombers gave the area a going over.

Ground action in South Vietnam was virtually at a standstill. The U.S. Command said there were no significant contacts reported in 34 allied operations of battalion size or larger.

Operation Portland

These included the newly announced "Operation Portland," a multibattalion search and destroy operation by elements of the U.S. Army's 1st Division about 70 miles north of Saigon. The operation began Saturday, but was not announced until today for security reasons. No contact with the enemy has been reported so far.

The B52 raids in the southern half of the DMZ also were aimed at Communist troop concentrations, bunkers, and assembly areas.

The three raids were in areas 2.4 miles northeast of the Marine outpost at Con Thien. Intelligence reports indicate that there are elements of three North Vietnamese divisions—perhaps 35,000 men or more—operating ir and around the demilitarized zone.

DMZ Targets

The B52s mounted three raids in the zone Sunday—two in the southern half of the six-mile wide buffer zone and the third in the northern section. Targets

All Taxes Averaged $25 Hike in 1966

CHICAGO (AP) — State and local governments collected an average of $25 more taxes in fiscal 1966 than in the previous year, a study showed today.

The state-local tax take averaged $290 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

The increase followed a trend shown since the Commerce Clearing House began annual reports on combined state and local taxes in 1962.

In five years the per capita state-local tax burden has increased as much as $114 in Hawaii and $101 in New York. The trend was less marked in the south, where increases in five years have been less than $50 in a half dozen states and only $37 in Texas.

Tax Ranges

The range of per capita state-local taxes in 1966 was from South Carolina's $188 to New York's $410, with California, $395, and Hawaii, $365, next at the upper end. Six states—South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee — collected less than $200, and the next two also were southern states—Georgia and North Carolina. The per capita median was $287, an increase of $32 from 1965, the CCH study of census bureau statistics showed.

The Commerce Clearing House is a private reporting agency on tax and business law.

New York was the only state to collect more than $400 per capita state-local taxes in 1966, but 14 other states and the District of Columbia had per capita

Johnson Men to be Badgered

GOP Wants Budget Cut Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans plan to press President Johnson's first-string fiscal team about the extent of administration budget- cutting Congress can expect if it approves his proposed income tax hike.

The senior Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, laid the groundwork Monday for this line of inquiry from the minority members. The panel's hearings continue today.

There was heavy emphasis Monday on economy from the Democratic side, too. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., asked Budget Director Charles L. Schultze: "Is there any real possibility that, if taxes are increased, we can expect the rate of spending not to be increased?"

Schultze replied he couldn't answer for expenditures linked to the Vietnam fighting, but "as far as civilian expenditures are concerned there is a good possibility of getting even below the figures in the January budget—in fact we are aiming at this."

Vietnam Costs

Schultze reminded the congressmen, however, that economy efforts depend in part on their action. He said he understands there is serious discussion in Congress of a government employes' pay raise bill that would cost $1 billion more than the 4.5 per cent increase the President has approved.

$29 Billion Deficit

Schultze, along with Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler and Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was recalled for a second day's appearance before the tax-writing committee.

They opened the administration's case for Johnson's 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes intended, with related tax changes, to raise $7.4 billion against a deficit that otherwise might run to $29 billion.

Byrnes said in an interview he has a number of additional questions to ask, some aimed at administration statements that officials hope to cut, hold down and postpone spending by about as much as the tax increase.

Byrnes said he is not satisfied that defense spending not directly connected with the Vietnam war cannot be reduced.

He complained he has been unable to get a firm figure on the cost of sending 45,000 additional troops to Vietnam. "The President talks about $4 billion, but the Defense Department says it doesn't know," Byrnes said.

Kiesinger Welcomed

Johnson Vows U.S. Support of Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger today that the United States remains ready to protect the safety of Europe and to cooperate "in the great task of ending the artificial division of your country."

Welcoming the West German leader to the White House, Johnson said that "yesterday's triumphs can give us heart, and direction, for today's challenges."

"We have stood together to secure the safety of Europe," the President added. "Today we stand ready to assure its future. We in America are ready, as well, to work with you in the great task of ending the artificial division of your country."

The chancellor was received, with traditional pomp due his rank, on the south lawn of the White House.

West German friction over the issues of European troop commitments and the proposed nuclear weapons treaty are the likely major topics during the two days of talks set up for Johnson and Kiesinger.

During the welcoming ceremonies, Johnson told his guest that "in the past two decades we have worked shoulder to shoulder to build a prosperous and free Europe, and a prosperous and free Germany."

"And together we have been remarkably successful," the President declared.

'We Tried Everything We Knew'

Terrified Companions Watch Marauding Grizzly Drag off Victim

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Four terror-stricken young people who saw one of their friends killed by a grizzly bear in a Glacier National Park say they tried everything they knew to drive away the marauding animal.

They built a bonfire, but it didn't scare the bear.

They lay motionless in their sleeping bags, but the bear attacked anyway.

One youth even punched the bear with his fist, he said, but the grizzly kept coming.

Paul R. Dunn, 16, a high school junior from Edina, Minn., screamed: "He's got her in the sleeping bag and he's dragging her up the hill!"

The students, who had come to the scenic park for a working vacation, told their story Monday after escaping from the maddened bear, which threatened them for hours before finally attacking and killing Michele Koons, 19, of San Diego, Calif., early Sunday.

Twenty miles from the campsite where Michele died, another 19-year-old girl, Julie Helgeson of Albert Lea, Minn., was killed in her sleeping bag by another park bear during the same night One of her companions, Roy Ducat, 18, of Perrysburg, Ohio, was seriously injured.

A hunt continued today for the killer bears after park rangers shot and killed two grizzlies Monday in the area where Miss Helgeson was slain. Tests were being made on those bears to try to determine whether one was the killer.

With Dunn and Miss Koons were Denise Huckle, 19, of Sam Manuel, Calif., and a junior at the University of Arizona and Ronald A. Noseck, 21, and his brother, Ray T. 23, both of Oracle, Ariz. The Nosecks are dental students at the University of Louisville.

Saturday they had hiked to Trout Lake in a wild area in the western part of the park for a campout.

Two campers they met on the trail told of being chased up a tree by a grizzly.

They pitched camp and, while cooking hot dogs, the wind blew their campside smoke into the trees and Michele said, "there's a bear."

The bear invaded the camp and the four ran 50 yards down the lakefront. It ate their food and left with Michele's travel bag in its teeth.

"We discussed whether to stay where we were or try to go back," Dunn said. "It was dark and we weren't sure of the trail, so we built a big bonfire."

They saw the bear again standing on a logjam in the lake.

"None of us really slept," Ray Noseck said. "We just kept putting wood on the fire."

"About two o'clock my little dog, Squirt, started growling and I heard something in the water," Denise Huckle said. "I knew there was a bear near us."

"We stayed real close to the fire," Dunn said. "My feet really got hot."

"A couple of times the bear came very close to the fire," Dunn said. They got in their

Will Tires Pull Paint Off Floor?

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I've been told the reason latex paint peels off my garage floor is because rubber tires pull it off Is this true?

A: News to me! Garage floors in the snow belt are notoriously rough on paint. But it's from ground dampness working up through the slab, as well as snow-melting salts dripping down when the car comes home. Frankly, one of the big chores I avoid is by not painting my garage floor at all.

Q Our hot water heater makes a banging noise after it has been running for a while The plumber thinks it is steam hitting the insides of the tank, but can't give me a solution to the problem Can you help?

A: Sounds as though the water is being over-heated. So when a faucet is opened, it flashes into steam, which can certainly make a racket in the heater. A competent thermostat could control this overheating.

Q Is it wise to remove wallpaper in an older house? I have been informed that removing it may reveal defects If true, can my husband and I paint the wallpaper?

A: This is a fine example of letting sleeping dogs alone. If the paper is clean, firm and solid, go ahead and paint it. If there are any peeling spots, peel them off first, sand the edges smooth.

Q After purchasing some redwood patio furniture, we were told due to weathering the wood would lose its natural color and turn gray. Is there any way to treat it to preserve the present natural color?

A: Redwood stain is what you need. It's made for this. However, many people prefer the soft, silvery tones which weathered redwood develops. In fact, some of them even will use mild bleaching solution to speed the weathering.

Q Last fall we built a cottage by a lake, and in April, a pair of flickers began drilling holes, eventually going right through the cedar siding and fiberglass insulation They drilled for 10 days, and left five holes the size of baseballs How can we prevent a recurrence next spring?

A: The closest parallel I've met: A near-neighbor, whose white siding was being vigorously flickered, covered the favorite drilling spot by nailing the top of a five-gallon paint can over it. After vainly banging his driller a few times, the flicker left permanently. (We couldn't figure out why he didn't pick another spot, but he didn't.)

Q Some plastic tiles fell off the bathroom wall How can I replace them? And can this type tile be painted?

A: Tile cement, available at any hardware store, will stick them back firmly. Painting with latex paint will work very well. Be sure to sand down any gloss for a better bond. Make sure, too, not a trace of wax or grease remains.

Boys' Assignment: Dressy Look for Fall

With the wide variety of colors, fabrics, styles and patterns available, outfitting young boys for school will be easier than ever.

The American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear reports that many of the better styles in men's clothing have been adapted to boys' wear without overwhelming the traditional styling and serviceability traits necessary for grade-schooler's apparel All types of boys' wear are feeling this influence

Mother's best friend, the permanent press process, will be found in almost all items of apparel for little boys. This process not only serves as a time-saver on wash days but increases the life and improves the look of the garment as well

Styles Like Dad's

Even the most unclothes-conscious lads are likely to go for a dressier look this year Suits and sport jackets will feature more double-breasted styles with side vents and peaked lapels — just like Dad's clothes The fabrics, too, will be similar, including rugged twills, hossacks, worsted wools and cottons.

Color and pattern have not been forgotten for the young set either Plaids, checks, and stripes in the new earth tones as well as grays and greens are the color and pattern pacesetters for fall. Coordinated outfits, which make mixing and matching these colors and patterns an easy matter, will be great favorites with both mothers and sons.

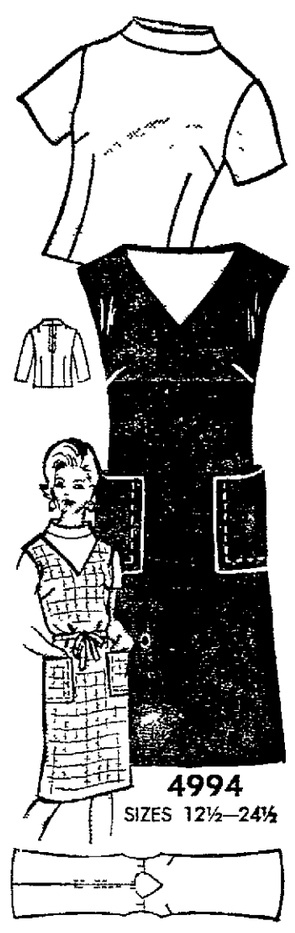

Heavy Appearance

For school hours and after, slacks, shirts, sweaters and jackets are taking on a heavier appearance Sweaters come in pop-corn knits, cable stitching and other rugged looks with crew necks, V-necks and mock turtlenecks The full turtleneck, which continues to grow in popularity with the older boys (high school, college and up), has quickly become a favorite of t' grade-schoolers as well.

Slacks and shirts will not be hard to see either Both are being shown in bolder plaids, checks, and stripes. The cotton knit shirts, which have traditionally been a favorite of the young set, will continue to be a favorite in a wider variety of styles

For warmth, outerwear coats and jackets of corduroy, cotton, and wool will be lined in shearling This makes them snug but not too bulky to hinder rought-and-tumble activities

Expression Has True Meaning

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You've surely heard the old expression "One look is worth two finesses," but if you think it has anything to do with peeking, shame on your evil mind. As part of a program to clean up the bridge-playing mind, I show the true meaning of the expression in today's hand.

South took the first trick in dummy with the king of hearts and led the jack of spades for a finesse, losing to the king. Back came a heart to dummy's ace. South took the ace of spades, won a finesse with the jack of clubs and ran the clubs to get rid of a heart. But South eventually lost three diamonds. Down one.

Opening lead — ♡ J

South went wrong when he took the spade finesse at the second trick. The opening lead of the jack of hearts showed East had the queen, and West needed all of the missing high cards for his opening bid. The spade finesse couldn't possibly work, and South gave up a chance to make his contract when he let West take the king of spades too early.

Stage End Play

South should take the ace of spades at the second trick, take the club finesse and discard a heart on a high club. Then he cashes the ace of hearts and ruffs a heart. Only then is it time to put West in with the king of spades.

If West returns a diamond, South gets a trick with the king. If West leads a heart (or if he could lead a club), dummy ruffs, while South throws a diamond. Since West started with only two trumps he cannot get out safely with a low trump.

Now we see the true meaning of that old expression! When the bidding assures you that a finesse will lose, look for some other line of play.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1-NT, and the next player passes. You hold: S-A Q 9 7 2; H-6 3 2; D-K 6 2; C-8 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three spades. The forcing response is the same whether partner opens with 1-NT or whether he overcalls with 1-NT, because either bid shows the same 16 to 18 point hand. Your jump response invites game in spades if partner has three or more spades; otherwise he bids 3-NT.

Your Problems

Ann Warns Against Operating Part-Time Massage Parlor

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was a student nurse for two years but dropped out. While in training I learned to give massages. It was the part of nursing I liked best and I was very good at it.

One night several weeks ago I was having dinner with my roommate and her boy friend in our apartment. He complained of a headache and a stiff neck so I offered to give him a massage. After 15 minutes he cheerfully announced that his neck felt wonderful and his headache had disappeared. He said I was terrific and asked if I would massage him twice a week.

Within the week, two of his friends called and asked if I would give them massages — for money, of course. I enjoy massaging and I'm always short of money, so I agreed.

Before long the word got around and I developed five steady customers. But here is the problem: A woman at the office told me I could get arrested for massaging without a license. Also she claims it is against the law to massage a person of the opposite sex.

Will you please advise me? — Magic Fingers

Dear Magic: If you are interested in massaging as a career, complete your training and be a full-time physical therapist. State laws vary and you may or may not be breaking the law, depending on number of fatcors which I won't go into here.

In may opinion any girl who values her reputation is foolish to run a part-time massage parlor in her apartment. She may be completely innocent but it looks terrible and she sets herself up as a target for a lot of ugly talk.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Bless you for printing letters from people who are fighting against mental illness. You have no idea how much strength and encouragement I have received from those letters and from your compassionate and encouraging comments.

I, too, am fighting to stay balanced and it is far more agonizing than trying to conquer

T.B. or cancer or heart disease. Friends, relatives and neighbors have sympathy for someone who is physically ill, but they consider people with emotional problems dangerous or nutty characters who must be handled with care lest they snap and perform some act of violence.

This is only part of it. Imagine avoiding movies or church or parties because you are afraid of crowds. How does one explain that he can't go because he is afraid he will get dizzy or nauseated or the chest pains will start?

Please continue to educate your readers to the hell that is part of emotional illness. It could be them next. — Half Way Back

Dear Half Way: You sound as if you are more than half way back. Congratulations. And you are right when you say, "It could be them next." Each person has his own threshold of tolerance and no one knows for certain just how much stress he can take without cracking. Thank you for writing.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

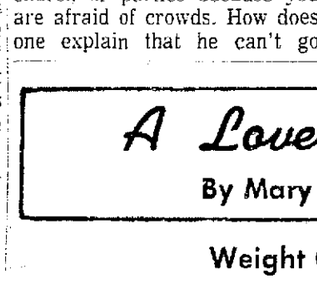

Weight Controls

Along about now you hear women say, "I've gained weight, but I refuse to worry about it until fall. I'm going to enjoy the rest of the summer."

Of course you and I know that tack is the worst kind of folly. Left unchecked, weight creeps up and soon reaches the point of serious dieting. Moreover, the longer you put off losing weight the harder it is to get off.

When you take off extra pounds at the moment of gaining, the calorie cutback is so small that you hardly notice. See for yourself:

A typical breakfast is vegetable juice cocktail, a poached egg on lightly buttered toast, coffee or tea. Menus can be varied by substituting cereal for toast or two slices of broiled bacon for an egg. The invariable is using sugar substitute and skim milk.

The main course at luncheon consists of a delicious salad — tomato stuffed with mixed vegetables and cottage cheese or chicken and cucumber in aspic — bedded on crisp lettuce. The "must" here is dieter's dressing. In addition to a salad the menu may include cold soup, melba toast, skim milk and fresh fruit.

At dinner you have carte blanche as long as you are sparing of canapes, sauces, butter and sweets. Why not try the plan? It's a pleasant way to keep your weight in control. Your future worries, too!

What's your figure problem? To achieve total attractiveness send for my booklet, "Secrets of a Lovely." It contains easy ways to reduce weight and proportions; to overcome grooming problems, such as fuzz, freckles and blemishes; to move with grace and poise. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Mini-Garments Take Laundering

Various versions of the bra-slip are available as supplements to the popular little-nothing mini clothes. Actually, the bra-slip is more likely to be a bra-pantie — a youthful bandeau top ending in a bloomer or culotte to give an unbroken line under clinging knits.

Tricot and nylon taffeta are the popular choices. The fabrics, as well as the elasticized bra tops, are able to "take" the repeated laundering required by all intimate garments — both for cleanliness and to maintain good fit.

Gloves Require Careful Washing

Fabric gloves can be laundered successfully after being dry-cleaned if handled with a little extra patience.

The suds will die down and disappear as the residue of cleaning fluid combines with the first wash water. Repeat a second or even a third time in clean soap or detergent suds until all of the chemical has been washed away. Then make up still one more batch of suds and launder the gloves to remove the soil. Rinse, shape, and dry as usual.

Durable Press Garments Need Little Ironing

Ready-made clothes that have been durably pressed are a timesaver for homemakers because they need little or no ironing. This special treatment enables garments to hold their shape, with creases and pleats that stay in after machine washing and tumble drying.

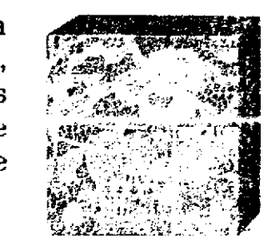

Durable press requires sensitizing the fabric before it is cut, sewed, and pressed and again after it's a garment when the process is completed with baking, according to Lenore Landry, clothing and textiles specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

The fabric is sensitized with a chemical at the beginning of the process. The durable press itself goes in after the fabric is cut, sewed and the garment is shaped. Heat is applied either by high temperature presses or by baking in a special oven. These temperatures are higher than any garment will be exposed to in your washer or dryer. The heat changes the structure of the chemically treated fabric and sets the shape.

For best laundering results with durable press garments, use warm water, a short wash cycle (15 minutes), and a cool rinse water. If you tumble these garments in a dryer, use a warm or medium temperature setting. Remove the clothes as soon as tumbling stops and fold or hang up.

Treat stubborn spots or stains as you would any other clothing — care for them as soon as possible; pretreat before laundering. Follow instructions on the garment hang tag.

Careful Planning Avoids School Clothing Squeeze

You've suffered through your college entrance exams. You've endured the many interviews. You've decided what college you want and at last they've decided on you. Now the real problems start.

What do you pack in your suitcase?

Thousands of young girls this September will be struggling with this decision. Should they take their high school duds or should they run right down to their friendly neighborhood department store and buy everything in sight.

Well, hold on, take a deep breath and remember the golden rule of college wardrobe planning. . ."Don't take too much."

It's not a bad idea to run to your local department store. However, find the nearest one with a College Board or advisory service. One of the girls on the board will have come from your college or at least from the same section of the country and she can give you some sound advice on wardrobe do's and don'ts. If there isn't a board or college shop locally, write to the school's admissions office for suggestions.

Remember that whatever you've missed can be usually bought at the campus stores or picked up at home during Thanksgiving or Christmas vacation.

The next idea that must become fixed in your mind is "Plan Ahead." If your school is near a city, you'll need clothes to wear on visits and dates. But if you're out in the wilds of the mid-west, all your clothes should be casual and warm. Pick clothes in a versatile fabric, which is easy to care for.

A beginning wardrobe list might include the following:

A warm carcoat with a big industrial zipper and a pant suit with a skirt in case slacks are not acceptable in class. (There are many casual and dressy versions available.)

For frat parties and city trips, try simple smock dresses which pack easily and travel well. A mini-trench with its own skirt serves a multitude of purposes on almost any campus.

Don't forget a supply of man-tailored shirts and as much wash 'n wear underwear and night things as possible. Indispensable to every girl everywhere is a flashlight, a small first aid kit and a compact set of sewing supplies.

When you're packing all this, try to send a trunk ahead with the bulky items in it but give it ample time to arrive before you. Taking only hand luggage along insures that you won't be stuck at a station somewhere with no one to help carry things and you won't have a storage problem when you get there.

The last bit of advice is "have a good time."

American Men Ladled Lumps, Plaudits By Women They Court, Bring Bacon to

EDITOR'S NOTE—Despite all the talk, American women think their men today are attractive, fun, intelligent and ambitious Except some, who think they are spoiled, money-mad, unmannerly and petty And most women think beards are good for one thing—to tell the boys from the girls

BY JOY MILLER

Oh happy day for menkind The American male has somebody else who thinks he is as manly and virile as he does the American woman

In spite of male fads in hair and clothes that might raise a doubt, the nationwide sampling of feminine opinion shows that, to more than half the women in this country, contemporary man is just as lusty and masculine as he ever was

"At least in Texas," amended a Dallas housewife

A Chicago widow of 55 elaborated "I think most American women would be glad to accept most American men as a sweetheart, husband and father"

"I don't think men are getting any less virile — not from the passes I get, I don't!" said a young Detroit receptionist.

The disloyal opposition, though, was vocal.

Doesn't Agree

"When men start dyeing their hair, having permanents and calling for weekly manicure appointments—something is amiss," scoffed a young Buffalo N Y , mother of three

A Louisville burlesque stripper, 28 and divorced "Some men learn to depend upon the women for everything, including paying the bills and working This is bound to show up in how a man walks, talks and acts"

Asked whether they think men feel threatened by women's emancipation, opinions divided rather evenly into two camps

"Men think women are trying to emasculate them They resent the competition of a competent woman"—Los Angeles mother of three and a part-time worker

"I don't think any guy who is confident of his ability or masculinity ever feels threatened by a woman"—a young Texas management consultant

Most women thought men in general were as good husbands and fathers as those of the last generation—and better breadwinners They weren't so sure that today's men were as moral They objected to long hair and beards on the opposite sex

More Dislikes

What they liked least about men made up a far longer list than what they did like about them But the women, who had been called spoiled, pampered and domineering by a majority of men in a similar sampling a few weeks ago, for the most part remembered they were ladies and rarely hit below the belt

The women find some nice things to say about American men

—They're attractive, sexy, fun

—They have a nice, wry sense of humor

—They're broadminded, chivalrous intelligent, patriotic

—They're ambitious and they make good money

—They don't let small things bother them as women do

"They idolize their women and are anxious to please them They still keep us on a pedestal"

Very Loyal

Most American men are so loyal," said a 39-year-old Denver wife "A good, sound marriage can't be shattered easily"

On the debit side

—"Too many are spoiled brats," one woman contended

—"They tend to boast a lot" said another

—"They put too much emphasis on money or what it brings them Money and position are first to them, family second They take more interest in business than their wives"

"They say a woman is nagging if she says what she thinks or gives an opinion, while if a man complains about his work, children or money he's only discussing it or getting it off his chest"

Then there are these weaknesses

Stop Growing

They're petty, childish, immature, hyperambitious, untidy, unmannerly They fail to grow mentally after their 30s, they lack appreciation of art, theater music

A Miami housewife said men are less manly and it shows up in their teens "It is partly due to pampering They have no ambition and expect what their parents have worked all their lives for"

A New York divorcee, however, said there's another reason for lessening virility "Soft jobs The average man today exercises on the job as he walks from the parking lot to the office, to the nearest bar and back to the parking lot"

Courtesy Going

As a result of feminine inroads in the office, quite a few women said male courtesy is fading fast, with the men taking the attitude

"We're equal now, kid, so you open your own door"

Sure, said a working mother with a leer, men like working with women "It gives them one more opportunity to show off"

Men resent having a woman give a direct opinion in a group meeting, said a Los Angeles professional woman "Men prefer to tell women what to do It must be basic insecurity I've learned a little buttering goes a long way"

"It really gripes a man to be shown an easier or more practical way to handle a problem, especially when a female tells them and it works," said a Flint, Mich., housewife "Why can't men take constructive advice without feeling their wives are bossing or know it alls?"

A Seattle wife stood up for today's husbands "They're more understanding for a woman's needs" she said

Less Pride

"Today's husbands and fathers frankly are falling down on the job I think the last generation of men had more pride and considered it a strength to speak up"

Many women suggested that previous generations were just as immoral as this one but they didn't flaunt their peccadillos

Morals have dropped, a Phoenix woman proposed, because of "better means of transportation Now a man can pick up a woman in another town take her out and get back home in such short time it's hard to catch him"

Most wives loyally said they were happily married, and then went on to flay American husbands You were expected to understand that the criticism pertained to their friends' mates, not their own That principle applied to fathers, too, except in the case of an Atlanta mother considering divorce

Different Way

Maybe 70 per cent thought men were good fathers—although not in the heavy-handed Victorian tradition

A Denver stockbroker's wife said "Men are more willing to reason with children before they show authority these days They are more understanding, but still in command Sure they like to toss a ball around with their sons What's wrong with that?"

Some, however, felt fathers were shirking their duty A Chicago secretary, mother of two, said "Giving the children money and good times is easier to do than to sit down and talk things over and forcefully reprimand if necessary"

Not Appealing

In another area, the informal interviewers learned that long hair and beards, so dear to an increasing number of the adolescents, did not equally enchant the female of the species

Adjectives used by the ladies ranged from "effeminate, disgusting, unclean and repulsive" to "dirty, outrageous, unesthetic, disgraceful"

A Detroit secretary sounded knowledgeable "Long hair is messy beards are scratchy"

Inspires Chef

For a steak topping, mix cream cheese and blue cheese until smooth When the steak comes out of the broiler (or from over the coals), add dollops of the cheese mixture They'll get creamy soft and taste delectable

Small broiler-fryers (1½ to 2 pounds) may be stuffed and roasted in a hot (400 degrees) oven The birds will need about an hour's time Serve a half chicken, if you like, to each person

Teen Girl Shouldn't Listen if Mother Doesn't Make Sense

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: Why don't girls of today listen to their mothers any more? I tell my 13 year-old daughter that soap and water aren't good for her face or her scalp But she refuses to believe me It's gotten so I have to give her her bath, otherwise she'd ruin her complexion completely by trying to wash her hair when my back is turned Her face is already broken out from washing it so much but she seems to think I'm out of date when I tell her that dry shampoos are better and so is face cream MRS. G. K.

Lots of girls shouldn't listen if they aren't hearing good sense. Your ideas about soap went out years ago when mothers stopped making the stuff in a pot over a fire in the forest.

Let your daughter consult a physician for advice about scalp, hair, and skin care. Unless she has some rare difficulties, however, her complexion will be helped by daily doses of soap and water and frequent shampoos.

And let her have privacy during her baths!

DEAR DR JONES: My 8-year-old son keeps telling people, Shut up" or Drop dead, you jerk" He apologizes afterwards when I tell him to but I don't know if I should or shouldn t pay attention to this annoying manner of his. Will he outgrow it? MRS. C.C.

He may just get punched in the teeth before he grows much older if he chooses the wrong person to be rude to. Save him all such trouble by telling him that he may not use such phrases when in your presence or when talking with anyone except his best friends. His apologies are pointless. Instead, tell him to leave and go off by himself until he can be with people without being rude.

DEAR DR. JONES: My 1½-year-old daughter stays near me during the day most of the time She tries to do what I'm doing — things like dusting and sweeping And then we play together, for real, each afternoon after her nap

Is it O K for me to play with her or should I encourage her to be more by herself? MRS. J.G.

Do both. Each is good and there's plenty of time for both.

Republicans Taking Peace Party Position

Sen. Morton, Reps. Laird and Ford Appear to be Leaders in New Attitude

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A dramatic change of attitude on the war in Vietnam is suddenly developing at the highest levels in the Republican party that cuts deeply into support of President Johnson's war policy and figures to change the face of

Novak Evans

American politics for the 1968 campaign.

For years, Mr. Johnson has feared the Republicans would become more bellicose about the war as election day neared. Now, 14 months before election, the GOP instead shows signs of turning into the peace party.

For differing reasons and from opposite positions, such hawks as House Minority Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan and Capers Chairman Melvin Laird of Wisconsin are moving toward an end-the-war stance that makes them allies of soft-lining liberal Republicans like Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Representative Bradford Morse of Massachusetts.

Plan Peace Offensive

Sure evidence of the swiftness with which erstwhile Republican hawks are preparing their party to take the peace offensive are the words of Kentucky's Senator Thruston B. Morton, who last Friday confided to a friend:

"If we nominate for President a man who advocates getting the U.S. out of Vietnam with a modicum of honor and maximum of speed, he would sweep the nation."

But ex-hawk Morton has been moving toward the dove position for months. More significant are the latest moves in the House by Ford and Laird.

The basic political point of Ford's demand for steeply escalating bombing ("Why are we pulling our best punches?" he asked) was not widely appreciated. It was to prepare the ground for a dramatic reversal of the party's Vietnam position.

Ford knows well that President Johnson will never go along with his dangerous demand for escalation. Thus, the implicit corollary of Ford's demand: the U.S. must get out of what Ford calls the "dubious stalemate." That is, Ford can next argue that keeping 500,000 soldiers stalemated is no policy at all and that the war should be ended as fast as possible.

Ford came close to saying just that when he declared there was "no justification for sending one more American over there, let alone 45,000." The Republicans, it can be said, will oppose additional troops to Vietnam as an election year party position, attacking any part of the President's war budget that finances ground reinforcements.

But while Ford makes escalation of the bombing his impossible-to-meet condition for continuing support of the war, Laird shrewdly winds up in the same spot by playing a more subtle tune.

Laird demands that the President abandon the Manila declaration of October, 1966, which promises a pull-out of U.S. forces six months after Hanoi withdraws and military activity "subsides" in the South. That formula, Laird told the House July 17, "can only lead to the takeover of South Vietnam by the Communists."

LBJ Won't Change Terms

Again, Laird knows that Mr. Johnson will not change the terms of the Manila declaration. This is the second half of the approaching policy shift of the Republicans — first, a settlement can't be gained under present conditions (Ford) and, second, even if it is, it can't last because of the South Vietnamese government could not survive without long-term U.S. occupation (Laird).

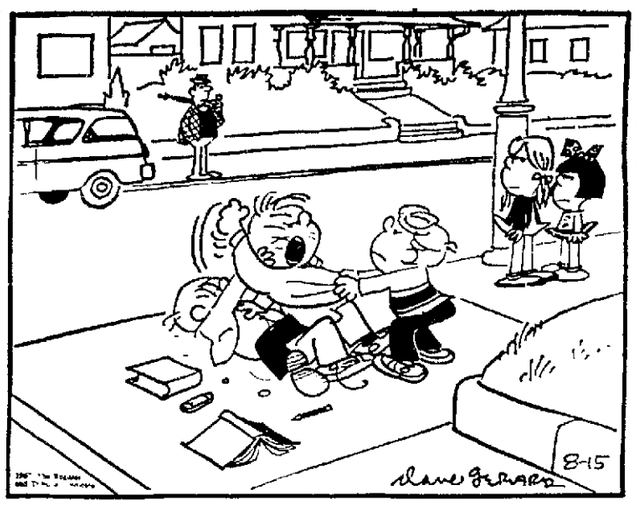

Moreover, this goes beyond politics and the 1968 election into the realm of conviction. To friends, Laird and other hawks confide that nothing in the past two years has given the U.S. any real hope that Saigon could, in fact, maintain independence from Hanoi after the war ended.

This is a tentative conclusion that has been growing in the bones of politicians of both parties for some time now. Representative Silvio Conte of Massachusetts, a liberal Republican, privately predicted a year ago that if the 1966 stalemate persisted in Vietnam through 1967 no politician — including Sil Conte — could run for office in 1968 without advocating all-out war against Hanoi. Today, however, Conte publicly calls for "unconditional cessation" of bombing in the North and talks privately about the "bottomless pit" of Vietnam.

The drastic change in policy now fermenting inside the Republican party has by no means affected all Vietnam hawks, such as Senator John Tower of Texas. But with sponsorship of Ford and Laird and the imminence of the Presidential campaign, the GOP is fast on its way to becoming the peace party.

Social Security Keeps Many Out of Poverty

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Will the amount of Social Security benefits you can expect to receive when you retire be based on the amounts you have contributed in Social Security taxes over the years — or will the benefits be handed out simply on the basis of need, the way public welfare funds are handed out?

Will our Social Security System remain a sound, self-financed insurance system — or will U.S. Treasury funds be raided to help cover the cost of Social Security benefits?

These are among the questions now being raised from coast to coast by the U.S. and local Chambers of Commerce. Our local chambers are now urging us to write, call or wire our congressmen and demand rejection of proposals in the Social Security bill which, the Chamber says, "would convert Social Security into a welfare-type program to help fight the 'war on poverty.'"

Porter

The charges are so serious and so fundamental that they cry out for objective analysis. To be specific:

Charge: Social Security benefits will be paid on the basis of need.

Explanation: Social Security benefits have always been a matter of earned right — through the contributions we make. A basis of the above charge is a provision in the House bill to raise the minimum benefit for retired workers from $44 to $50. The goal of this proposal is to pay a slightly more meaningful benefit to the relatively few workers who did not have the opportunity before retirement to make full contributions to the system because they were too old when the system began or because their occupations were not covered by Social Security until recently. Preferential concessions to older workers are made at the start of many private pension plans.

Charge: U.S. Treasury funds will be "raided" to pay for new benefits proposed under the Social Security bill — undermining the original principle of a self-financing system.

Special Benefits Limited

Explanation: Under the present version of the bill, special benefits for workers aged 72 or over who were unable to work long enough under Social Security to qualify for regular benefits would be raised from $35 to $40 a month — and U.S. Treasury general funds would be used to pay the cost of this raise. However, there is under present law a rigid time limit on eligibility for this special benefit. Nobody who reaches 72 after 1967 would qualify. The purpose of the proposed raise — as was the purpose of "blanketing in" this group through previous amendments — is to fill a small gap in the system, not to set a precedent.

Charge: The Social Security contributions we are now making actually are going into general Treasury funds.

Explanation: All Social Security taxes American workers and their employers are now paying and are scheduled to pay in the future are, by law, deposited in three huge trust funds. These funds may be spent only to pay Social Security benefits and administrative costs. Amounts not needed to meet current needs are invested in U.S. Government securities to earn the going rate of interest, and in times of high interest rates — such as now — the Social Security funds make out very well indeed.

Today an estimated 5.5 million Americans are being kept out of poverty by their Social Security benefits. Today some 3.4 million children under 18 are being kept out of orphanages — again by Social Security benefits.

These "side effects" of the Social Security system are entirely consistent with the system's original purpose of preventing dependency and destitution in old age.

Tentative School Budget Climbs to Over $6.9 Million

Projected Expenses Indicate Increase of $1,438,938

With the six month actual and six month projected expenses for calendar year 1968 for the Appleton School System in, the tentative school budget comes to $6.912.251, an increase of $1,438,938 over last year's budget.

This total, however, does not represent the actual amount which will determine Appleton's tax levy for the school budget, since income figures have not yet been taken out of the total.

The final request which the board will make to the city's finance committee sometime in October will be the expense budget less total aids received by the system. That difference will determine the tax levy.

Rising prices in nearly every category from such small items as bus fares and library books to the major items such as the addition of 64 teachers to the system and the opening of two new schools were cited as reasons for the soaring budget Monday as the board of education reviewed preliminary expenses presented by William Knuth, director of business affairs.

Teachers Salaries

Of the total increase, the one single biggest item was teacher salaries, which absorbed $1,035,070, or about 75 per cent of the increase.

Other major increases in the total budget were:

—$14,239 for administration.

—$59,726 for transportation, which will include transporting parochial students starting in January who live more than two miles away from the schools and outside the city.

—$106.000 for operation of the schools.

—$20,056 for maintenance.

—$30,565 for fixed charges (heating, lighting, etc.).

—$125,679 for capital outlay.

In a breakdown of the budget, the general accounts (including administration, attendance service, health service, transportation, operation, maintenance, fixed charges, and capital outlay) comes to $836,327, an increase of $197,907 over last year's budget.

High School Costs

With the opening of the new high school, total expenses for both high schools will be increased by $508,635 to add up to $1,688,672.

On the junior high level the budget will soar by $286.223, to a total of $1,545,323, and on the elementary level, the total shows $2,841,927, an increase of $446,271.

The board was also informed by Knuth that $38,000 needed for the Mielke site improvements has not been included in the budget, since it was made up before the council ruled its inclusion.

An estimated income budget should be ready by the next board meeting Aug. 28, Knuth said. From that board members will be able to define more accurately the actual total to be requested as a basis for Appleton's school tax levy.

Fire Officials Are Investigating the cause of a smoky blaze Monday afternoon that extensively damaged a garage and its contents at the Jacob Van Daalwyk residence, 614 W. Sixth St. A trailer house just behind the garage was not damaged, although flames came through the rear of the garage. Firemen, who remained at the scene more than an hour, were hampered in getting to the fire because a long freight train had several downtown area crossings blocked. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Suspect Admits Chilton Arson; 2 Deny Charges

Edward Propson, 22, Hilbert, to be Sentenced Aug. 28

CHILTON — Three men, each charged with two counts of arson, appeared before Calumet County Judge D. H. Sebora at 1:30 p.m. Monday with two pleading innocent and the third admitting one count.

The charges stemmed from the burning of a home and contents in Chilton Aug. 9. The home at 122 E. Grand St., was owned by Cyril Winkel. It was unoccupied at the time of the fire.

Lawrence Bangart, 19, and Jerome Propson, 18, both route 1, Chilton, pleaded innocent and their preliminary hearing was set for 1:30 p.m., Aug. 23. Bail of $500 each was continued.

Pleads Guilty

Edward Propson, 22, route 1, Hilbert, pleaded guilty to a charge of burning the home. The second charge, burning the home's contents, was dismissed. Propson was released on a $500 recognizance bond. He had waived a preliminary hearing and the reading of information before entering a plea.

Judge Sebora ordered a presentence investigation and set sentencing for 1:30 p.m. Aug. 28.

The Winkel home had been abandoned for several months. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Oshkosh Delegate Walks Out in Dispute Over Unit Organization

Delegates to the 3rd annual Cooperative Educational Service Agency No. 8 (CESA 8) re-elected Mrs. Helen Heil, Appleton, as chairman of the group's board of control Monday.

Oshkosh was not represented in the voting when delegate Milton Seefeld walked out of the session in a dispute over the group's organizational structure. This brought the number of school districts represented to 15 of the 17 total (one delegate was absent).

Representatives chose 11 persons to serve on the control unit for the 1967-68 year. They are: Mrs. Heil; Robert Steig, Clintonville; Donald Timm, Hortonville; James Kluge, Kimberly; Richard Kilsdonk, Little Chute; Dr. Elvin K. Prather, Manawa; Mrs. Fern Gaertner, Menasha; Frank X. Hochholzer, Neenah; Fred Bernegger, New London; Elmo Merry, Omro, and Mrs. Marguerite Wentzel, Winneconne.

Other Officers

Mrs. Gaertner was elected to serve as board of control vice chairman and Timm will act as treasurer for the group.

Other delegates to CESA 8 are: Herbert Poppe, Black Creek; Donald Devine, Freedom; Olin G. Dryer, Kaukauna; Seefeld, Oshkosh; Jack Lammers, Shiocton, and Sidney Faulks, Weyauwega.

Prior to voting for the selection of the board of control a request was submitted by Seefeld, the Oshkosh delegate, that his name be stricken from consideration as a candidate. Seefeld charged that the organization was dominated by smaller schools in the district and that larger systems were not properly represented.

Convention chairman Mrs. Heil replied that elections to the board of control were conducted in a democratic manner as set up by the state statutes that govern CESA organization and that if inequities were present they must be worked out at the state level and that the district organization was not at liberty to remove a delegate.

11-Man Board

Mrs. Heil added that when CESA 8 had been organized the group had voted to have an 11-man board of control (under the state set up that allowed each district to chose a 3, 5, 7, 9 or 11-member board) to insure the widest representation possible. She continued that there was "no move to discriminate against larger schools."

HUD Awards Water Grant Of $675,000 to Oshkosh

Project Similar to Appleton's To Draw Supply From Winnebago

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The U S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has awarded Oshkosh a $675,000 grant for water plant expansion — a project similar to Appleton's — it was learned Monday.

And in a related matter, a survey disclosed that Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh — communities deriving their water supply from Lake Winnebago—have adequate plant facilities for periods ranging from 20 to 40 years.

Regional HUD officials at Chicago, who approved the Oshkosh project, recently notified Appleton its application for a $1.5 million grant for needed plant expansion and a Lake Winnebago pipeline had been denied.

Reasons given were the project did not tie in with an areawide plan, and doubt existed as to the expectancy use of an expanded filtration plant.

Oshkosh Adds

Bids were opened recently and contracts awarded for the "good-sized addition" to the Oshkosh plant, according to officials there.

The final step — a minor procedural one —will be for HUD officials to review the contracts and then release the $675,000. The time involved is "a matter of days."

The Oshkosh project will add to the capacity of the filtration plant and is in keeping with a long-range plan for expanding the facility as demand for water increases on residential and industrial levels.

Oshkosh filed its application with the regional HUD office more than a year ago, as did Appleton. On Oct. 30, 1966, former Rep John Race announced the project had been approved by federal officials and the next step would be a funding reservation.

Ironically, this is the information given verbally to Appleton officials, along with U.S. Senator Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) and Rep. John Byrnes (R-Green Bay) in a meeting last winter at Chicago.

Oshkosh officials subsequently were notified by HUD that funds were avaliable for the project and the council advertised for bids.

The Oshkosh long-range plan, recommended by outside consultants, calls for another plant addition in five years.

Plant Good

"As it now stands, our plant is good for at least another 20 years," an Oshkosh official said.

This is in contrast to comments attributed to HUD technicians that plants of Valley cities tapping Lake Winnebago, or planning to do so, may be obsolete in a matter of a few years.

The Appleton plan is to use the expanded plant here for about 20 years for treating Lake Winnebago water, and then utilizing the same facilities for an additional 20 years should a regional pipeline to Lake Michigan materialize.

A Neenah water plant official has indicated that city's facility, with some additions, will be good for "at least 20 years and possible up to 40." A survey is

Appleton Officials Disclose

Only Excessive Treatment Makes Water Drinkable

Raw water Appleton takes from the Fox River is polluted and contaminated to such a degree that it falls far short of meeting minimum U.S. Health Service standards.

However, after excessive treatment with chlorine and other chemicals, it is fit for human consumption under minimum quality control requirements.

Water department officials Monday reluctantly elaborated on the "state of Appleton water" reports they and federal health officials filed with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in support of the city's $1.5 million water grant application.

"It has been known for some time that the quality of water you people drink at Appleton is the lowest in the Valley. Sure, it might excite them — but the people ought to know about it," was the comment of a water department official from another Fox Valley community.

And during the course of a Post-Crescent survey on water treatment plant facilities in the Valley, another superintendent made the same claim.

'See For Themselves'

"It's about time these federal guys at Chicago come here to the Fox Valley and see for themselves," he added.

The officials asked not to be identified, adding they did not want to get involved in the Appleton situation.

They went as far as to say that plant officials here have been "performing miracles" in turning the Fox River water into drinking water.

Valley officials said a U.S. Health Service report of less than a year ago made serious disclosures when comparing Appleton's water with that obtained by Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh from Lake Winnebago.

Robert DeLand, chairman of the Appleton Water Commission, said he was aware of the report and its implications. "That is why we have been trying to emphasize the seriousness of the situation and need to expand our plant and go somewhere else for water," DeLand said.

"All of the information we received about our water supply, which was compiled by a U.S. Health Service investigator, was turned over to HUD," commented William Gallaher, who recently retired as head of the local water works. He has been retained in an advisory capacity.

High Coli Count

Gallaher confirmed that the coli count of raw water from the Fox was in the hundreds of thousands and millions during certain periods, adding that Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh had "very low counts" which more than met state and federal raw water intake criteria.

Gallaher said the information is contained in a report compiled several months ago by Gregory Walton, a U.S. Health Service investigator from the Cincinnati test center.

"He made tests and a study of water sources of 50 cities and said Appleton's water from the Fox River was the worst of all," Gallaher said.

The coli count is a measurement of human contamination which exists in the river water. In addition, there are industrial and other polluters, including natural run-off from chemically-treated farmlands, officials indicate.

Specifically, city officials said Appleton's existing water source:

—Does not meet federal health standards under the criteria of the U.S. Department of Development's (HUD) water and plant facilities division.

—Falls far short of meeting raw water minimum requirements of the water standards division of the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development.

—Fails to meet U.S. Health Service minimum raw water intake standards.

Modern Dairy Barn On Sturm Farms Destroyed Monday

MANAWA — Damages were estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000 in a blaze which destroyed a 40 by 80-foot dairy barn and milk house at Sturm Farms, Inc., 1026 S. Bridge St., Monday afternoon. The fire was believed caused by spontaneous combustion in 30,000 bales of hay stored in the barn. No livestock was in the building at the time.

Smoke was discovered by a Sturm employe working in the barn. Both the Manawa and Weyauwega fire departments were called and when they arrived the entire structure was engulfed in flames.

Building Damaged

A grain storage building located near the barn was damaged but the structure was saved. No other buildings were damaged. Intense heat from the fire ignited stacks of baled straw piled in a field near the barn.

According to Clarence Sturm the barn had been completely rebuitl and modernized in the last 6 or 7 years. The structure included pipeline milking, bulk milk cooling and automatic barn cleaning equipment.

Fire was still burning in hay this morning.

She also served as publicity chairman of the Outagamie County Republican Party from 1960-65.

Funds Released for 2 UW Campuses

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In a sweeping 7-1 vote, the state Building Commission Monday released $293,870 for the preparation of working drawings for the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and Parkside campuses.

The vote broke a month-long deadlock which has stalled planning on the new schools and cast doubt upon hopes for a planned September, 1969 opening date for the new institutions.

The tally was taken at the conclusion of a 53-minute closed-door session with Charles Bleck, assistant attorney general, after the commission received a warning from Stewart Honeck, special counsel for Outagamie County in a site selection suit against the commission, urging the group not to release the funds

Honeck said he wrote not as the lawyer from the contesting county, but as a citizen warning of possible financial losses to the state if the county wins its suit, brought because of alleged secrecy and other improprieties in selecting the Shorewood site for the Green Bay campus

A similar suit against Kenosha County has been started by area residents contesting the selection of the Parkside location for the planned Southeastern Wisconsin branch campus.

To Prepare Drawings

The vote by the commission freed $293,870 for the preparation of working drawings for the new campuses, but the university will have to return to the building agency before it is allowed to release bids and start construction of the new schools.

Normal state building practices would have granted authority for all three steps in the single vote

Last month, two attempts were made to release the funds and carry the projects through completion of the first phase, totaling $12.8 million for the two campuses.

Commission secretary Gerald Emmer told the commission that he restricted the authority in the request because of a realization of the desire of commission to examine again the proposals, probably after bids have been received.

That procedure had been strongly urged by Assemblyman David Martin, R-Neenah, who also won points in granting permission for the state Bureau of Engineering to examine critically the building budgets of the new schools and to report back to the commission.

High Costs

Martin has been disturbed because of higher building costs in the UW system being applied to the new branch campuses, rather than using cost experiences from the state university system, which traditionally has been able to construct less expensive buildings.

The Neenah lawmaker has in its past been the leader of the commission forces contesting development plans for the schools.

In the past he has successfully blocked the release of funds and the advance of planning on 4-4 tie votes, but Monday he led most of his contingent into the camp backing the campuses

"I don't think there has been any secret about how I have felt relative to the selection of the site for the Green Bay campus," said Martin in explaining his vote.

"But I've always felt that the Building Commission was not the place to delay the funds for these campuses . . especially

For Avenue Dedication

Homer, Jethro Headline Civic Event

Homer and Jethro — nationally known entertainers and Grammy Award winners — have been contracted to headline the College Avenue dedication entertainment the night of Sept. 29.

Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) confirmed today that the city council's industry - commerce committee made the selection.

It will cost about $2,000 to bring the singing humorists and instrumentalists to Appleton to give two shows at the Lawrence University chapel which seats 1,300.

In addition to appearing on network television shows and plush entertainment spots across the country, Homer and Jethro are near the top of the list of RCA victor recording stars.

Own Style

They specialize in a little bit of everything, including city and eastern, country and western, and standards. But there is only one Homer and Jethro style.

Natural born wits, they are outstanding musicians with Homer on the guitar, and Jethro on the mandolin.

Kalata said the dedication committee would have further details on the times for the two performances and how residents can obtain tickets without charge.

At a recent meeting, the committee indicated tickets would be made available on a first come, first served basis.

Appropriate Funds

The council has appropriated $3,700 for the civic celebration, including a parade, and the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce is raising funds through retailers for special promotions and programs to tie in with the four-day celebration.

Homer (Henry Doyle) Haynes and Jethro (Kenneth C.) Burns made their professional debut some years ago over WNOX in Knoxville, Tenn. Their mirth-filled road to success led them to Chattanooga, Cincinnati (WLW) and on to Chicago (WLS and the National Barn Dance).

About 10 years ago, the TV and popular music audience first took notice of these "Kook Brothers" and no longer were they considered simply a country comic act.

In the past few months, they have appeared on all major TV Networks, and this coming season, will again play before audiences from New York to Las Vegas and Los Angeles.

Best Sellers

Their record albums — town and country satires on popular songs — are continually on best seller lists.

Homer and Jethro have been rated in trade papers as the top town and country comedy singing team for many years. Stories on their amazing career have appeared in Time and Pageant magazines, as well as the leading town and country magazines.

Their only Wisconsin appearance to date was at Milwaukee, so the featuring of the top-notchers at the Appleton event will represent another "first" in the Fox Valley.

Winneconne to Regain Spot On Official Wisconsin Map

MADISON (AP) — Winneconne, the village which staged a revolt from the Badger State last month, will be back on the map next January, the State Highway Commission said today.

The Winnebago County village of 1,200 was inadvertantly blown off the official state map, possibly by an electric fan, in the complicated paste-up procedures used in the four-color photo-engraving process.

Winneconne declared its independence in a jovial huff, and proclaimed itself a state with the skunk its official animal.

A condition for re-entry into the sovereign state of Wisconsin was its listing on the state map.

The commission made its pledge in announcing that a Milwaukee lithographic firm had won the low bid at $61,000 for supplying the 1968 official Wisconsin highway map.

Police Carry 'Canned Meekness'

Poof--You're Nonaggressive

Try taking a poke at an Outagamie County policeman and you're apt to get a face full of "Rebuff."

Sheriff Norbert Marx said today he is equipping each policeman with a small, pressurized can which, at the press of a button, emits a spray that renders an attacker helpless. "Rebuff" is the trade name of the substance which is manufactured in California.

Marx said the decision to equip policemen with the new "weapon" was in light of "quite a few instances lately where officers have run into resistance and they had their uniforms ripped or they or their prisoners were injured."

Whip Out Can

The men will use the devices only when force has become necessary, Marx explained. He said the men will carry the containers as part of their standard equipment.

Should a policeman suddenly find himself in a "combat situation," he could whip out his can of "Rebuff," aim it at his assailant's face, and press the button. If he is on target the spray, according to the supplier of the new weapon, will "destroy the aggressiveness."

Primary ingredient in the spray is oleoresin capsicum, a substance which creates a heat sensation when it hits the skin. It reportedly "works on the nerve endings in the face."

Lasts Several Minutes

The sensation reportedly lasts for several minutes, although the "victim" suffers no permanent damage. Directions on the container state that the substance is irritating to the eyes, nose, and skin.

Marx said that the protection devices are becoming popular with police agencies. He said he investigated the legality of their use before purchasing them.

The supplier stated that several mailmen have bought the small containers as protection against dogs.

SWAG Votes Help For Juvenile Home

Praise Board of Public Welfare For Swift Action on New Facility

Members of the Social Workers Action Group (SWAG) voted Monday night to increase support of a receiving home for Outagamie County juveniles while the proposal is in joint committee.

The group adopted a resolution to send a letter to the Board of Public Welfare, praising the group for its swift action in bringing a concrete proposal on a sheltered care facility before the county board at its meeting last Tuesday.

It also decided to encourage all social workers to contact personally their county supervisor, because, in the words of Arthur Malin, "We're going to need support."

Afford Concrete

Malin, who is director of United Community Services, commented about the action of the county board in referring a report by the welfare board to joint committee when he added, "We can afford $75,000 for some concrete, but not $4,500 for some concrete work for juveniles."

Supervisors approved spending approximately $70,000 from the reserve contingency fund last Tuesday to pay for new runway thicknesses at the county airport.

Officials cited this fact when the figure of $4,500 was mentioned in the receiving home report which came up later during the board session. "There's only $6,250 left in the fund," Board Chairman Sylvester Esler said.

The county board's executive committee and the public welfare unit were authorized to study plans for establishing a home.

Invite Worker

In other action Monday night, members of SWAG voted to have a court worker from Dane County speak at their September meeting. Invitations will be extended to Urban P. Van Sustern, Outagamie County family court judge, and Alfred Eggert, county director of public welfare.

Members of the group also expressed concern about intended appointments of Appleton Mayor George Buckley to the city's first housing authority, but no action was taken.

Director John Gillespie made a presentation on the summer camp at Rawhide, Inc., and the Gillespie Group Home, located on the ranch near New London.

Appleton Will Begin Bussing In January

Budget Holds Up Transporting Parochial Pupils

Transportation of parochial school children in the Appleton School District will begin in January, the board of education ruled Monday.

The decision came after Roland Nock, transportation director, informed the board that no provisions had been made in the budget for the extra number of children and there were too many in the district to make adequate arrangements in time for September.

The law requires that parochial children be transported if they live two miles from school, and outside the city or in the attached areas but within the district.

However, starting in 1968, those children who attend school outside the district in an area five miles from the outer limits of the district, will be transported.

About 300 Involved

According to Nock, questionnaires requesting the number of students that fit into these categories have been sent to the parochial schools. So far, 300 children are involved but not all of the schools have answered.

The budget request for transportation for the next calendar year is $152,015, an increase of $59,725 over last year's budget.

"This is just an estimate," Nock said, "since the numbers vary during the school year."

Supt. William Spears added that the cost of transporting children is about $70 per child and the state pays only $22 per child.

"This means the taxpayers have to absorb the rest of the cost," he said.

A number of questions arose from the board members as well as the audience regarding the calendar year as it pertained to transportation.

Board president Charles Buchanan explained that the calendar for the public and parochial schools doesn't always coincide and for the present, that question was not resolved.

"Some of the problems will have to be resolved as we go along," he said.

Calendar Adopted

The school calendar, tentatively approved by the board in March, was also adopted.

Previous adoption was delayed pending the decision of the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB), regarding the request of the Appleton Teachers Union to have two extra days off for their convention.

WERB decided last week that since the calendar for 1967 had been approved by both teacher unions in Appleton, and that traditionally both unions had held their state conventions on the same days, the board had acted correctly.

Because of the decision, the board felt the tentative calendar could stand with the two days in November set aside for teacher conventions.

School begins Sept. 5 and runs without a break until Nov. 2 and 3 (teacher convention). Free days include Nov. 23, and 24 (Thanksgiving) Dec. 22 through Jan. 2 (Christmas recess) April 12 (Good Friday) through April 22 (spring recess) and May 30 (Memorial Day). Total actual teaching days come to 180

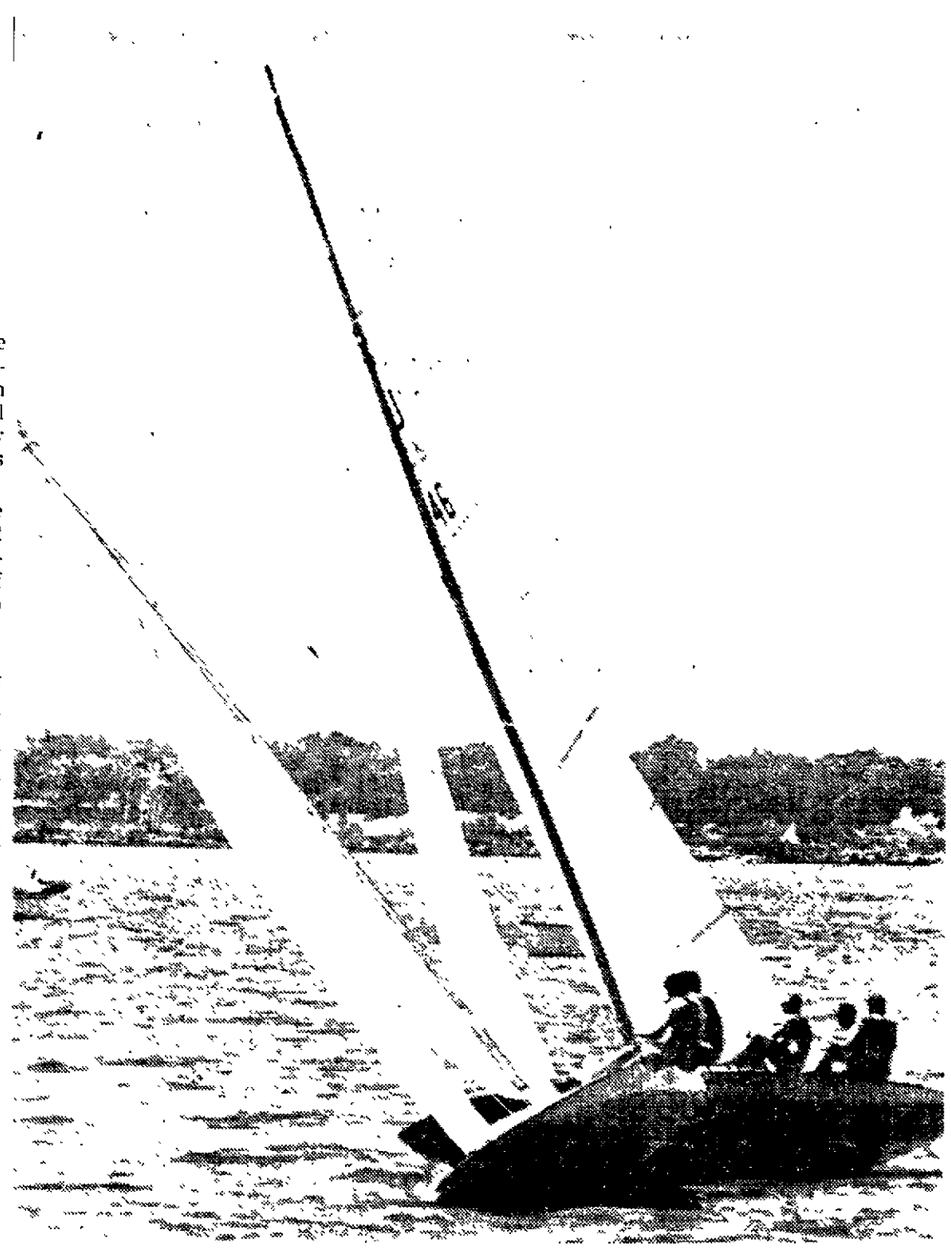

The parochial school calendars differ largely in that they have off a number of religious holidays not observed in the public school system.

NMB Plans Trust Building

NEENAH — A temporary frame building to house the trust department at the National Manufacturers Bank of Neenah will go up alongside the bank building on E. Wisconsin Avenue.

A building permit for the wooden structure, which will be located on the site of the old Red Cross building, was issued Monday by building inspector Earl Page

The one-story frame structure, which will adjoin the present bank building to the east, will cost in excess of $33,000. It will measure 45 by 90 feet

Junked Cars Now 'Public Nuisance'

MENASHA — The Menasha Town Board unanimously passed an ordinance to keep junked or abandoned vehicles out of areas where they don't belong.

The junked motor vehicles were put under the "public nuisance" catagory to stop the numerous inoperative cars found on public and private property.

A written notice to the property owner where the vehicle is found will allow 10 days to have the car removed. Then the vehicles will be towed at owner or property owner expense and held for 20 days. At the end of that period, the car will be put for sale by the town.

A person owning a motor vehicle requiring registration but which has no license plates cannot store the vehicle for more than 30 days except under cover or on a lot licensed and zoned for such purposes.

A fine of $10 to $25 will be assessed for the violation of the ordinance and if the fine isn't paid, a jail sentence of up to 30 days can be imposed.

Bridge Unit Continues Fund Push

MENASHA — The special bridge committee will continue its push for committments from state highway commission to reroute highways across a proposed Little Lake Butte des Morts bridge when it travels to Madison on Sept. 6.

The Winnebago County group, comprised of county highway committee members plus Supv. Roland Kampo, Town of Menasha Chairman, and Supv. Robert Wertsch, Oshkosh, last week toured the sites for the Tri-County Expressway and its two bridges in the Town of Menasha.

Committeemen were wary of giving the go-ahead to reserving the rights-of-way for the expressway, estimated to cost $1.8 million, without assurances that the state would pick up part of the costs by rerouting State 114, State 47 and U. S. 10 over a bridge across the lake.

Kampo has asked the county board to make a decision on the expressway system before the budget is prepared for 1968.

Special Events To Mark End of Summer Park Play

KIMBERLY — The supervised recreation program in the school district will be concluded at noon Friday and special programs have been arranged at various play areas to wind up the summer program, according to Gilbert Frank, recreation director.

A Wednesday spook show is planned at Combined Locks parks while the annual "kiddie karnival" will be held for Kimberly youngsters from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Main Park.

Park dances are scheduled for Sunset Point and Combined Locks parks Thursday evening for older youngsters. Movies will be shown at Darboy on Wednesday, Combined Locks on Thursday and Kimberly on Friday of this week.

Proxmire Favors Abolition Of Subversive Control Board

Senator William Proxmire (D.-Wis.) declared today that court decisions had for all practical purposes, rendered the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) defunct and that Congress should now finish the job by abolishing it.

In a speech prepared for delivery on the floor of the Senate in support of the bill he introduced two weeks ago to do away with the SACB, the Wisconsin Senator traced the history of the Board's decline.

Proxmire said: "The courts have left the board with virtually nothing to do The last formal hearing by the SACB was late in 1965 — almost two years ago That means the taxpayers have paid each of the five board members nearly $52,000 since their last hearing. Almost a million dollars have been appropriated for the board's operations in that time.

More Appropriation

"Despite all this, Congress is being asked to appropriate $330,000 for the board in the coming year.

"After years in the courts, the Supreme Court ruled in a test case in 1965 that the Board's order for Communist Party members to register violated their Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination. In other words, the board's powers vis-a-vis individual members of the party were, in effect, declared defunct.

"Later in 1965, the Supreme Court said two test cases against supposed Communist 'front' organizations had to have new hearings. Normal adjudication procedures had taken so long the court felt the evidence was 'stale.'

"The SACB set dates for new hearings, but the attorney general decided the evidence was inadequate and obsolete and ordered the cases dropped. The attorney general's ruling made the board's cases against 'fronts' virtually unmanageable The board's power to control 'fronts', in other words, had also been rendered defunct.

"Last year, in June, 1966, the attorney general dropped the major cases before the board concerning an alleged Communist 'infiltrated' organization. His action again was based on the fact that records and evidence were obsolete The board's powers to order 'infiltrated' groups to register were thus rendered defunct also. This left the board with nothing to do

"It is as if we have a full-time, five-man court without a single case before it and none likely to come"

Judge Finds 15-Year-Old Delinquent

Appleton Apostolate Gets Supervision of Repeat Offender

A 15-year-old Appleton boy who was involved in at least eight offenses since last November, Monday afternoon was found delinquent by Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr, and placed under supervision of the Appleton Apostolate for two years.

The youth further was ordered to make restitution for theft losses and damages, totaling $38.50. He was warned that if he appears in court again before his supervision period is over, he will be sent to the boys' school. The youth was represented by an attorney in juvenile court.

Theft Charges

Appleton police, who made the investigation, said the youth was involved with others in the theft of $10 from a southside home, the theft of a checkbook, from which the boys cashed a $30 check, and three separate beer or liquor thefts from a house, car, and business place between May 8 and May 15.

They took a case of beer from a southside garage, a case of beer from a car parked in the 400 block of W. Lawrence Street, and several bottles of liquor from Sauter and Seaborne Architects, on W. Lawrence Street. They had stolen keys from the building while it was under construction. Some of the intoxicants were sold to other youths, police said.

Fires Cannon

The youth also was involved with five other boys in vandalism and thefts late last year at the Appleton Chair Factory, and with three other youths in the making and firing of a "homemade cannon" last May.

On May 12 the youth and a companion stood on the Mason Street railroad overpass and threw pot flares onto the roadway. They also placed barricades across the street near the overpass. Police found the youths in an intoxicated condition at that time.

Market Makes Early Recovery

Industrials Higher By 4.51 at Noon; Blue Chips Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market recovered early this afternoon after three sessions of decline. Trading was fairly active.

Gains outnumbered losses by better than 3 to 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.51 at 920.83.

Analysts saw the market as rebounding from a support level of roughly 910 to 915 in the Dow industrials, an area which had stalled an upward drive a few times and therefore represented an area hard to penetrate either way

A number of blue chips posted gains of a point or so.

The session was also noteworthy for the performance of several specially situated issues

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 339.3 with industrials up 2.0, rails off .5 and utilities up .2.

Gains of a point or so were posted by Jones & Laughlin, Goodyear, Uniroyal, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Raytheon, Alcoa, Du Pont, Polaroid and Pfizer.

Option Urged on Ballpark For Wire Works Expansion

MENASHA — The board of public works has recommended granting International Wireworks, Inc., an option to buy the Menasha Ballpark for possible long-range use by the firm to expand its Sixth Street plant

The firm has asked seven years in which to exercise the right of "first refusal" on a city offer to sell, with a price of $17,500 per acre placed on the 3½-acre ballpark.

Bruce Purdy, wireworks president, said this morning the firm has "no immediate plans" to purchase the land, but wants first chance to buy it if the city decides to sell in the next seven years.

The matter will be on the agenda of the common council tonight, but must also go before the plans commission for a recommendation before the council takes final action, according to City Clerk Harry Kind.

Letter Offer

The works board received the offer Monday night in a letter from the wireworks firm, which operates a plant on Sixth Street with the ballpark property adjoining the factory in the rear

The board recommended that the city approve the arrangements, with provisions that:

—The city be given six months' notice before the firm takes ownership of the land, to permit arrangements for other ballpark sites to be acquired.

- Funds received from the sale would be earmarked for purchasing other ballpark property and for equipping it.

Board members suggested providing more than one new ballpark, to be used as "neighborhood" baseball facilities.

Woman Killed in Crash With Train

A rural Black Creek woman was killed in a collision of her car and a Soo Line freight train about 1:30 this afternoon on County Trunk A south of Center Valley. Mr Sirek presented two proposals for painting four rooms and a hall at the Oshkosh School, An amount of $1,500.00 is in the budget and proposals were as follows:

Ed Marx	$1,160.00
Ed Rehbein	$1,387.00

Upon motion by Mr. Kirchner, seconded by Mr. Steinfort, the low bid of Ed Marx in the amount of $1,160.00 for painting four rooms and hall at the Oshkosh School was unanimously approved.

Mr Sirek was informed that his contract is effective July 10, 1967 to June 30, 1968. Some questions had arisen in the Oshkosh Office and this information was presented for clarification purposes.

Mr. Sirek will need office space and clerical help and has discussed this matter with the State Board. He was instructed to sever relations with the Oshkosh facility and act as Area Director. He indicated that there is no uniformity among the six schools with respect to various matters and that much is needed to be done to bring the facilities within a standardized system He recommended that office space be leased and a secretary employed to enable him to carry out the duties as Area Director. He asked if he should start looking for space to lease and report back to the Board Upon motion by Mr. Sprister, seconded by Mr. Steinfort, the Area Director was unanimously authorized to investigate leasing of office space and report back to the Board. All agreed it should be centrally located Mr Sirek indicated it should be large enough for at least one or two secretaries and three or four administrative assistants By the next meeting, Mr. Sirek will have drawn up an immediate staff and be prepared to make recommendations to the Board.

The State Board has advised that an Acting Director should be appointed for the Oshkosh School. Mr. Sirek indicated Stan Spanbauer would be interested in an Acting Director position but not as Director. Upon motion by Mr Steinfort, seconded by Mr. Kirchner, Mr. Sirek was unanimously authorized to appoint an Acting Director at Oshkosh and ask for his credentials

A communication from Don Myers of the Central Valley Plumbing and Heating Contractors Association was read in which he indicated that the Local had leased an educational building in an effort to give better training facilities for apprentices and journeymen They have requested that the Board provide a circuit instructor for this program, with the Appleton School in charge of the records and registration Mr Smith joined the meeting at this time After a lengthy discussion which included the legal aspects of the proposition, Mr. Sirek stated there was no legal problem in conducting classes at the facility leased by the Local Some members stated that the Board should be completely certain as to the legal aspects prior to granting the request. Upon motion by Mr Steinfort, seconded by Mr Sprister, it was proposed that the Area Director be authorized to negotiate with the Local on the same basis as the Oshkosh Plumbers and Pipefitters now have with the Oshkosh School Mr Kirchner moved, seconded by Mr Letter, that the previous motion be amended to delete the reference to Oshkosh and to add that legal counsel to the Board approve the contract. After discussion, the amendment and the motion were duly withdrawn

After further discussion, Mr Steinfort moved, seconded by Mr Sprister, that a circuit instructor would be provided under the supervision of District No 12 for Central Valley Plumbers and Fitters for the 1967-68 school year The motion was not carried. After further discussion, upon motion by Mr Smith, seconded by Mr. Kirchner, the Area Director was authorized to review the request of the Cental Valley Plumbing and Heating Contractors Association with counsel to the Board and subject to the receipt of favorable opinion to work out an agreement to present at the next Board meeting The motion was carried over the nay vote of Mr Steinfort

Mr Sprister and Mr Ramsdell asked to be excused early and left the meeting

Mr Sirek gave a presentation which included a review of the existing programs, demands for new programs, planning for future programs, and a tentative administrative staff

Mr Smith suggested that a public relations program should be initiated since many people seemed uninformed concerning District No 12 Mr Sirek indicated that articles for newspapers in various localities would be prepared for these purposes

Upon motion duly made and seconded, the meeting was adjourned at 11:15 p.m.

Father Says Son Told of Killing 3 In Lake Cottage

Hearing Opens on 4 Murder Counts Against James D. McBrair

WAUTOMA—The father of accused slayer, James D McBrair, 27, Plainfield, testified at a preliminary hearing this morning that his son told him early in the morning of March 5, "I did something bad. I just killed Marv, Marge and Carol."

James A. McBrair was the first witness called in the preliminary hearing on four first degree counts against his son. McBrair is accused of murdering his estranged wife, Carol, 25; her father, Marvin Behr, 62; her sister, Barbara, 15, and a babysitter, Cheryl Oleson, 14, during a shooting spree at Behr's Fish Lake cottage early Sunday morning, March 5.

(Although McBrair's father testified that his son told him of killing three persons, there were four victims, and none of the victims was named "Marge," one of the persons the younger McBrair allegedly told his father of killing.)

The senior McBlair's testimony was taken by Waushara County Judge Boyde Clark after the case was transferred back to County Court for the hearing.

Father Testifies

The accused slayer's father said he had heard his son come home shortly after 4 a.. When he got up, he found McBrair sitting in a chair in the living room taking off his boots. The senior McBrair said the first thing his son said to him was "that he had done something bad." He testified he saw blood on his son's jacket.

After his son told him of the killings, he went to wake up his wife and the three of them went to the Waushara County sheriff's office, about 15 miles away.

McBrair had been living with his parents since he was separated from his wife, approximately two weeks before the slayings.

Also testifying today was Sheriff Virgil Batterman. He said that after taking McBrair into custody, he and his chief deputy, Edward Olegney, went to the scene—a small cottage 5 miles east of here.

Find Bodies

Batterman said they found the bodies of Mrs. McBrair and her sister lying on the floor just inside a bedroom door. Miss Oleson's body was sprawled over a bed in which the two McBrair children lay sleeping. Behr's body was found on the living room floor.

A .22 caliber rifle was the murder weapon, the sheriff testified. Although he didn't testify by many times each victim was shot, Batterman testified that Mrs McBrair and Behr "were shot up quite bad."

The rifle used in the murders was found in the front seat of a car owned by McBrair's brother, the same car McBrair took home that night, according to testimony. Also found on the front seat of the car was an empty box of .22 caliber cartridges and a leather glove.

"The glove found on the front seat of the car next to the rifle matched the one I found in front of a car at the murder scene."

Buried his Face

The defendant appeared in court today wearing slacks and a knit T-shirt. Throughout the morning's proceedings he sat with his face buried in his hands. He was flanked by his two attorneys, John Wilcox, Wautoma, and John Kotter, Wisconsin Rapids.

McBrair appeared slimmer than when he was arraigned days after the shootings. Since being taken into custody, McBrair spent 60 days at Central State Hospital where he underwent psychiatric examinations. He was returned to the Waushara County jail June 6.

Dist. Atty Howard Dutcher is being assisted with the prosecution by a Stevens Point attorney, John Haka.

The courtroom this morning was suprisingly empty Only 22 persons, including police and the press, were present.

Appleton Y's Mens Clubs will be host to 1,200 delegates from the United States and 47 countries at the 43rd annual convention of YMCA service clubs beginning Friday at the American Baptist Assembly, Green Lake. of control members were elected by the delegates themselves, that Oshkosh had been represented on the board in the first year of the organization and that there were other school districts that had not been represented.

Seefeld termed the organizational structure of the group the "height of folly" and left the meeting when balloting for board of control members began. He received three votes for a board post.

Organizational Meeting

Following the annual convention the new board of control convened in an organizational meeting.

Chairman Mrs. Heil again pointed out that since the state had placed Oshkosh in the CESA 8 district, representation could be removed only on the state level. She added, however, that it was the delegate's prerogative to participate or not participate in the group's preceedings.

In other business the board of control authorized coordinator Kenneth F. Poppy to pay CESA 8 hired teachers $200 of their first month's salary after the first week of work in the fall.

The board also authorized the Appleton State Bank as depository for the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Committee Vote Again Okays Convention Trip

Mayor Vetoed Group's First Decision To Send Officials to Works Meeting

The street - sanitation committee Monday unanimously recommended sending two representatives to the American Public Works Congress.

The annual event, attended by public officials from throughout the country, will be at Boston, Oct. 1-5.

Previously, Mayor George Buckley vetoed a committee recommendation to send the public works director and two committee members, and his action was upheld at the last council meeting.

"The mayor should forget about his politics and realize it is important for Appleton to send people to some of these events," declared Ald. Glen Thompson (13th).

Exposed to Methods

Thompson agreed with the mayor that "the professionals" (department heads) should attend, but added that it was also important for committee chairmen and other aldermen to be exposed to new methods, information and discussion on mutual problems.

"The recommendation of the department head is not always recognized by the elected body," Thompson continued. "That is why somebody on the council also has to have knowledge of what is being proposed and get behind and push for the adoption of projects and programs."

Thompson took exception to recent remarks of the mayor that he (Buckley) and the council had relied on "the word of the experts."

"There have been many times when this was not so," Thompson added

Some committee members thought the mayor might again exercise his veto, and Thompson felt Buckley should be "given the opportunity."

The committee voted to send Public Works Director Frank Keuler and Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), committee chairman and former council president, to the Congress.

Forego Attendance

Included in the recommendation was a stipulation that in attending the national event, they would forego attendance at the Wisconsin League of Municipalities convention. The entire council and department heads, along with the mayor, attend this event. This fall it will be at Madison

Keuler said there were many programs which dealt with problems and projects being encountered and considered by Appleton "It would be impossible for one person to get to these," Keuler said.

Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) said when the recommendation comes before the council Wednesday night it was his hope each alderman would view it in the proper light."

At the same time the group said it recognized that Pointer was the logical person to attend the public works congress with Keuler. Pointer, who is vacationing, did not attend the meeting.

Money Voted To Prepare Campus Plans

when they have been approved by legislative act," he said, referring to the backing given the two new schools in adopting the 1967-69 biennial state budget.

Work Within Statutes

"I hav ealways felt that the Building Commission is not the body to delay an institution referred to it by legislative act," he added. The function of the building agency is to work within statutes, not to change their intent, he went on to say

He has hopes that lawsuits over the campuses can be resolved within the next six months, he said, "and hopefully they can be open for students in the fall of 1969,"

Only state Sen Chester Dempsey, R-Hartland, opposed the release of the funds, citing the litigation regarding the site selection process as his reason

Voting for the release were Gov. Warren P. Knowles, Martin, Emmer, state Sens Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, and William Hansen, D-Stevens Point, and Assemblymen Harvey Gee, R-Wisconsin Rapids, and Robert Kordus, D-Milwaukee.

The vote Monday means that state planners have been unable to gain any time in their race against the calendar in the construction of the schools.

It had been hoped that the release of funds could be approved last month, and a month gained in the planning schedule by jumping the process ahead of earlier plans which had scheduled the approval for the August meeting of the commission.

Could Fall Short

The timetable of planning detailed construction of the new campuses may fall a month and a half short of the scheduled fall, 1969 opening date, and state planners had hoped to gain a major portion of that timing by moving ahead the release of funds and by allowing the letting of bids.

Martin's forces blocked that attempt at two July meetings of the commission, as he argued that a state agency should not approve the release of funds for working drawings based on preliminary plans for the Green Bay campus which had not yet been completed at that point.

The Parkside plans had already been completed at that time.

Backers of the campuses opposed attempts by Kordus to split the two campuses into two separate projects at the time of that delay due to fears that after the Parkside project had gained approval, the Green Bay institution would be killed.

If additional delays are met when the projects are again presented to the commission after the completion of the working drawings, the opening of the schools could be endangered even further.

Addition to Avenue Beautification

Plan Water Fountain At Appleton State Bank

Downtown Appleton's first decorative water fountain, complete with special lighting effects, is being planned by the Appleton State Bank to add to College Avenue beautification.

The city council's street-sanitation committee gave its blessing to the private development Monday after receiving a letter from Gus Zuehlke, bank president.

The fountain, which will add to the aesthetics of the bank building at 221 W. College Ave., will have a recirculating water system.

It is being designed by Nelson-Greaves of Milwaukee, contracted by the bank. The fountain will be built and maintained at no expense to the city, it was emphasized.

Permission of the city is needed, however, to undertake such a project. Originally, it had been planned to put a tree in the sidewalk on one side of the bank but the area will be occupied by the fountain.

Public Works Director Frank Keuler showed the committee a sketch of the fountain.

Keuler thought it was "a fine project" and said it had been checked out and met with no objection from his department.

It was disclosed by city officials that two other firms in the downtown area took advantage of an offer by the beautification consultants to help them plan any additional projects over and above the city beautification program

In other action, the committee recommended that Marquette, Frances and Outagamie Streets next to the new Highlands school be repaired. Ald. Ralph Gertsch (19th) said they had been damaged extensively by trucks during school construction underway to update the utility's long-range plan.

And at Menasha where an addition was made to the plant last year, officials say the facility is capable of meeting community requirements for several years

Appleton officials, who are seeking reconsideration of the city's application, intend to impress upon HUD officials that no Valley communities anticipate changing their water source for at least another 20 years or so, and federal funds invested in a local plant addition would be justified

The city's two consultants — Consoer, Townsend and Associates and Alvord, Burdick and Howsen, both of Chicago — have indicated the justification in their HUD reports filed with the application.

Plant and water treatment specialists for the two firms have told city officials they will further document their professional recommendations in letters to Public Works Director Frank Keuler and City Atty David Geenen

Geenen and Keuler, assisted by water department officials, are preparing a brief to be submitted to the regional office of HUD at Chicago

Under existing policy, the federal government pays one-third and the community two-thirds of public works project costs. There are exceptions under which additional federal money is contributed

Vandals Damage Tent Used for Beer Stand

Vandals caused extensive damage some time last week to a tent that had been used for a beer stand during softball tournaments at Telulah Park.

The vandalism was reported to Appleton police Monday by George Theiss, 301 W Prospect Ave, owner of the tent, who said he had loaned the 20 by 20 foot tent to someone else for use at the park. There were several tears in the tent, which police were told is valued at $225.

Castro to Launch Drive To Guarantee Safety Of Stokely Carmichael

MIAMI, Fla (AP) — A worldwide campaign to demand a guarantee of safety for black power leader Stokely Carmichael will be launched next Friday Havana Radio said Monday.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said the first meeting of the drive would take place in a Havana ocean-front park. The aim of the meeting will be to show solidarity with "the Negro population in America against exploitation and discrimination by the imperialist U.S. government," the radio said.

The movement will demand a guarantee of safety from the U S government for Carmichael and his companions.

Judge Heeds Father's Plea, Places Youth on Probation

Heeding a plea from the boy's father who said, "I want him home," Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr this morning placed a 16-year-old Appleton boy who was involved in a long list of offenses on probation for one year to the Outagamie County Welfare Department

Judge Dohr, in finding the youth delinquent, told the father "If he's in this court again while he's under supervision, he won't be in your house very long." The juvenile court judge also ordered the youth to make restitution for thefts and vandalism. His share of restitution was $63 81.

Involved in Thefts

Outagamie County police testified this morning that the youth was involved in burglaries last May at Calnin and Goss Gravel Pit and Structo, Inc More than $60 was taken from Structo, while gasoline was taken at the gravel pit.

Appleton police testified that the youth was involved in several beer and liquor drinking offenses with other boys late last year and early this year Police allege that in several instances, the intoxicants were stolen. The youth denied knowledge of some of the offenses

Crime Spree

The boy also was involved in the taking of a large pontoon boat from the Yacht Club in Appleton last August The craft was found, with the motor damaged. Police said the boat is owned by George Rehbein, 1141 W. Cedar St. Two other boys also were involved in the theft.

The 16-year-old also was involved with three other youths in a burglary and theft spree that began in Appleton and included places in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North and South Dakotas last May. The youths drove as far west as the Black Hills, and were taken into custody near Black River Falls when their car was involved in an accident on the return trip.

On Sept 3, the boy and five others stole more than $60 from Concerto Music Studio, 500 N. Richmond St, and split the take. The youth, whom the court noted failed all his school subjects during his junior year, also was involved in a burglary at Konz Lumber Co., in the Town of Grand Chute.

Two Arrested With $26,600 in Counterfeit Bills

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two Chicago men were arrested and $26,600 in counterfeit money was confiscated in a raid at Kenosha, William R. Barton, chief of the Secret Service here, said Monday.

Agents said the money was all in $10 bills, except for one $20 note Barton said the seizure was one of the largest in the state in several years

Taken into custody and charged Monday with possession of counterfeit notes were Donald F Baggett, 36, and Dennis H. Griffin, 25, both of Chicago.

Barton said about six of the bogus bills were passed in Kenosha before the arrests, and that reports indicate 15 or 16 were passed in Illinois en route from Chicago to Kenosha.

Cache Hidden in Organ Was WWII Nazi Counterfeit

MERANO, Italy (AP) — Some organ experts were checking inside the organ at the church of San Valentino to locate its construction date when they uncovered a neat bundle of five million British pounds. The money was fake

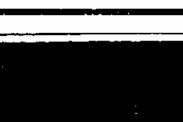

The money found Saturday night was identified by bankers as part of millions of counterfeit British pounds printed by the Nazis in World War II in a plan to undermine Britain's financial stability by flooding the world money market with pounds

The German army apparently stashed the money in the organ when it retreated from northern Italy in 1945.

Farr and Eddy Star as Lions Nip Bills, 19-17

Nick Returns Punt 75-Yards in First Attempt as Pro

DETROIT (AP) — The first time rookie Nick Eddy handled the ball and the fourth time Mel Farr got his hands on it, they helped the Detroit Lions save face in a rivalry with the American Football League

Eddy bolted 75 yards for a touchdown and Farr hauled down a pass in a 38-yard touchdown play as the National Football League Lions nipped the Buffalo Bills 19-17 Monday night.

The Lions became the first NFL team to lose to an AFL club when the Denver Broncos stopped them 13-7 Aug. 5.

"We stayed with our basic stuff," said coach Joe Schmidt. "We executed a lot better, hustled a lot more and hit a lot harder."

The Lions struck for two quick touchdowns in the first quarter, scoring the first two tims they got the ball, once when Milt Plum hit Farr for the 38 yard TD and again when Eddy caught the ball on the Detroit 25, raced right, then cut left and went all the way, scoring the first time he touched the ball as a pro.

Buffalo scored in the second quarter on a 37-yard field goal by Booth Lusteg, but Garo Yepremian matched it witn an 11-yarder.

Tom Flores then hit Paul Costa with a four-yard scoring pass to get Buffalo within 16-10 before the half.

In the final period, Karl Sweetan took over at quarterback for the Lions and led them to the deciding 16-yard field goal by Yepremian.

The final Buffalo score came on a seven-yard pass from Flores to Art Powell.

From there, Detroit ran out the clock.

Farr said "It really shocked me to start. You get hit a lot harder in the pros, and Buffalo has a rough front four to run against."

Eddy said that as "soon as I got by the second man I saw I had a real good chance on that runback. I got down to the 20 and saw the kicker waiting for me and I just outran him to the goal line.

Eddy, Farr and linebacker Paul Naumoff all missed the loss to Denver. The three had played in the College All-Star game.

Tight End and Defensive End Loom as Bear Trouble Spots

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY —"We're not that bad . . . At least I don't think we are."

Dan Desmond, the Chicago Bears' veteran and voluble publicity director, had reference to his club's disastrous debut against the Washington Redskins last week, a 37-14 nightmare for the Bruins.

The Bears, as every Packer fanatic well knows, are the next hurdle for the world champion Packers, who enterain the Chicagoans in the now traditional Midwest Shrine Game at Milwaukee County Stadium Friday night.

Desmond, speaking from his Chicago desk via long distance, offered a partial explanation of the Bears' opening tribulations. "He (George Halas, the Bears' seemingly ageless headmaster) used 56 or 57 different kids in the game . . . But I'm not alibing — We shouldn't look that bad.

"Quite obviously, of course, we've got some holes. Defensive right end is in tough shape at the moment, and tight end is, too."

The former situation was created by the retirement of Ed O'Bradovich, while the latter was occasioned by the celebrated Mike Ditka case, which saw the 1-time all-pro traded to the Philadelphia Eagles.

11 Are Gone

These were not the contributing factors to that Washington misadventure, Desmond further noted. "Of the 40 players who started the 1966 season with us, 11 are gone," he informed. "That's a 28 per cent turnover, and that's quite a turnover. . . three of those 11, I might add, were starters on offense and four were starters on defense."

"In addition to Ditka and O'Bradovich, we lost three to New Orleans in the expansion draft, defensive lineman Brian Schweda, defensive back Dave Whitsell and offensive tackle Riley Matson. Later on, we also

Win, 2-1, on Unearned Runs

Twins Shade Angels To Lengthen League Lead to Full Game

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Outside the stadium it said Baseball Tonight, but inside the Twins and Angels were involved in something Abner Doubleday never dreamed of.

Minnesota's 2-1 victory over California was a game in which the Twins didn't score when they should have and did score when they shouldn't have. A game where the losing pitcher went all the way and only allowed seven hits.

A game that had only three runs scored but took three hours and 12 minutes to play. A game that even Bill Rigney's brand new Moose from El Paso couldn't change.

In the only other American League game Monday, New York beat Baltimore 5-4.

But to begin at the beginning of this California-Minnesota business, the outcome of which put the Twins a full game ahead of Chicago in the American League pennant race. The beginning was the top of the seventh inning.

Scoreless Battle

Dave Boswell of the Twins and George Brunet of the Angels were locked in a scoreless battle and Minnesota had managed only one hit. Suddenly, however, the bases were loaded with none out on three singles—one legitimate, one a bad hop and one a bunt. Surely the Twins would score.

Surely, not. Zoilo Versalles hit a shallow fly to right. Cesar Tovar hit a shallow fly to left. Tony Oliva hit a line drive, at least, but Roger Repoz caught it.

We repair now to the bottom of the seventh. Short and sweet. Repoz hit one out of the park. 1-0, Angels.

The Twins' eighth began quietly enough. Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison flied out meekly. And when Hank Izquierdo hit a gentle grounder to short, the inning appeared ended.

But hold. Jim Fregosi threw the ball over the first baseman's head and there was Hank on second. A single by Jackie Hernandez, a double by Ted Uhlaender and the Twins were up by one. But it wasn't over yet.

Two singles by the Angels in the bottom of the ninth with one out made things tense for the Twins. Jim Kaat, normally a starter, came in for Boswell and got Bubba Morton to line out. Al Worthington, a battle-hardened reliever, came in for Kaat. Larry Stubing hit for Bobby Knoop.

Larry Stubing? Why sure, bought only three days ago from El Paso. This was his first time

Little Chute Tips Jackson In National Tournament

King Stops Mississippi Team, 9 to 2

WICHITA, Kan. — Southpaw Henry King limited Jackson, Miss., to six hits while his teammates backed him with an 11-hit assault off three pitchers as Little Chute notched a 9-2 triumph in the National Baseball Congress Tournament Monday night.

Little Chute will now move on to play the winner of the Wichita (Kan.) Cessna-Kokomo, Ind., game on Thursday at 5:45 p.m.

King, former Fox Cities Foxes pitcher, struck out eight Jackson hitters in the 7th-inning contest, including three in the sixth to pull him out of his worst trouble. He walked only three. The game was called after the top half of the seventh under the tourney's "6-run lead" rule.

Starter Ed Assaf stymied Little Chute for the first two innings, but the Wisconsin champions chased him with a 4-hit, 4-run splurge in the third frame. Little Chute padded its lead to 7-0 in the fourth and tallied its final two markers in the fifth.

King Doubles

King led off the third-inning uprising with a ringing double to left-center and scored one out later on player-manager Roger Gerrits' single. Third-baseman Jim Vande Wettering followed with another double to plate Gerrits, and then Bob Felda wrapped things up with a 375-foot drive over the scoreboard in right field. Fond du Lac's Felda, a first-baseman, was acquired from the Milwaukee Falk club for the tournament.

Little Chute tagged reliefer Russ Dillard for three hits and three more runs in the fourth, with all the runs coming in after two outs.

Catcher Lee Neumier started with a single but was erased on a fielder's choice. King followed with another force-play roller in the infield but was safe on an overthrow at first and took second. Hank Peerenboom's single then brought King in to score, and the Little Chute shortstop raced all the way to third on another bad throw to the plate.

Gerrits sent Peerenboom home on his second hit and scored himself later on a passed ball by Jackson catcher Mel Whitfield.

2 Insurance Runs

The Wisconsin Champion got its last two runs off the third Jackson hurler, Ronnie Aldy. A walk to Lee Westphal, singles by Fred Steger and Lee Neumier, and another passed ball produced the two insurance markers.

Jackson tallied single runs in the fifth and sixth, the first coming on Hill Renson's single after Mel Whitfield's 2-bagger. Little Chute leftfielder Fred Steger threw out a runner trying to get to third base to prevent further damage.

In the sixth, King walked Ken Parker and Ted Thornton sent him home with a booming triple over the center-fielder's head. However, King bore down and struck out Moore, Bridges and Whitfield in order.

Foxes Extend Win Streak to Season High of 6 Games

Halt Waterloo Rally in Ninth, Terminate Road Trip Tonight

WATERLOO, Ia. — After failing in four previous attempts to extend a 5-game winning streak, the Appleton Foxes and Steve Kokor survived a ninth-inning rally by Waterloo to tip the Hawks, 4-3, for their sixth straight victory here Monday.

The win was the Foxes' 11th in their last 12 games, but they were not able to increase their Midwest League lead as second-place Burlington also triumphed.

Southpaw Ken Frailing (4-4) will attempt to give Appleton a sweep of its 3-game set with Waterloo tonight. He will be opposed by righthander Bob Cavalli (2-5). The contest will end the Foxes' road trip.

After surrendering a leadoff double to Luis Alvarado in the first inning, Kokor was sailing along with a 1-hitter and a 4-0 lead going into the ninth innig.

Singles to Center

Alvarado again led off and lived on Stu Singleton's error. John Mason walked and Felix Maldonado loaded the bases with a pop fly single. John Frye then laced a single into center and when the ball went through Jose Ortz' legs to the wall Maldonado raced home behind Alvarado and Mason all the way from first. Ortiz recovered in time to relay to Singleton who threw to Radmaker at third to cut down Frye in a close play.

Frye's putout brought manager Rac Slider out of the Hawks dugout and in an ensuing argument he was thumbed out of the game. The putout proved to be a lifesaver as the next man up, Jim Gruber, singled. When Kokor threw a ball to Mike Koritko, relief specialist Willie Hooker was summoned from the bullpen and he worked Koritko to a 3-2 count before striking him out to end the game and preserve Kokor's sixth win against four defeats.

Kokor had been in complete control until that point as no runner had advanced past second base. Up to the ninth, Kokor had walked three and another runner had reached base on an error but two had been erased in doubleplays. From the final out in the second until the leadoff man walked in the seventh Kokor retired 13 in a row.

Appleton, meanwhile, had broken a scoreless duel between Kokor and Doug Beckett with a pair of runs in the fourth. George Hunter doubled and scored on Joe Monty's single.

Cards Tally 3 In Ninth to Tip Chicago, 6 to 5

Increase Lead to 9½ As Mike McCormick Halts Atlanta, 6-2

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Mets finally had their night, but for the St. Louis Cardinals, it looks more and more like their year.

The rollicking Red Birds, flying along with a 9½ game National League lead on the wing, reached their largest bulge of the season the hard way Monday night, scoring thrice in the last of the ninth to beat the Chicago Cubs 6-5.

It's been going that way all year for the Cardinals, who have not been out of the top spot since June 17. But the Mets have not had a night like Monday's since the Fourth of July fireworks they lit under Juan Marichal.

This time, the Mets finally set off the long-burning fuse under Larry Jackson as they clipped the wings of the Philadelphia right-hander 8-3 for the first time in their history after 18 losses.

Wins 16th

In the only other NL games, Mike McCormick won his 16th game, stopping Atlanta on seven hits as San Francisco won 6-2, and Willie Stargell's run-scoring single in a three-run eighth carried Pittsburgh by Cincinnati 4-3.

Once again, it was Roger Maris, the Yankee castoff, who sent the Cardinals soaring with an assist from Cubs' right fielder Ted Savage, an ex-Cardinal.

Maris, who tripled home two earlier runs and scored a third, singled in the tying run with one out in the ninth and the winning marker scored when Savage fumbled the hit.

Savage had been a hero until then after he capped Chicago's three-run fifth inning with a run-scoring safety. Ron Santo's 26th homer leading off the ninth made it 5-3 Cubs and they looked a good bet to replace Atlanta in second place and cut the Cardinals' lead to eight games.

Set Up Maris

But a walk and hits by Lou Brock and Curt Flood set up Maris, who finished the game hitting .275 with 43 runs batted in.

Jack Fisher, who ruined Marichal's 19-0 record against the Mets on July 4, again proved the stopper as he broke Jackson's spell with his third victory —and third by the Mets—over the Phillies this year.

"This is the night," Fisher's teammates told him before the historical night and a couple of Philadelphia errors in a four-run fourth inning helped make it so.

"I knew the law of averages would catch up with Jackson sometime," Fisher said. "He wasn't pitching bad, but his defense let him down."

Longest Streak

Fisher scattered eight hits for his eighth victory in 21 decisions as the Mets reached their longest winning streak of the season, five.

McCormick's performance was not as eventful as Fisher's, but it did tie him for the major league lead in games won.

The Giants' left-hander, who has lost five times, yielded only seven hits and had the Braves blanked until Clete Boyer hit his 21st homer with a man on in the ninth.

But it wasn't enough to overcome a three-run shot by Willie

Steve Bull, De la Torre Grab Open Lead

EAU CLAIRE (AP)—Two former champions, both professionals from Milwaukee, blasted record breaking five-under par 66s Monday to share the lead after the first round in the 46th annual Wisconsin Open Golf championship.

Manuel de la Torre, 45, seeking his fifth State Open crown, and Steve Bull, after his second, both had 33-33—66 totals over the par 36-35—71 Eau Claire Country Club course.

The entire field of 173 golfers was to tour the 6,535-yard layout again today, with the top 90 and ties going on for the final two rounds of the 72-hole medal tournament that ends Thursday.

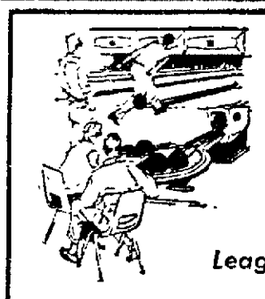

Sharing third place at 69 were Ralph Parker of Madison, in his best round to date in open play, and Mike Bencriscutto of Racine, who made his boldest bid for the crown in 1954 when De la Torre edged him on Bencriscutto's home course with a double birdie finish.

Five golfers were bunched at 70, including Jeff Radder of Madison, the junior state champ; Jim McGinley of Oconomowoc, acknowledged as the best golfer in the state; Bob Swift of Manitowoc, a former Milwaukee match champion; newcomer Skip Adams of Kenosha and a local favorite here, Dick Hanson of Eau Claire.

Defending champion Eddie Davis of Milwaukee had a disappointing five-over-par 76 and, at 10 strokes off the pace, appeared to be out of the title race.

Also in serious trouble was last year's state amateur champion Don Iverson of LaCrosse, who carded a 78, to go a dozen strokes off the lead.

Hofa Park Rally Edges Cecil '9'

Freedom Captures 5th Straight Win In 'Dairyland'

Hofa Park rallied to tip Cecil, 5-1 to retain the top spot in the North, while Freedom extended its unbeaten string to five games by outslugging Seymour, 16-14, in Southern Division contest in the Dairyland Baseball League Sunday.

In other games around the circuit, Navarino pounded Bear Creek, 12-1; Oneida Mission toppled Black Creek, 8-2; and Garsow rapped Nichols, 16-6. Garsow edged Bonduel, 6-5, in a make-up game on Saturday. Another make-up tilt saw Bonduel rip Shiocton, 11-1, on Thursday.

Don Krumrai's 3-run homer in the bottom of the seventh erased Cecil's 4-2 to give Hofa Park its victory. Cecil had scored all four of its runs in the fourth on consecutive singles by Bruce Hansen, Bill Burmeister, Doug Hoppe, and Roger Koehler.

Navarino had two 4-run frames in routing Bear Creek. Arlin Pues and Howie Vanden Elzen each had four runs batted in, as Vanden Elzen smashed a 3-run homer in the fourth.

Winning hurler Jim Meyer gave up just two hits to Bear Creek in going the route, one of them a triple by Frank Klegin. Meyer struck out 13 batters. Guy Shadduck was charged with the loss.

Jerry Kiefer went 5-for-5 in pacing Garsow's 16-6 triumph over Nichols. Kiefer slugged a 3-run homer, a double, and three singles in five trips. Dan Ferry also hit a 2-run homer for the winners.

Nancy Richey, Mrs. King Pace U.S. Romp to Wightman Cup

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United States has retained the Wightman Cup for a seventh consecutive year with a 6-1 victory so impressive there seems little chance Great Britain's women tennis stars will cart the silver vase across the Atlantic for some years to come

The Americans swept all three matches Monday in the windup of the three-day, two-nation matches and now lead 33-6 in annual Wightman competition begun in 1923.

Miss Nancy Richey, 24-year-old Texan who ranks No. 2, won Monday's opening match against Virginia Wade 3-6, 8-6, 6-2 for the fourth and decisive U.S. point in the best-of-7 match series.

Then Mrs. Billie Jean King, 23, of Long Beach, Calif., overwhelmed Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones, blonde left-hander who held the No. 1 British ranking. It took Mrs. King only 34 minutes to win 6-1, 6-2.

Three Wins

Bespectacled Billie Jean accounted for 2½ points of the U.S. total. In addition to her easy conquest of Mrs. Jones Monday, she defeated Miss Wade, No. 2 British player on Saturday 6-3, 6-2 and teamed with 19-year-old Rosemary Casals of San Francisco in a doubles victory Sunday. Miss Casals, in her first year of Wightman Cup play, and Miss King won over the Wade-Jones pairing 10-8, 6-4.

Mary Ann Eisel, 20, of St. Louis replaced Nancy as Mrs. Carole Graebner's partner against the Scottish duo of Winnie Shaw and Mrs. Joyce Williams. The Americans won 8-6, 12-10.

Hershey Criticized for Plight Of Soldier Drafted in Error

Put on List as Delinquent; Can't Get Out

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman said today draft chief Lewis B. Hershey refuses to allow out of the Army a Pennsylvania National Guardsman wrongfully drafted through "a paperwork foulup."

Rep. Richard S Schweiker, R-Pa., accused Hershey of "callous disregard for the individual" in refusing to recommend release of Leslie E. Brown, 23, Oreland, Pa., despite the Pennsylvania Guard's request.

Listed as Delinquent

Selective Service headquarters said it is investigating the allegations.

Brown was drafted and sent to Ft. Bragg, N.C., last March after his Guard unit mistakenly put him on a list of guards men delinquent in meeting attendance requirements and thus eligible for the draft

Schweiker called Brown's plight "disgraceful evidence of a callous disregard for the individual and the inability of responsible individuals to unravel the red tape with which they have surrounded themselves"

The congressman said Hershey has turned down two appeals from the Pennsylvania Guard and Brown for the discharge

The first refusal came last June, he said, on grounds Brown should have appealed before he actually was drafted.

The second, Schweiker claimed, came after Brown and his Guard unit commander explained Brown had appealed—but the appeal was processed too late through a second administrative foulup.

Another Foulup

The Guard unit commander, Capt William E. Brantley, explained in a letter the appeal did not come to his attention until the day after Brown was sent to Ft. Bragg.

Schweiker said in a statement that the commander's letter, sent to Hershey with Brown's second unsuccessful appeal for discharge last month, concluded "As his commanding officer, had I known of his plight, every effort would have been expended to prevent such a grave and far-reaching error. Pvt Brown should be released

"He could not have forestalled these errors, nor did he create them."

Schweiker said Brown's records showed only two unauthorized absences from Guard meetings when he was erroneously reported delinquent.

Brown previously served six months active duty as a Guardsmen.

Deny U.S. Sought Soviet Help in Terminating War

Captured N. Vietnamese Paper Says Coalition Was Proposed

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A captured document apparently once used by North Vietnam's hierarchy claims the United States sought Soviet aid last year in establishing a South Vietnamese coalition government that would include Communists.

The paper, now circulating in U.S. quarters, says the North Vietnamese leadership in the spring of 1966 was ready for what it termed "tactical negotiations" while fighting in the South.

The South Vietnamese long have rejected inclusion of the National Liberation Front—Viet Cong—a Communist organ in South Vietnam, as a possible part of their government.

As for talks, the stated U.S. policy is to examine any and all proposals for negotiations toward a potential settlement.

Deny Document

A State Department spokesman, questioned about the document, denied the United States sought any arrangement which would involve Communist representation in a South Vietnamese government.

The South Vietnamese "do not view a coalition government as a viable solution," this spokesman said.

The State Department official said he was familiar with the North Vietnamese document but did not comment on the so-called negotiations which the paper said the Communists favored in 1966.

Whether North Vietnam communicated, or made any attempt to communicate, an interest in talks was not made clear in the document.

The statements were carried in a report by Le Duan, identified by the State Department as first secretary of the ruling Workers party of North Vietnam.

Dated April 10, 1966, it was sent to the Communists' Central Office South Vietnam by Gen. Nguyen Van Vinh, chairman of Hanoi's "reunification department"

Under the heading "Negotiations," Duan was quoted as saying "the U S intends to ask the Soviet Union to set up a coalition government." He gave no indication as to how or when

French Involved

Under the arrangement, Duan stated, the French—whose alleged participation was not explained—would name the prime minister of the coalition government The United States would name a vice prime minister and a "Mr. Tho" would become a second vice prime minister.

Tho apparently is Nguyen Tho, chairman and major public Viet Cong spokesman

"If this solution is accepted, it will take us only a month to achieve the settlement," Duan stated

Duan said the party's central committee "advocated tactical negotiations" during the rainy season

"But we will still fight while we are carrying out negotiations," Duan said.

"We must foresee this so that we have a correct understanding and should not depend upon negotiations The reason why we advocate negotiations is that we want to prove that we are always concerned about peace on a correct basis."

At one point, Duan mentioned that North Vietnam had received a hint from the Soviet Union's A. N. Shelepin to make some move toward discussions. Shelepin, recently demoted in the Soviet government, was then the Soviet state security chief and a relatively influential figure, according to the State Department

"Soviet Union's Shelepin, on his visit to our country, seems to have suggested negotiations, Duan said, but Hanoi made plain "our determination to fight the U.S. aggressors" Duan added "The Soviet Union supports us under all conditions: whether we fight or negotiate.

Divers Examine Tankers Sunk By Submarines

Want to Learn if There Is Pollution Danger in Seepage

By PHILIP WECHSLER

AVON-BY-THE-SEA, N J (AP) — Deep sea divers are descending to the cold depths of the Atlantic Ocean in hope of unravelling a 25-year-old mystery of whether sunken oil tankers are seeping their cargoes to the surface.

President Johnson ordered the pilot project undertaken to determine whether any of the 103 tankers sunk off American shores— most of them victims of German submarines during World War II—pose an oil pollution threat to the coastline.

Divers, using underwater television cameras, went 90 feet to the ocean bottom Monday to examine the Gulftrade, a tanker sliced in two by a German torpedo in 1942 It sank with a loss of 18 lives and carried 4 million gallons of oil to the bottom.

Coast Guard officials said there was no apparent trace of oil. Today the divers investigate the R P Resor, which also was torpedoed off the South Jersey shore in 1942. Both ships are within 14 miles of the coastline.

If any oil is discovered, officials said, it will be siphoned off

"Little is known about what happened to the ships and their cargoes during their years at the bottom of the sea," said Donald G. Agger of the U S Department of Transportation which is supervising the project with the Coast Guard

"This venture," he said, "is in many ways a mystery story."

Officials were unable to say if all 103 sunken tankers will be investigated.

Authorities speculated oil oozing from the tankers may have caused the oil pollution to Cape Cod beaches in Massachusetts and killed 6,000 wild sea ducks off the South Jersey coast

Both incidents occurred last April, shortly after the tanker Torrey Canyon ran aground near Cornwall, England, leaving a slick of millions of gallons of thick black oil that coated British shores

Little Hope for Green Bay Man Lost in Africa

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP)—Peace Corps spokesmen held little hope Monday for a Wisconsin volunteer missing since last Wednesday and feared killed by a lion.

Mark C. Raymaker, 22, of Green Bay, Wis., was last seen entering a thick, thorny bush to stalk game. He and two other Peace Corpsmen were hunting for food because the diet of the Masai tribesmen they were working among consists largely of a mixture of cows' blood and milk.

An air search of the isolated region about 200 miles northeast of here continued. Raymaker had been coordinating a three-week inoculation campaign among the primitive Masai.

Not Enough Excitement

Pitcairn Young Quit Island

NEW YORK (AP) One hundred seventy-eight years after the mutiny on the Bounty, life on Pitcairn Island among the descendants of Fletcher Christian and his men is without taxes, crime or alcohol. It's quiet and almost enough to drive the young people away.

From the 150 residents who lived a few years ago on Pitcairn's two square miles in the South Pacific—the smallest colony in the British Empire—the number in 1967 has fallen to about 90.

"A lot of our young people feel too isolated on Pitcairn and they leave," explained Thomas Colman Christian, 31, a great-great-great grandson of Fletcher Christian.

Now in New York studying broadcasting techniques, Christian said, however, "I think the emigration has tapered off and we won't be losing any more of our people."

Christian, who runs a small radio station at home, is a mixture of British and Tahitian stock, as are the other Pitcairn people whose ancestors were the nine British mutineers from the Bounty, their Tahitian wives and a few Tahitian men who came to the uninhabited island in 1790 It is now self-governing, but under the over-all administration of Fiji.

Leisure activities, Christian said, consist mainly of movies twice a week in the meeting house and gardening. The average yearly income is $600, enough to live on, he said, but not enough to allow much saving. Besides, there are no banks on Pitcairn.

"We have no monetary taxes, but all the men from 16 to 65 have to do some work for the island, such as keeping our boats in repair. The island makes quite a lot of money selling its postage stamps to collectors."

But Pitcairn's mood is austere, one where grass skirts and moonlight revelry would not seem to fit in

"All of us on the island are Seventh Day Adventists," Christian said. "No alcohol is allowed on the island There is no dancing or gambling or anything. There hasn't been a murder on the island since 1897 and we don't have any crime there now at all."

When the young people feel the urge to leave, where do they go?"

"Some go to Australia and New Zealand, usually as carpenters, because most of our people are expert wood carvers," he said.

Japanese Contempt for Peace Bid Hastened Use of Bomb

NEW YORK (AP) — President Harry S Truman's decision to use the atom bomb on Japan was hastened by a poor choice of language in Japan's reply to Potsdam peace terms, a magazine article says.

Truman "reacted predictably" when informed that Premier Kantaro Suzuki's reaction was "mokusatsu," meaning "treat with silent contempt", the article by William Craig in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post said

Suzuki's intended reply was to withhold comment, the article said

It also reported that a band of Japanese army officers attempted a coup d'etat to block surrender in World War II after the bombs were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The article said the coup attempt Aug. 15, 1945 resulted in the invasion of Emperor Hirohito's palace and the death of the head of the Imperial Guard, but dissolved when a search of the palace failed to turn up a recording by Hirohito of a surrender speech to be broadcast the next day

The article is an excerpt from Craig's book, "The Fall of Japan"

Calendar Towers Are Fun, Attractive, Easy to Make

BY CAPPY DICK

A calendar tower for your desk is easy to make by following these directions. The advantage of it is that it shows all the remaining months of the year, each represented by its own calendar page.

Use a Kite Stick

Use the pages of a small calendar pad. Remove them from the pad and paste each one on a piece of cardboard. Trim away the excess.

Select a kite stick long enough to accommodate all of the months when they have been attached to it as in Figure 1. Use thumbtacks to fasten the calendar cards to the stick, spacing them upward as the boy is doing in Figure 2.

Fill a small cardboard box with pebbles and stand the calendar tower in them, completing the project.

Bleier's Begins Its Title Defense With 2-0 Triumph

Bleier's Jerry Schmidt and Arrow Moving's Arlin Burt fired no-hitters for their teams Monday night as action got underway in the 22nd annual Appleton City Softball Tournament.

Schmidt gave up nine walks but struck out eight as defending champion Bleier's blanked Appleton Mills, 2-0. Loser Dave Schuester allowed just three hits for the Mills.

Burt tamed Zwicker's with less trouble, walking one and fanning 12. Arrow backed Burt's effort with a 6-hit attack, scoring pairs of runs in each of the second, third, and fourth innings.

Among the six other games played, Dick's Pub thrashed IPC 8-0, as Bob Hietpas and Jim Stepanski combined for a 3-hitter. Hietpas worked the first four frames and Stepanski the last three.

Miller Electric tallied six times in the fifth on its way to a 13-4 triumph over Foremost Dairies. Cloyd Thede scattered six hits and struck out 10 in hurling the win.

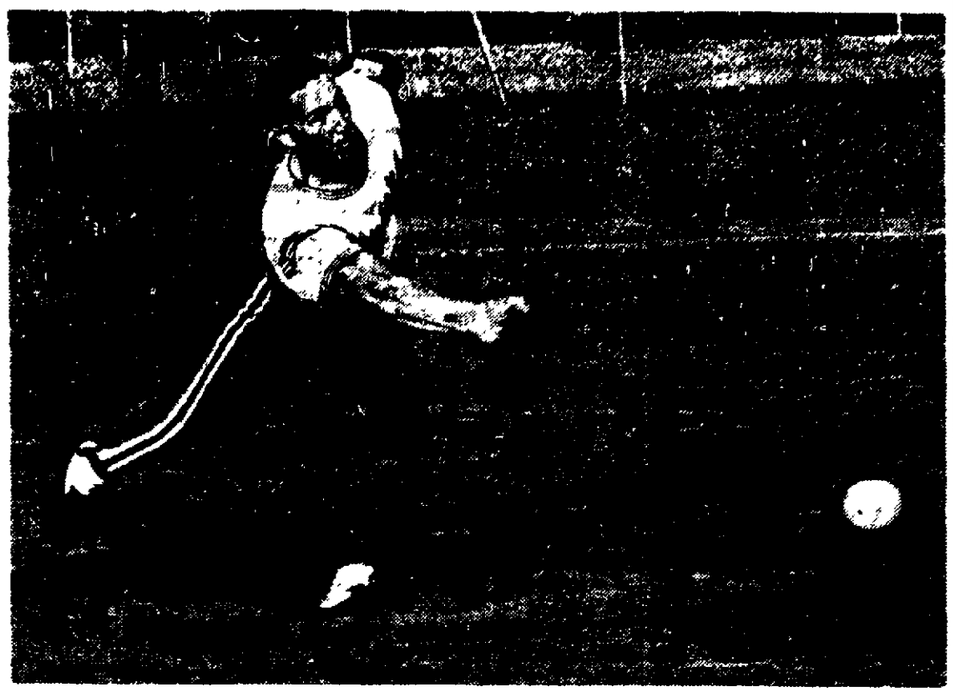

Appleton Coated Paper fell behind, 3-2, after the first inning but then tallied seven times in the second and went on to post an 11-7 decision over Allis-Chalmers. Jim Walkowski notched the victory.

Glen Nau allowed just two hits and struck out 15 hitters as Paradise Club whipped Kurz & Root, 9-0. Nau didn't yield a walk. John Jooss absorbed the loss.

Ed Steenis had three hits, including a home run, to pace Black's Drive-Inn to a 9-3 victory over Riverside Paper No. 1. Charley Miller bested Bud Grisbers on the mound.

In the final contest, Slip & Dar's walloped the Power Co., 12-2, on the strength of a 6-run fourth inning.

Foxes Extend Win Streak

Art Kusnyer followed with a single but Monty was thrown out at third. Kusnyer, who had gone to second on the play at third, came home when Waterloo errored on Brinkman's grounder.

Runners Advance

In the sixth, the Foxes added two more. Roy Radmaker singled and Hunter followed with a ground ball to third. Gruber turned to throw to second but no one was there but Radmaker. Both runners advanced on a passed ball. Then catcher Bill Carino attempted to pick Hunter off second and his throw went into center allowing Radmaker to score and Hunter went to third. Chuck Brinkman cracked a 2-out single to plate Hunter.

Other than its two scoring innings the only other hit Appleton managed was a double by Brinkman in the third.

The Foxes now hold a 6-4 edge on Waterloo for the season series. They are also 16-13 in 1-run games and 18-7 on the road for the second half.

up in the majors. They call him Moose for physical reasons.

A passed ball. Men on second and third. Your big chance, Moose. A decent single could win the game.

But a called third strike ended that dream and, mercifully, the game. Brunet, 11-14, took the loss despite his fine performance.

In the Yankees' victory, starting pitcher Steve Barber and Joe Pepitone each drove in a pair of runs and reliever Bill Monbouquette helped Barber to his eighth victory of the season.

Peggy Conley Holds Lead in Qualifying

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The second qualifying round for the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championships gets under way today with Peggy Conley of Spokane, Wash., in the lead.

Miss Conley, 20, a runner-up in the 1963 tourney, shot a 39-35—74 at the first qualifying round Monday—two-over-par on the 6,062-yard Annandale Golf Club.

Following her at 75 were two-time winner Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Martha Wilkinson, 18, of Fullerton, Calif., the intercollegiate champ, and Mrs. Claudin Cros Robin, former French and German champion, now from Caracas, Venezuela.

Joanne Gunderson Carner, 28, the defending champion from Seekonk, Mass., recorded 39-40—79 in qualifying.

Maud Hardacker Places Second

Appleton's Maud Hardacker placed second in a long distance swim meet at Lannon Saturday.

Swimming in the 11-12 age group, Miss Hardacker posted a time of 12:43.2 for the half mile. This summer, she is working out with the Madison Swim Club, which is coached by Pat Barry.

Clinton First Foe

Special Nights Slated For Foxes' Home Stay

The Clinton Pilots, move into Goodland Field Wednesday night when the Appleton Foxes open a 7-day home stand.

The "Pot of Gold" has climbed to $115 for the initial encounter. Fans are also reminded that they may register at this game and every game for the 1958 Chrysler and bicycle which will be given away at the Aug. 30 game.

Prior to the game Wednesday, the Appleton stationed United States Marine Corps recruiters will receive a perpetual motion clock — accepting in behalf of former Fox Carlos May who is currently undergoing basic training at Paris Island, S.C. May was adjudged the outstanding player for the month of June in the Midwest League. The clock will then be sent to South Carolina and another presentation will be made to May.

Waterloo moves into Goodland Field for games Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Saturday has been set aside as Advertisers' Appreciation Night. The Foxes management will be honoring all their advertisers at a pre-game luncheon at 6 p.m.

Saturday will also be a repeat date for Elks Night which was rained out earlier in the year. Rainchecks, original tickets will be honored, or any Elk may bring his entire family into the park for 25 cents by merely presenting his paid membership card. The Appleton City Band will entertain.

Sunday will be "Consolidated Papers, Inc., Night." The firm has made tickets available to all their employees and families for this one.

The Wisconsin Rapids Twins move in Monday night and the Foxes will feature "Ladies Night" and "Family Bleacher Night."

Tuesday will conclude the homestand, and members of the Appleton Rotary Club will hold their annual outing at Goodland Field. The Knights of Columbus Council 1797 of New London will also attend.

The evening also marks the third and final appearance of the Para-Naut skydivers.

There is a possibility that the Foxes will be honoring their 500,000th fan sometime during this homestand. Just 10,543 fans are needed this year to hit the magic number. The winner will receive an all-expense weekend in Chicago September 9-10 and air transportation will be provided by Air Wisconsin.

Appleton LL Banquet Set For Tonight

The Ninth Annual Appleton Little League banquet will be held at the Darboy Club at 6:30 p.m. today.

Approximately 520 players, parents and guests will be on hand to honor the 1967 Little League teams and players and give the Appleton McKinley team, which will be competing in the Northern Regionals at Harvey, Ill., a big send-off.

The guest speaker will be Dick Weiss, sportscaster and sales director for WVTV, Channel 18, Milwaukee.

Weiss was a 4-letter winner at Wauwatosa High School. He was signed by the Milwaukee Braves and played in the Nebraska and Florida State Rookie Leagues before an injury cut his career short. He went on to scout for the Chicago Cubs and the Braves.

Coaches 3 Sports

He is presently the basketball, baseball and track coach for Northwestern Lutheran Grade School in Milwaukee where he has compiled a 201-15-1 record in the three sports. He has managed the youngest semi-pro team to enter the Wisconsin State Tournament, and seven of the players on that team later were signed by major league clubs.

Among others attending the banquet will be Appleton Mayor George Buckley, Legion manager Sonny Filz, an Appleton Babe Ruth League representative, and the two Miss Little Leagues —Debbie Kottke and Cris Tebo.

Post-Crescent Sports Editor John Paustian will be master of ceremonies.

Among the awards to be presented will be trophies to Jenkel Oil for winning the Linwood Division championship and to Northside Advancement for capturing the Roosevelt Division title.

The McKinley Division champion has not yet been decided, nor has the City playoff champion.

The McKinley tournament team will receive its state pins. The regional trophy, won last weekend at Ottumwa, Ia., will be presented to the group and turned over to the sponsoring Appleton Building and Loan Association.

Jake Wood Sent To Buffalo Club

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds sent utility infielder Jake Wood to Buffalo of the International League Monday on a 24-hour recall basis.

Wood was acquired from the Detroit organization on June 17 when the Reds were in need of help because of player injuries. Wood appeared in 16 games and had two hits in 17 times at bat.

Optioning of Wood clears the way for shortstop Leo Cardenas and outfielder Floyd Robinson to be removed from the disabled list and for the Reds still to meet the 25-player limit.

Tim Fitzpatrick Hits Homer as Little Chute Downs Kimberly Stars

KIMBERLY — Tim Fitzpatrick hit a grand slam homer in the seventh to lead the Little Chute Cub League All Stars to a 13-9 win over the Kimberly All Stars in a return game here last week, giving both Star teams a win.

Gary Van Handel was the winning hurler, and Bill Goffard was charged with the loss.

Flowers Smell Sweet

Palmer, Middlecoff Help Honor Hagen

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — "You're only here for a short visit. Don't hurry. Don't worry. And be sure to smell the flowers along the way."

Exactly when golfing great Walter Hagen made that statement is lost in the mists of time.

But to Hagen, now 75 and muted by three operations for throat cancer, the flowers probably never smelled sweeter than Monday night.

Some 250 people, including Arnold Palmer and former Masters and U.S. Open champion Cary Middlecoff turned this remote, northern lower Michigan resort into the golf capital of the world, attending a testimonial dinner for "The Haig."

And despite the fact that Hagen, father of modern professional golf and only man ever to win five PGA titles and four British Opens, could not amuse them with the antics and tales that made him as famous off the links as on, he obviously enjoyed himself.

A good bit of the praise for Hagen, who has lived in this area for some 10 years, was good natured ribbing that concentrated not so much on how he became the first man in history to win $1 million swinging a club, but how he spent it.

Four in a Row

Hagen, besides being the only man to ever to win five PGA titles, is also the only one ever to have won four of them in a row. He quit playing competitive golf in 1939 and stopped playing social golf in 1945.

Until a year ago he used to hit iron shots off the 50-foot lakeside bluff that borders his 20-acre estate, 10 miles west of here. Sickness and the complaints of water skiers have ended that.

The testimonial was the brainchild of Gordon Turnquist, a local real estate man, and Dr. Creighton Wagener, a Traverse City physician, who are friends and admirers of The Haig.

"Walter is getting on and we thought it would be a terrible thing to wonder after he is gone why we hadn't done this sort of thing," Turnquist said.

Among the great names in golf who attended were former PGA champs Johnny Revolta and Walter Burkemo.

Hagen was presented with a book containing regrets from former President Dwight Eisenhower, the Duke of iWndsor, who watched him play even before ascending the throne of England, Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, and dozens of others, who couldn't attend.

The sentiments of all were summed up best perhaps by Palmer when he said, "tonight might have been downstairs in the pro shop and not the ballroom if it hadn't been for Walter Hagen."

Bears Having Trouble at Tight End

traded defensive end Doug Atkins and offensive tackle Herman Lee to New Orleans."

"Jon Arnett, who backed up Gale Sayers, and Bob Kilcullen, a defensive tackle, also retired. And split end Dick Gordon played out his option and didn't return — we have no idea what he is doing now except he apparently isn't in football — and fullback Joe Marconi was placed on waivers at the end of last season."

"Of course, six of the 11 who left are 30 or older," Desmond pointed out, adding, "I don't think Coach Halas is rebuilding out of choice. Things just fell that way."

Lacks Experience

And the replacements for the departed? "Halas is using Marty Amsler, a kid who played in one of the minor leagues last season, in O'Bradovich's old spot at right defensive end. He lacks experience, but he's a big boy — 6-5 and 255 pounds. And we're using Duane Allen, who has been with the Rams, at tight end.

"We need a backup man to replace Arnett behind Sayers, of course, and right now they've got a rookie from Georgia, Gary Lyle, in that spot. Brian Piccolo has looked pretty darned good there, too. And, naturally, Sayers has to have some rest so somebody's going to have to fill in there."

"Ronnie Bull has a broken bone in his foot at the moment, but he is supposed to have the cast off early in September and he's supposed to be ready for the first game. When he gets back, he'll probably be in the starting backfield with Sayers."

Andy Livingston, the much-heralded young fullback, is expected to be the No. 2 fullback, at least for the present, Desmond said.

"Andy looks a little heavy," Dan explained, "and he's still running a little gingerly (Livingston suffered a leg fracture in last year's Shrine game against the Packers). He says he's still a little leery of it."

"Up front, a boy named Bob Pickens is expected to take over Herman Lee's old spot at left tackle, but he was hurt in a scrimmage and just now is back in camp. So right now, Halas is using George Seals at that position."

No. 1 Choice

"Defensively, we've found a tough defensive end in this rookie, Lloyd Phillips of Arkansas, who was our No. 1 choice. He's at left end, Doug Atkins' old stand. And we have Frank Cornish and Dick Evey at the defensive tackles, so we're pretty well set there. Cornish is 6-6 and nearly 300 and has such great lateral speed, and Evey, of course, is one of the best."

There are also other items of cheer, he revealed. "Johnny Morris (out most of last season following knee surgery) looks good," Desmond enthused. "He's catching the ball and bouncing right up."

"And Jimmy Jones, who's been at Camp McCoy and didn't play against Washington because he contracted an infection, has recovered and he'll play quite a bit this week. That will make quite a difference — he's a fine receiver.

Concannon Looked Good

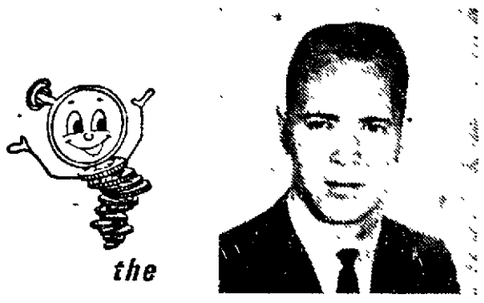

Perhaps the most pleasant portion of an otherwise long evening in the nation's capital, he indicated, came in the third quarter. "I think Concannon looked good, and I think Halas thought so, too," Dan observed. The ex-Eagle, perhaps the league's finest running quarterback, maneuvered the Bruins to their first touchdown.

"I don't know if he'll start against the Packers, though," Desmond said. "Halas hasn't decided yet. He used four quarterbacks against the Redskins, of course — Rudy Bukich, Larry Rakestraw and Dave Mathieson, which is unusual, because he wants to win 'em all."

"But he had to look at Rakestraw and Mathieson. And, of course, he knows what Bukich can do."

Contrary to rumor, Friday night's match will not be televised. . . It, however, will be telecast on Channel 2, on a delayed basis, via video tape at 1 p.m. Saturday. The Packers will leave for Milwaukee from their St. Norbert training base at 1:30 Thursday and headquarter at the Pfister Hotel.

New Coach Popular Choice

Mental Discipline and Attention to Detail Stressed by Bud Grant

BY JACK HAND

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — To the outside world Bud Grant of the Minnesota Vikings may be as much of a stranger as Cal Ermer of the Minnesota Twins. But not in Minnesota.

Grant is close to a legend in the Land of the Lakes where his career as coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Canadian League was noted with the same pride that greeted his earlier feats as an athletic superman at the University of Minnesota.

When this strong silent man was introduced as the successor to fiery Norm Van Brocklin as coach of the Vikings there were no "Bud Who" questions in this area. He was the first choice for the job before Van Brocklin came to Minnesota and he was a popular choice as Dutch's successor.

"I never heard Bud raise his voice in anger," said one long time associate. But there is an iron will to this man with the piercing eyes and devotion to detail.

The Vikings discovered quickly that Grant is a stickler for detail. In a practice session, Grant stepped in quickly and stopped the action.

"Fasten that chin strap," he said to split end Paul Flatley. The drill continued when Flatley fastened the strap.

Mental Discipline

"We pay attention to the little things to become accustomed to cultivating good habits," said Grant. "A good team must have mental discipline. It must do everything right all of the time. Green Bay is a good example of a team with mental discipline. It paid off with a championship when somebody on Dallas made a mistake last year and moved offsides."

Grant has his work cut out for him because he must go into the tough Central Division of the National Football League with a quarterback who has thrown only 137 passes in four years.

Francis Tarkenton, the scrambler, has gone to the New York Giants, and Ron VanderKelen, more of the pocket type, is his successor.

Vandy has been waiting in the wings ever since he startled the pro world with a brilliant fourth quarter for Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl. Nobody drafted Vandy but five clubs got on the long distance phone after the game, ruining Grant's hopes of spiriting the quarterback away to his Winnipeg Bombers.

Barring an unlikely trade, VanderKelen will be the quarterback this year, backed by Bob Berry of Oregon and John Hankinson of Minnesota.

A fine draft, made possible by the Tarkenton trade, has brought the Vikings such highly-rated prospects as running back Clint Jones and receiver Gene Washington of Michigan State, defensive end Alan Page of Notre Dame and flanker-defensive back Bob Grim of Oregon State.

Jones eventually may be the replacement for Tommy Mason at running back but he will have to oust Dave Osborn. Washington will have to beat out Red Phillips at flanker. Page moves into a regular job due to the injury to Carl Eller, who underwent knee surgery. Grim will get a look at flanker and corner back on defensive.

Bill Brown at fullback is unchallenged. Paul Flatley at split end and ex-Ram Marlin McKeever at tight end are set although rookie John Beasley of California has looked good at tight end.

Jerry Shay has moved to offense to fight with Larry Bowie, Milt Sunde and Jim Vellone for the guard jobs. Mick Tingelhoff, all-pro, is the center and Grady Alderman and Doug Davis the offensive tackles.

Grant hopes Page will add a little to the Vikings' weak pass rush. Jim Colvin was picked up from Dallas as a backup tackle after Eller was hurt. Jim Marshall at end and Gary Larsen and Paul Dickson at tackle are the holdover regulars.

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW...

by John Behnke

Do you know why the "bullpen" in a baseball park is called a bullpen? . . . In the old days, the Bull Durham Tobacco Co., put their advertising signs on the fences in many, many ball parks around the country and a lot of their signs were located in the area of the park where relief pitchers warmed up . . . That area began to be called the "bullpen", and it's been that ever since.

Has an umpire ever been chosen to be in baseball's Hall of Fame? . . . There have been two . . . One is Bill Klem who umpired in the National League for many years and the other is Tom Connolly who was an umpire for many years in the American League.

Here's an oddity . . . There is only one player in major league baseball today who has hit over .300 in the big leagues every year since 1960 . . . Can you guess who he is? . . . Answer is Roberto Clemente of the Pirates.

Stargell's second run-scoring hit of the game came off reliever Billy McCool and pinned Cincinnati's loss on Gary Nolan, who had a 3-1 lead and a three-hitter entering the inning.

The first run scored during a rundown and Matty Alou singled in the second.

Bob Veale, 13-5, got the victory for his three-hit work in eight innings.

Bevers' RBI Single in Eighth Trips Neenah '9'

Little Chute Angels Win Tourney Title

LITTLE CHUTE — Steve Bevers' single with one out in the last of the eighth inning propelled the Little Chute Angels to a 3-2 victory over Twin City Savings, Neenah, for the championship of the Boys Baseball Tournament here Monday evening.

Bevers, who had three hits in the championship game, including a homer which tied up the contest in the fourth frame, rapped out his winning hit with the bases loaded. The Angels had filled the sacks on a walk, a single and an error.

Larry Lamers went the distance on the mound for the winners and allowed seven hits while striking out six. He did not issue a walk. Lamers retired the six in order in five of the eight innings.

Mike Gagnon did the pitching for Twin City Savings and gave up six hits and fanned five.

Twin City jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the top of the second when Gagnon slammed a home run with a mate aboard.

The Angels scored a single tally in the bottom of the second when a walk, stolen base and error allowed a run to score. Bevers' homer then tied it in the fourth.

Tom Eccles had a single and double for the losers.

The Angels and other boys baseball teams from Little Chute will be honored at a banquet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the village hall. Tickets will be available from team members and also will be sold at the door. Cal Spice, former Outagamie County sheriff, will be the guest speaker.

$4.5 Million Suit Against Boone in Rick Barry Case

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A $4.5 million suit will be filed today against singer Pat Boone, owner of the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association.

Attorneys said the action is being taken by Franklin Mieuli, president of the San Francisco Warriors, because of Oakland's attempt to "steal" the National Basketball Association's top scoring star, Rick Barry.

An injunction was issued by Superior Court Judge Robert J. Drewes last Tuesday preventing Barry from joining the Oaks. The judge said Barry can't play with anyone but the Warriors during the 1967-68 season.

CHICAGO (AP) — Left-handed pitcher Steve Jones, 26, was bought from Indianapolis and a 2.95 earned run average in 109 innings. He had 101 strikeouts and 31 walks.

To make room for Jones, the Sox released infielder Dick Kenworthy outright to Indianapolis. In 50 games, Kenworthy batted .227 with four home runs and 11 runs batted in.

Speculate on Merger of 2 Soccer Loops

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials of the United Soccer Association and the National Professional Soccer League went into a huddle today that may result in a merger of the rival, fledgling pro leagues.

The expansion committees of the two leagues had day-long, closed door sessions Monday, but officials declined comment on their discussions.

"We feel it would be improper, perhaps harmful, to either or both leagues, to make any comment at this time," a United Association spokesman said, but added:

"It is possible that an important announcement will be made after the Tuesday meeting."

Burlington Wins; Clinton Captures Pair

Burlington defeated Quincy, 7-3, to maintain its second-place standing in the Midwest League, 5½ games behind Appleton.

Last-place Clinton dealt first half champion Wisconsin Rapids a double setback.

The Twins' Jerry Lyscio and the ML's leading ERA pitcher John Lamb hooked in a pitching duel in the first game. Both scattered four hits but clinton scored once in the second and that proved to be enough to win.

In the second game Wisconsin Rapids was again held to four hits by two Clinton hurlers as the Pilots won, 5-0.

Cedar Rapids and Dubuque battled to a scoreless deadlock for nine innings but in the tenth Cedar Rapids pushed across a run to win, 1-0.

Quad Cities tallied eight runs in the final two innings to turn a tight game into a rout as it downed Decatur, 10-1, to take over the No. 3 spot in the league from the Commodores.

Practical Approach in New Delhi

Berry Trees Source of Food, Shade

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Forty years ago the British decided to plant in the new Indian capital trees that would not only offer shade but also would provide nourishment. The idea gave birth to New Delhi's berry-tree shakers.

The trees today line the city's major downtown avenues and residential streets, often forming arches overlapping at the center of the streets. Late each summer their berries ripen and with the monsoon rains they begin falling to the ground.

The sweet berries are considered a delicacy by Indians and if controls were not established, the rush to gather them might turn into chaos.

So the government, which technically owns the trees, "leases" them to berry pickers. A family of peasants will pay several rupees per tree and usually will contract for the right to all the trees along one block of a given street.

When the word spreads that the berries are nearly ripe, the berry pickers and their families move into their block, pitch a lean-to shelter and set up housekeeping where they can keep an eye on their trees. Often they have to chase off children as well as crows, parrots and squirrels

According to government rule, anyone can help himself to berries which fall to the ground. But once the contractor has collected the berries, no one else can touch them. The contractors can shake the trees, but they cannot disfigure them or pull off branches.

4 Injured in 2 Appleton Auto Mishaps

One Person Taken To Hospital With Severe Face Cuts

Four persons were injured, one seriously enough to be hospitalized, in two accidents on Appleton streets Monday afternoon and early today.

Larry Meidam, 19, 1405 W. Brewster St., suffered severe face lacerations when the car he was in rammed the rear of a taxi cab about 1:10 a.m. today in the 900 block of E. Wisconsin Avenue. He was taken by ambulance to Appleton Memorial Hospital.

Police said Meidam was in a car driven by Gary M. Zimmerman, 18, 1725 N. Mason St., which was westbound on Wisconsin when it ran into the rear of a cab driven by Robert C. Bushell, 22,402 S. Memorial Drive. The cab had just pulled onto Wisconsin from Viola Street, police said.

The cab was shoved more than 100 feet, striking a street sign and the Appleton Coated Paper Co. building. Bushell suffered minor injuries.

Mrs. Betty E. Valiga, route 1, Kaukauna, and her son, Michael, suffered minor injuries when the car they were in was struck from behind about 4:35 p.m. Monday on E. Northland Avenue (County Trunk 00) at N. Ballard Road.

Police said the Valiga car was stopped for a stop sign when it was rammed by an auto driven by Diane M. Weyenberg, 19, route 5, Appleton. The rural Appleton girl told police her car had faulty brakes. Both cars were eastbound on Northland.

Another Lawsuit at Kenosha

Planning Money Released Despite Letter From Outagamie's Lawyer

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state Building Commission's decision Monday to release funds for additional planning on two new campuses of the University of Wisconsin flew in the face of a warning not to release the money from the chief legal adviser for the county contesting the building of the UW-Green Bay.

And the commission was told in a secret closed-door session that the state wants to become involved in a lawsuit contesting the development of the UW-Parkside as well.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Charles Bleck, called into the meeting in the executive office in the state capitol, told the state building agency that he has conferred with Kenosha County's corporation counsel and wants the state to become a party to the taxpayers' suit which is attempting to block development of the Parkside school.

Stewart Honeck, special counsel for Outagamie County in its attempt to block development of the Green Bay campus on the Shorewood site, wrote the commission for the county and urged that the $293,000 for the new schools not be released.

Wait for Lawsuit

"We most respectfully suggest and urge that you defer action upon the request for the release of additional funds until the lawsuit has been tried," Honeck wrote.

"We suggest that the best interests of the state of Wisconsin, the university, the people of the affected communities and the several parties to the lawsuit will be best served by abiding by the rule of law," he went on to say.

"We shall do everything practically possible to cooperate in the holding of a public trial, at the end of which you should then be in a position to know with certainty what your proper course of action should be," he added.

Honeck pointed out that in every step of the legal process of bringing the suit to trial, a Dane County Circuit Court judge has sided with the county's arguments in the suit.

The commission called Bleck, attorney for the state in the suit, and recessed into closed session to discuss the letter.

Wants Appeal

Bleck reported that he has urged the attorney general to authorize him to appeal to the state Supreme Court the recent overruling of a demurrer motion to kill the case.

He also reported he has asked Joseph Salituro, Kenosha County corporation counsel, to have the state made a party to a suit brought by six Parkside area residents using the same arguments raised by Outagamie County in its suit contesting alleged secrecy in site-selection meetings.

Kenosha County, the defendant in that suit, has asked that the original suit be killed and a new suit started, making the state — and the forces of the attorney general's office — a part of the legal battle.

The motion is under study and the Kenosha County Circuit Court judge handling the case has asked for briefs on the question, Bleck reported.

State Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, said that he does not believe that the Dane County court decision on the Outagamie County suit dismissal attempt by the state should be appealed to the high court, but that planning and development of the new schools should be rammed through.

Won't Post Bond

Bleck believes that Outagamie County will not attempt to seek a temporary injunction to block construction of the new campuses in the case of a protracted appeal process because they would have to post a bond to cover losses to the state if the county loses its court test.

A $1 million bond would not be unreasonable in such a major building program delayed by an unsuccessful court case, Bleck said, and county taxpayers would be required to pay the damages to the state in that case.

Had Honeck planned to seek a temporary injunction blocking construction in the case of an appeal, he would have done so before Monday's commission meeting, Bleck believes, rather than simply sending the warning letter.

Bleck also warned that if the cases reach court, they will be long and detailed proceedings, because of the many directions in which the plaintiffs can proceed.

Detailed Case

He did not say that those protesting the site selections have a good case, but said that they can present a detailed case leading in many directions and would attempt to extract extensive testimony from witnesses.

Bleck repeated, however, that it will be difficult for any judge to order the change of either site if construction has been started.

Left unsettled by the closed door meeting was the question as to whether Building Commission members, named as defendants in the Outagamie County suit — and who would also be defendants if the state is allowed to join the Kenosha County fight — would have any personal liability for acting in their official roles on the commission if the plaintiffs win their suits.

Man Hospitalized After Apparent Suicide Attempt

An Appleton man, whom police said was about 30 years old, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital after he apparently tried to take his life at his west side home early Monday night.

Police were summoned to the home by the man's estranged wife who said she had tried to reach him by telephone for some time.

Police, who did not have a key to the house, peered into the window and saw the man lying on a living room couch. They rapped on the window and the man, described as being "groggy," came to the door. Police then discovered empty pill bottles and found that unlighted burners on a kitchen range had been turned on.

The house was filled with a natural gas odor, police said. Police, who later learned the man had taken several tranquilizer pills, found a note he had left for his wife.

Woman Dies After Crash at Iola; 4 Injured

Mrs. Peter Hansen, Waupaca, Passenger In Auto Struck in Side

WAUPACA — A Waupaca woman died at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Appleton about 10 p.m. Monday, five hours after she and four other persons were injured in a two-car crash at Waupaca County Trunk E and State 161, five miles east of Iola.

Dead is Mrs. Peter J. Hansen, 68, 1140 Riverside Drive. Her death and the deaths of three boys in separate accidents Monday boosted Wisconsin's 1967 highway death toll to 633, compared with 638 on this date a year ago.

Mrs. Hansen who, with her husband, was a passenger in a car driven by John H. Myers, 73, Alberta, Canada, suffered a fractured jaw and head and internal injuries. A post-mortem examination was scheduled for today.

Also injured in the accident were Myers, with a back injury and face and body lacerations; Hansen, who suffered back injuries and face cuts; Donald L. Shatters, 41, route 1, Amherst Junction, driver of the other car, with multiple head and body lacerations; and his son, 13, who suffered serious head injuries and possible internal injuries.

All of the injured were taken by ambulance to Iola Hospital, but Mrs. Hansen and the Shatters boy later were transferred to the Appleton hospital.

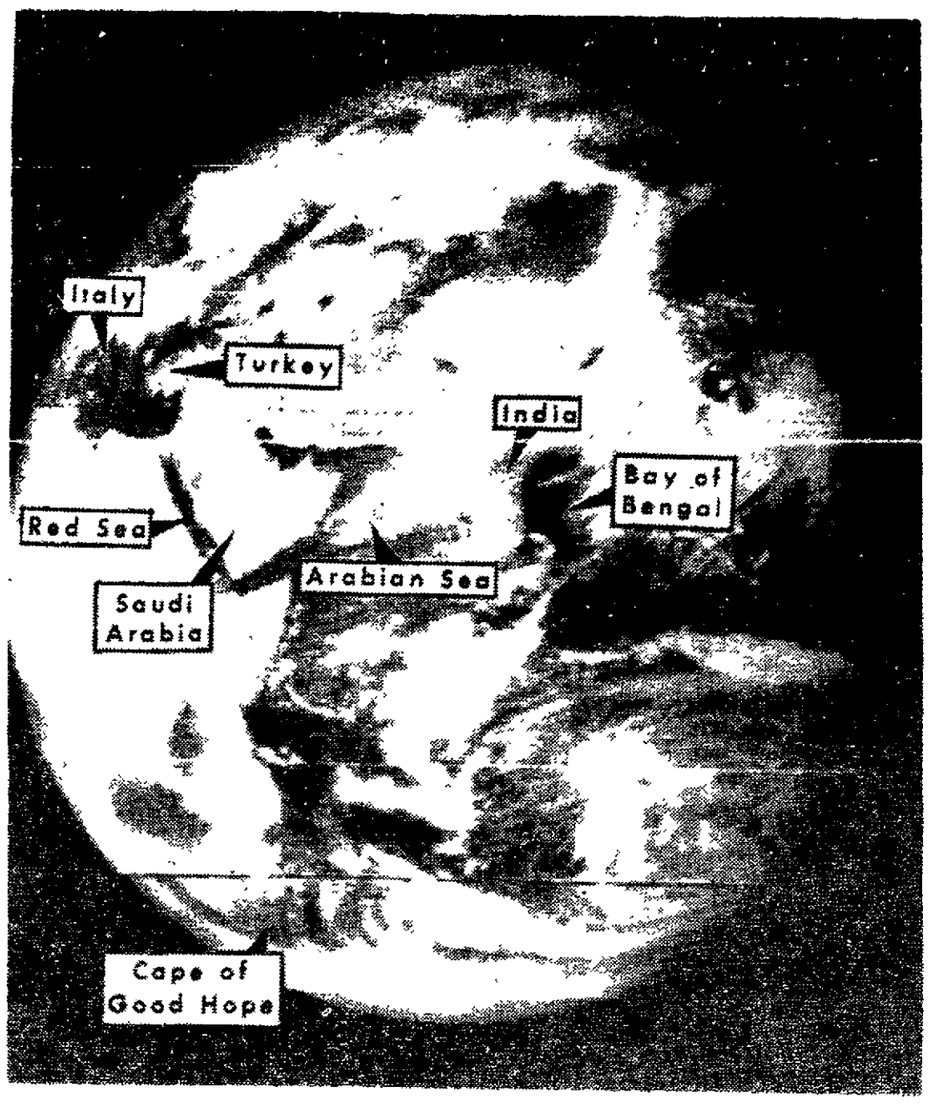

Waupaca County police said Myers was southbound on County Trunk E when his car was struck by the Shatters auto which was westbound on 161.

Myers stated he was not familiar with the road and did not stop at the arterial on E, according to Capt. John F. Penney, of the county police. Shatters and his son were thrown from their car. Both autos were demolished.

Carl Peter Rath, 11, of rural Mukwonago, was killed Monday when his bicycle and a car collided on Highway 24, five miles northeast of East Troy.

Jay Fischer, 5, of Luxemburg in Kewaunee County, was killed Monday when a car struck him sa he crossed Highway 54 m front of his home.

Jeffrey R. Jira, 15, of Burlington, died after a jeep in which he was riding with another 15-year-old, overturned on a road five miles southwest of Burlington and pinned him.

Reds Destroy U.S. Plane Near China

Move Defended By Ike, Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen joins former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in defending President Johnson's decision to bomb North Vietnam targets only 10 miles from Red China.

Eisenhower, commander of allied military forces in Europe in World War II, and Dirksen said separately but in almost identical words that military targets were involved and the air attacks should be continued.

The White House, meanwhile, declined any comment on the latest U.S. air assaults.

Not a Risk

Eisenhower and Dirksen said they do not believe such near-border raids risk bringing Red China into the conflict—a contention made in the Senate Monday by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and echoed by Republican Sens. Charles H. Percy of Illinois and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky. In the face of this split of Republican opinion, Eisenhower told a news conference as he left Walter Reed Army Hospital after a 10-day stay, he hopes the conduct of the war does not become an issue in next year's presidential campaign. He said he doesn't want to be among those who might make it one.

"What do politicans know about conducting a war?" he asked. "We must use force and get done with it."

'Win' War

Eisenhower said he believes the war should be pursued, "with the idea of winning it." He added: "You should get everything you can, and use it as fast as you can, and get it over with as quickly as possible because war is a nasty thing."

Dirksen said in an interview he is satisfied legitimate military targets were hit in the raids to within 10 miles of the Red Chinese border. He said he is certain American fliers have been instructed thoroughly in avoiding Red Chinese air space.

"I think it's necessary and I don't think it's dangerous," he said. "I haven't heard of any protest from China."

Mansfield called the bombing raids "a very dangerous extension of the war." He said they "bring us that much closer to the brink of a possible confrontation with China."

New Efforts

Endorsing this contention, Cooper called for a move toward de-escalation and new efforts to get peace negotiations.

Percy said in a statement that by approving the air attacks, Johnson "not only has escalated the war but he has risked a widening of the war which could result in tens of thousands of additional casualties" by inviting Communist Chinese intervention.

Dirksen backed Eisenhower's contention that the fighting must be pursued vigorously. He opposed a proposal made earlier by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., former GOP national chairman, for a change in the policy of bombing the North. Morton once supported that bombing but said it had failed to bring Hanoi to the peace table.

Reconnaissance Craft on Photo Mission Only 10 Miles From Border; Two Crewmen Missing

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S Command announced today that the North Vietnamese shot down a U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane Sunday, apparently while it was photographing damage from a raid only 10 miles from Red China's border.

The RA5C Vigilante's two-man crew was listed as missing. The plane was the 642nd U.S. warplane announced as lost over the North so far in the war.

Navy planes raided the Lang Son railroad and highway bridge Sunday in what were the closest raids to Red China in the Vietnam war. They followed up with raids on nearby targets Monday.

U.S. B52 bombers raided the southern half of the demilitarized zone today, for the second time in three days and dumped tons of explosives on what the command described as extensive North Vietnamese artillery and antiaircraft positions.

Communist Buildup

The stepped up raids by the eight-engine Stratofortresses, each capable of carrying up to 50,000 pounds of bombs, indicated that the Communists may be building up for another sustained drive on U.S. Marine outposts at Con Thien and Dong Ha just south of the zone.

Both outposts were heavily shelled in June and the first week of July, but shellings have been infrequent since tactical fighter-bombers gave the area a going over.

Ground action in South Vietnam was virtually at a standstill. The U.S. Command said there were no significant contacts reported in 34 allied operations of battalion size or larger.

Operation Portland

These included the newly announced "Operation Portland," a multibattalion search and destroy operation by elements of the U.S. Army's 1st Division about 70 miles north of Saigon. The operation began Saturday, but was not announced until today for security reasons. No contact with the enemy has been reported so far.

The B52 raids in the southern half of the DMZ also were aimed at Communist troop concentrations, bunkers, and assembly areas.

The three raids were in areas 2.4 miles northeast of the Marine outpost at Con Thien. Intelligence reports indicate that there are elements of three North Vietnamese divisions—perhaps 35,000 men or more—operating ir and around the demilitarized zone.

DMZ Targets

The B52s mounted three raids in the zone Sunday—two in the southern half of the six-mile wide buffer zone and the third in the northern section. Targets

$290-Payment Typical

All Taxes Averaged $25 Hike in 1966

CHICAGO (AP) — State and local governments collected an average of $25 more taxes in fiscal 1966 than in the previous year, a study showed today.

The state-local tax take averaged $290 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

The increase followed a trend shown since the Commerce Clearing House began annual reports on combined state and local taxes in 1962.

In five years the per capita state-local tax burden has increased as much as $114 in Hawaii and $101 in New York. The trend was less marked in the south, where increases in five years have been less than $50 in a half dozen states and only $37 in Texas.

Tax Ranges

The range of per capita state-local taxes in 1966 was from South Carolina's $188 to New York's $410, with California, $395, and Hawaii, $365, next at the upper end. Six states—South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee — collected less than $200, and the next two also were southern states—Georgia and North Carolina. The per capita median was $287, an increase of $32 from 1965, the CCH study of census bureau statistics showed.

The Commerce Clearing House is a private reporting agency on tax and business law.

New York was the only state to collect more than $400 per capita state-local taxes in 1966, but 14 other states and the District of Columbia had per capita

Johnson Men to be Badgered

GOP Wants Budget Cut Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans plan to press President Johnson's first-string fiscal team about the extent of administration budget- cutting Congress can expect if it approves his proposed income tax hike.

The senior Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, laid the groundwork Monday for this line of inquiry from the minority members. The panel's hearings continue today.

There was heavy emphasis Monday on economy from the Democratic side, too. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., asked Budget Director Charles L. Schultze: "Is there any real possibility that, if taxes are increased, we can expect the rate of spending not to be increased?"

Schultze replied he couldn't answer for expenditures linked to the Vietnam fighting, but "as far as civilian expenditures are concerned there is a good possibility of getting even below the figures in the January budget—in fact we are aiming at this."

Vietnam Costs

Schultze reminded the congressmen, however, that economy efforts depend in part on their action. He said he understands there is serious discussion in Congress of a government employes' pay raise bill that would cost $1 billion more than the 4.5 per cent increase the President has approved.

$29 Billion Deficit

Schultze, along with Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler and Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was recalled for a second day's appearance before the tax-writing committee.

They opened the administration's case for Johnson's 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes intended, with related tax changes, to raise $7.4 billion against a deficit that otherwise might run to $29 billion.

Byrnes said in an interview he has a number of additional questions to ask, some aimed at administration statements that officials hope to cut, hold down and postpone spending by about as much as the tax increase.

Byrnes said he is not satisfied that defense spending not directly connected with the Vietnam war cannot be reduced.

He complained he has been unable to get a firm figure on the cost of sending 45,000 additional troops to Vietnam. "The President talks about $4 billion, but the Defense Department says it doesn't know," Byrnes said.

Fresh From Riot Bills

Rights Measures Wait House Eying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, fresh from pushing through legislation aimed at preventing riots and punishing some riot leaders, now appears poised to move toward protection of Negroes' civil rights.

A civil rights measure, part of the rights bill which last year passed the House but died in the Senate, comes up in the House today with strong bipartisan support. Sponsors predicted passage by late in the day.

Major controversy may center on a states rights amendment to be offered by Rep. Basil Whitener, D-N.C. It would specify that nothing in the bill would pre-empt state laws, so long as the state laws do not conflict with federal law.

Criminal Penalties

The bill provides federal criminal penalties of up to life imprisonment for persons convicted of interfering with citizens exercising specified actions protected by federal law.

Antiriot legislation, attached last year by the House to this part of the civil rights bill, already has been passed by the House this year. And further antiriot provisions were added last week when the House rewrote President Johnson's anticrime bill.

Members of the House Judiciary Committee said enactment of these measures make unnecessary addition of further antiriot provisions to the new bill, which faces an uncertain future in the Senate if passed by the House.

'We Tried Everything We Knew'

Terrified Companions Watch Marauding Grizzly Drag off Victim

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Four terror-stricken young people who saw one of their friends killed by a grizzly bear in a Glacier National Park say they tried everything they knew to drive away the marauding animal.

They built a bonfire, but it didn't scare the bear.

They lay motionless in their sleeping bags, but the bear attacked anyway.

One youth even punched the bear with his fist, he said, but the grizzly kept coming.

Paul R. Dunn, 16, a high school junior from Edina, Minn., screamed: "He's got her in the sleeping bag and he's dragging her up the hill!"

The students, who had come to the scenic park for a working vacation, told their story Monday after escaping from the maddened bear, which threatened them for hours before finally attacking and killing Michele Koons, 19, of San Diego, Calif., early Sunday.

Twenty miles from the campsite where Michele died, another 19- year-old girl, Julie Helgeson of Albert Lea, Minn., was killed in her sleeping bag by another park bear during the same night. One of her companions, Roy Ducat, 18, of Perrysburg, Ohio, was seriously injured.

A hunt continued today for the killer bears after park rangers shot and killed two grizzlies Monday in the area where Miss Helgeson was slain. Tests were being made on those bears to try to determine whether one was the killer.

With Dunn and Miss Koons were Denise Huckle, 19, of San Manuel, Calif., and a junior at the University of Arizona and Ronald A. Noseck, 21, and his brother, Ray T. 23, both of Oracle, Ariz. The Nosecks are dental students at the University of Louisville.

Saturday they had hiked to Trout Lake in a wild area in the western part of the park for a campout.

Two campers they met on the trail told of being chased up a tree by a grizzly.

They pitched camp and, while cooking hot dogs, the wind blew their campside smoke into the trees and Michele said, "there's a bear."

The bear invaded the camp and the four ran 50 yards down the lakefront. It ate their food and left with Michel's travel bag in its teeth.

"We discussed whether to stay where we were or try to go back," Dunn said. "It was dark and we weren't sure of the trail, so we built a big bonfire."

They saw the bear again standing on a logjam in the lake.

"None of us really slept," Ray Noseck said. "We just kept putting wood on the fire."

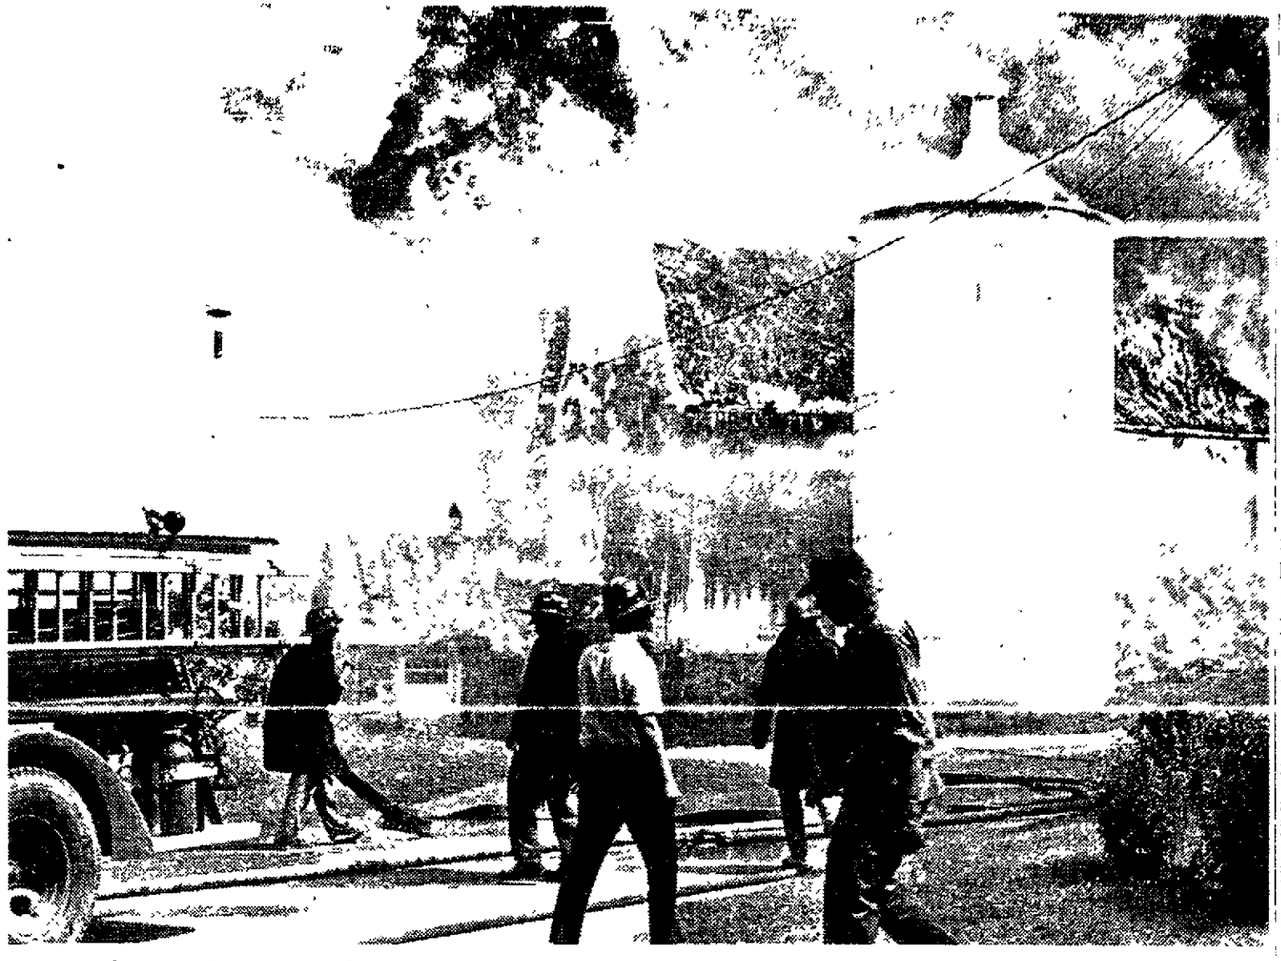

"About two o'clock my little dog, Squirt, started growling and I heard something in the water," Denise Huckle said. "I knew there was a bear near us."

"We stayed real close to the fire," Dunn said. "My feet really got hot."

"A couple of times the bear came very close to the fire," Dunn said. They got in their

New London Sets Deadline For Senior Citizen Housing

Complete Proposals Due Oct. 2

NEW LONDON — Development of a 120-unit low rental housing project for the elderly moved ahead Monday as the New London Housing Authority (NLHA) set 10 a.m. Oct. 2 as the deadline for developers to submit proposals.

Developers will submit working sketches, site proposals, building design, cost estimates and other pertinent information in their brochures, and the brochures will be used by NLHA in determining which developer they will choose for their "turn key" project.

Turn key is a term applied when a developer oversees the entire building operation and stands the expense of the project until the key is ready to be turned in the door, and possession turned over to the local authority

Contact Mayor

Interested builders or developers are to contact Mayor Harry S. Emans for further details on the project.

Basically, the NLHA is considering a 120-unit turn-key development for the elderly on a site acquired by the developer which is acceptable to the local authority.

The project must include:

—120 units for the elderly — 90 units for single occupancy and 30 for double occupancy, all rooms to be designed to meet maximum standards established by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

—One unit, three-bedroom facility, for the custodian.

—Appropriate community recreational area, including institutional-type stove, sink, cupboards, refrigerator and other equipment. Appropriate restroom facilities for men and women.

—Suitable area for management, including an office for conducting business and NLHA meetings.

—Maintenance and laundry

Police Carry 'Canned Meekness'

Poof--You're Nonaggressive

Try taking a poke at an Outagamie County policeman and you're apt to get a face full of "Rebuff."

Sheriff Norbert Marx said today he is equipping each policeman with a small, pressurized can which, at the press of a button, emits a spray that renders an attacker helpless. "Rebuff" is the trade name of the substance which is manufactured in California.

Marx said the decision to equip policemen with the new "weapon" was in light of "quite a few instances lately where officers have run into resistance and they had their uniforms ripped or they or their prisoners were injured."

Whip Out Can

The men will use the devices only when force has become necessary, Marx explained. He said the men will carry the containers as part of their standard equipment.

Should a policeman suddenly find himself in a "combat situation," he could whip out his can of "Rebuff," aim it at his assailant's face, and press the button. If he is on target the spray, according to the supplier of the new weapon, will "destroy the aggressiveness."

Primary ingredient in the spray is oleoresin capsicum, a substance which creates a heat sensation when it hits the skin. It reportedly "works on the nerve endings in the face."

Lasts Several Minutes

The sensation reportedly lasts for several minutes, although the "victim" suffers no permanent damage. Directions on the container state that the substance is irritating to the eyes, nose, and skin.

Loss May Reach $100,000 in Manawa Blaze

Modern Dairy Barn On Sturm Farms Destroyed Monday

MANAWA — Damages were estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000 in a blaze which destroyed a 40 by 80-foot dairy barn and milk house at Sturm Farms, Inc., 1026 S. Bridge St., Monday afternoon. The fire was believed caused by spontaneous combustion in 30,000 bales of hay stored in the barn. No livestock was in the building at the time.

Smoke was discovered by a Sturm employe working in the barn. Both the Manawa and Weyauwega fire departments were called and when they arrived the entire structure was engulfed in flames.

Building Damaged

A grain storage building located near the barn was damaged but the structure was saved. No other buildings were damaged. Intense heat from the fire ignited stacks of baled straw piled in a field near the barn.

According to Clarence Sturm the barn had been completely rebuilt and modernized in the last 6 or 7 years. The structure included pipeline milking, bulk milk cooling and automatic barn cleaning equipment.

Fire was still burning in hay this morning.

Funds Released to Prepare Drawings for UW Campuses

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In a sweeping 7-1 vote, the state Building Commission Monday released $293,870 for the preparation of working drawings for the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and Parkside campuses.

The vote broke a month-long deadlock which has stalled planning on the new schools and cast doubt upon hopes for a planned September, 1969 opening date for the new institutions.

The tally was taken at the conclusion of a 53-minute closed-door session with Charles Bleck, assistant attorney general, after the commission received a warning from Stewart Honeck, special counsel for Outagamie County in a site selection suit against the commission, urging the group not to release the funds.

Honeck said he wrote not as the lawyer from the contesting county, but as a citizen warning of possible financial losses to the state if the county wins its suit, brought because of alleged secrecy and other impropieties in selecting the Shorewood site for the Green Bay campus.

A similar suit against Kenosha County has been started by area residents contesting the selection of the Parkside location for the planned Southeastern Wisconsin branch campus.

To Prepare Drawings

The vote by the commission freed $293,870 for the preparation of working drawings for the new campuses, but the university will have to return to the building agency before it is allowed to release bids and start construction of the new schools.

Normal state building practices would have granted authority for all three steps in the single vote.

Last month, two attempts were made to release the funds and carry the projects through completion of the first phase, totaling $12.8 million for the two campuses.

Commission secretary Gerald Emmer told the commission that he restricted the authority in the request because of a realization of the desire of commission to examine again the proposals, probably after bids have been received.

That procedure had been strongly urged by Assemblyman David Martin, R-Neenah, who also won points in granting permission for the state Bureau of Engineering to examine critically the building budgets of the new schools and to report back to the commission.

High Costs

Martin has been disturbed because of higher building costs in the UW system being applied to the new branch campuses, rather than using cost experiences from the state university system, which traditionally has been able to construct less expensive buildings.

The Neenah lawmaker has in its past been the leader of the commission forces contesting development plans for the schools.

In the past he has successfully blocked the release of funds and the advance of planning on 4-4 tie votes, but Monday he led most of his contingent into the camp backing the campuses.

"I don't think there has been any secret about how I have felt relative to the selection of the site for the Green Bay campus," said Martin in explaining his vote.

"But I've always felt that the Building Commission was not the place to delay the funds for these campuses ... especially

Banker Joins McKee Firm

Joseph F. Ryan Resigns as Officer of Manufacturers Bank

Joseph F. Ryan, Neenah, Monday announced his resignation as senior vice president and trust officer of the National Manufacturers Bank, Neenah, to join McKee and Jaeckels, Inc., Appleton investment securities firm, as a principal.

The firm was founded by Carl S. McKee in 1933. John N. Jaeckels became a principal in 1940. The company now will be known as McKee, Jaeckels and Ryan, Inc.

After graduation from De Paul University Law School, Ryan was an assistant bank and trust examiner with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. During World War II, he served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy Supply Corps attached to Headquarter Battalion, Sea Bees in the Pacific.

In 1946 Ryan was employed by the National Manufacturers Bank as a trust officer with the assignment to start a trust department. He was elected vice president and trust officer in 1950 and to the board of directors in 1956. Under his management, the bank's trust department became the largest in the Fox River Valley and has established more pension and profit sharing trusts than any bank in the state outside of Milwaukee.

Wittenberg Needs More Classrooms

School Board Studies Merger Possibilities With Area Districts

WITTENBERG — The school district faces acute classroom space problems in 1967-68, officials have indicated.

Needed are three elementary classrooms, a special help room, kindergarten rooms and a music-art area.

Three new high school rooms, replacement of the 1897 building and adequate physical education facilities also are needed.

The school board is studying three possible solutions. They are:

—Census figures indicate a slight decrease in school population since 1965 and the system could possibly get by in the present situation for a short time.

Building Program

—The board could begin a building program using all or part of the district's present $1,097,380 borrowing power.

—A merger with other three area districts with schools under 200 pupils in size could be effected.

Considerations being made by the school board are a two-way plan between Birnamwood and Wittenberg or a four-way merger with Birnamwood, Tigerton, Bowler and Wittenberg.

Only the proposals which would develop high schools of 500 or more enrollment would be acceptable to the School Committee, Agency 7 and the State Department of Public Instruction.

Although Wittenberg is not in danger of state aid pressure because of size, it cannot offer a good comprehensive high school program to compare with one which would be possible with an enrollment of 500 to 800, according to Carl Larsen, superintendent.

Fix Location

A two-way merger with Birnamwood would tend to fix the location of a senior high school or delay its completion if a four-way plan is considered. In a four-way merger, the high school building is apt to be some distance from Wittenberg.

Bowler apparently continues to have an acceptable integrated program. Possibilities for reorganization would be a two-way plan with either Tigerton or Shawano; a three-way program with Birnamwood and Tigerton or Birnamwood and Wittenberg, or a four-way plan with Birnamwood, Tigerton and Wittenberg.

Tigerton also has an educational program which merits the highest level of state aid. Its possibilities for merger would be a two-way plan with Bowler or Marion; the three-way reorganization with Birnamwood and Bowler or Bowler and Wittenberg, of the four-way plan with Birnamwood, Bowler and Wittenberg.

Suspect Admits Chilton Arson; 2 Deny Charges

Edward Propson, 22, Hilbert, to be Sentenced Aug. 28

CHILTON — Three men, each charged with two counts of arson, appeared before Calumet County Judge D. H. Sebora at 1:30 p.m. Monday with two pleading innocent and the third admitting one count.

The charges stemmed from the burning of a home and contents in Chilton Aug. 9. The home at 122 E. Grand St., was owned by Cyril Winkel. It was unoccupied at the time of the fire.

Lawrence Bangart, 19, and Jerome Propson, 18, both route 1, Chilton, pleaded innocent and their preliminary hearing was set for 1:30 p.m., Aug. 23. Bail of $500 each was continued.

Pleads Guilty

Edward Propson, 22, route 1, Hilbert, pleaded guilty to a charge of burning the home. The second charge, burning the home's contents, was dismissed. Propson was released on a $500 recognizance bond. He had waived a preliminary hearing and the reading of information before entering a plea.

Judge Sebora ordered a presentence investigation and set sentencing for 1:30 p.m. Aug. 28.

The Winkel home had been abandoned for several months. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Chilton Firm Starts Plant Expansion

Metal Products Company to Use Addition as Warehouse

CHILTON — Construction was scheduled to start this morning on an addition to Chilton Metal Products Inc., estimated to cost about $225,000.

The 37,000-square foot structure will enlarge the present plant of 107,000 square feet by about one-third, according to John Weiland, vice president and general manager of the firm.

At the outset, the facility will be used as a warehouse, although officials indicated it might be converted to production in future years.

Completed This Year

Weiland said construction is scheduled to be completed by the end of the year. The addition will be built on the east side of the present plant at 300 Reed Street on the north side of the city.

Hedrich Construction Co. Inc., Chilton, will do grading and construction work on the brick-and-steel unit.

Contracts for electrical, plumbing and heating work still are under discussion, officials said.

No Employment Hike

Expanding volume necessitated the expansion, Weiland said. The firm, which began in 1958 with about 180 employes, now employs 275 persons. The expansion will not result in an immediate increase in the work force.

Chilton Metal Products manufactures gasoline tanks for the small engine industry, propane torches and injection molded products.

It is a wholly - owned subsidiary of Western Industries Inc., Milwaukee.

Valuation Up $4.2 Million In Neenah

NEENAH — The tax rolls to cover the 1968 school and city expenditures have been bolstered by an additional $4.5 million, bringing the city's assessed valuation to $141,765,410, according to Assessor Earl Page.

The total increase in real estate and personal property value was slightly below the increases for the past three years.

Last year's $5,164,870 boost also was down slightly from the 1965 assessment roll increase of $5,708,660. In 1964, the assessed valuation was upped by $4,625,640.

In the past four years, the assessed value for Neenah has grown by $19.9 million, or a jump of more than 15 per cent.

This year's increase in valuation means the city could spend an additional $117,462 next year without raising the present tax levy, Clerk-Comptroller R. V. Hauser said today.

The city's assessment rolls are listed at about 85 per cent of true (or equalized) value set by the state, meaning Neenah now has an equalized value of about $162 million.

The $4,556,340 boost registered this year includes $3,720,960 from real estate and improvements and $835,380 from personal property.

Real estate value now stands at $124,915,710. Personal property is listed at $13,128,740.

Cache Hidden in Organ Was WWII Nazi Counterfeit

MERANO, Italy (AP) — Some organ experts were checking inside the organ at the church of San Valentino to locate its construction date when they uncovered a neat bundle of five million British pounds. The money was fake.

The money found Saturday night was identified by bankers as part of millions of counterfeit British pounds printed by the Nazis in World War II in a plan to undermine Britain's financial stability by flooding the world money market with pounds.

The German army apparently stashed the money in the organ when it retreated from northern Italy in 1945.

No Chance for Project This Year

PSC Delays Waupaca Well

WAUPACA — Development of a fourth municipal well, a project already embroiled in controversy, faces more delays as the result of a Public Service Commission (PSC) hearing conducted here Monday.

At the conclusion of more than four hours of testimony, PSC examiner Richard Alexander said it would be 30 to 60 days before a decision would be reached by the commission on whether or not Waupaca should be allowed to proceed with the present specifications for the well.

The commission had announced July 5 it would act on an application by the city to construct another well without a public hearing. However, the hearing was scheduled after Ald. Edsel Huntoon (1st) complained that the specifications were prepared in a manner which discouraged well drillers from submitting bids.

Huntoon requested the hearing July 18, after only one bid was received for drilling the well. The submitted bid was from the Layne Northwest Well Drilling Co., Milwaukee.

It it takes the PSC 30 to 60 days to make a ruling, and a contract cannot be awarded until after the ruling has been made, the city will not have a fourth well in 1967 and probably not until late 1968, Iver Oerter, city engineer, said after the hearing.

Well Needed

At the start of the hearing, Alexander said it was unusual for a hearing to be scheduled on such grounds as questioning of the well specifications. After referring to the state statutes to determine a basis for calling a public hearing he ruled it could be set because of a possible difference in price between the proposed caisson-type well and a reverse hydraulic type well which has been favored by Huntoon.

Of the more than 50 people that crowded into the city council chambers for the hearing, no one denied the city's need for a fourth well. Huntoon also agreed that the well is needed to improve the quality of water.

Huntoon charged the caisson-type well is obsolete and too costly to develop, and although the specifications contained an alternate for a reverse hydraulic type well, they were too restrictive and discouraged other firms from bidding. He attempted to enter seven letters from well drillers into the record, but they were denied because only one of the firms was represented at the hearing.

The reverse hydraulic specifications included a clause that the well would have to be tested for quality at various levels during the drilling. This type of testing is not practical during drilling of a reverse hydraulic well, Huntoon claimed.

Frank J. Haupt, Auburndale, owner of the Haupt Well and Pump Co. testified he did not bid on the well because specifications were too complicated. He said if he were allowed to drill the way he wanted to, it would cost about $14,000 compared with the $24,480 price submitted by Layne Northwest. Layne Northwest bid on a caisson-type well and Haupt was referring to a reverse hydraulic type well.

During questioning by Laurie Anderson, city attorney, Haupt said his main business is the drilling of irrigation wells.

Carl H. Lindeman, representing Layne Northwest, testified his firm had bid on the caisson-type well because it was the best suited for Waupaca, where there is a limited water-bearing formation. With a reverse hydraulic-type well it is possible to lose some of the formation by sealing it off with mud, Linden-

School Boards, CESA to Study Reorganization

Fate of Bear Creek District to be Discussed Thursday

BEAR CREEK — An attempt to work out a reorganization of the school district here is expected to be made Thursday evening when the Bear Creek, Clintonville and New London boards of education meet with the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) Area 8 board at the courthouse in Appleton.

CESA officials for some time have been attempting to work out a consolidation of the Bear Creek district with either Clintonville or New London or a combination of both because they feel it is too small to support a comprehensive high school program.

Many citizens of the district disagree, and have supported efforts to keep their own high school. The state, however, has threatened withdrawal of state aids at an integrated level.

District reorganization is expected to be the major topic on the agenda at the Bear Creek board's regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

A hearing on the detachment of the Mr. and Mrs. Roger Paul property from the Bear Creek district is scheduled to reconvene Aug. 24 at the courthouse. The first session adjourned Aug. 10.

McCoy was riding in a boat being towed by a car driven by Waldeman P. Kaminski, 28, route 2 Weyauwega. County Police said Kaminski was travelling east and rounding a curve when the boat overturned.

Kaminski was cited for permitting a person to ride in the boat while it was being towed. Mc Coy was cited for illegal riding.

Chilton Board Approves Bus Transportation to 2 Schools

Group Acts on Requests From Parochial Units Outside District

CHILTON — Transportation will be provided to two parochial elementary schools outside the district — Trinity Lutheran, Rantoul, and St. Charles, Charlesburg, the board of education voted Monday night, acting on requests from both schools.

No action was taken on a similar request to provide transportation for six students attending St. Gregory High School, St. Nazianz, since the school is more than 5 miles outside the Chilton district. According to the statutes, it was learned school boards must be authorized at the annual meeting, or at a special meeting to provide the service.

No authorization was given by electors at the annual meeting and the board had voted at its last regular meeting not to transport pupils to schools outside the district "unless specific requests are made." Both elementary schools are within five miles of the Chilton district.

Eleven persons from the Charlesburg parish were present to support the request made by school officials.

Timing Only Problem

L. P. Daun, who is contracted by the district to provide transportation, stated there were 31 students involved from Trinity Lutheran, which is "about 600 feet outside the district" requiring 15 stops and 32 students at St. Charles requiring 12 stops. Buses run in both areas now and only timing would have to be worked out.

Several members of the Charlesburg delegation said that there was a possibility that the parochial school could change its timetable to make it more convenient for transporting students. Rescheduling at Trinity Lutheran, also had been pointed out to Principal Delbert Mueller when he made the request for transportation for the congregation. Pupils attend the school from Hilbert and Brillion districts as well as Chilton.

State transportation aid amounts to $24 per pupil within 5 miles: $36 for more than 5 miles and $48 per pupil more than 8 miles.

Daun pointed out that the only problem he could foresee in transporting the additional pupils was that in some cases buses would have to discharge pupils first, even though they were picked up last, as buses would not be able to alternate. Some children would necessarily have to get on the bus earlier than they had previously left for school.

Resignation Accepted

In other board action, the resignation of Theodore Teschke, high school industrial arts teacher and guidance counselor, was accepted. Teschke has accepted a position with the Wausau Vocational School. He is the fourth teacher to leave the district for the Wausau area. No replacement for him has been found.

Superintendent A. W. Gordon reported that two elementary mathematics teachers had been hired. William Kuznacic, Manitowoc, will teach seventh grade mathematics and David Richards, Bellville, who previously taught at Mazomanie, will be in charge of eighth grade mathematics.

Still needed in the high school department are two English teachers, one mathematics and one mathematics-physics; part-time home economics and industrial arts teachers and elementary girls physical education and vocal music teachers.

Board chairman Arthur Horst stated that he was convinced salary was not the reason the school was having difficulty hiring teachers. He said he had compared the Chilton schedule with that of other schools through information supplied by the Wisconsin Association of School Boards clerk at Winneconne. He recommended that Gordon write to the clerk and get copies of the information for all board members.

Advisory Committee

In other action Horst was authorized to appoint the same 11-member citizen's advisory committee and to appoint new members in case of resignations. Horst commended the committee for the liaison work it had done with the Stockbridge citizen committee and in other capacities saying "they have been quite instrumental in resolving many problems".

Application for funds under the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) for biology and English equipment was authorized. Gordon reported the school would receive a maximum of $3,000 at $1.35 to $2.35 per student.

Delivery of a new scoreboard for Morrissey Field has been made at a cost of $1,600. It will be installed at the west end of the field.

Installation of new windows is in progress with second story installations completed.

A report from the Department of Public Instruction informed the school that the district had again qualified as integrated.

Horst was named to receive and dispatch all correspondence pertaining to the Wisconsin Association of School Boards.

Expect Contract To Remodel Fire Station

New London Needs Bigger Door for Aerial Ladder Truck

NEW LONDON — A contract to remodel the fire station entrance is expected to be awarded to Genske Construction Co. at tonight's city council meeting.

No formal bids were received on the project at the last council meeting. R. Smith Construction Co., Appleton, informed the council that because of the nature of the work it would be impossible to submit a bid without it being very high to meet any unexpected developments.

Ray Pelishek, public works director, said Genske was the only local contractor contacted who was able to do the work at this time.

Genske's price quotation was $2 per hour less than the offer submitted by Smith, Pelishek said. Genske quoted a cost of $4.50 an hour, plus the cost of material plus 10 per cent. Smith quoted $6.50 an hour, plus rental of tools and equipment, plus material cost and 10 per cent.

Work will be supervised by Orbison and Orbison engineering firm.

The single overhead entry will be removed and two overhead doors will be installed in the station. The remodeling is necessitated by the purchase of a 75-foot aerial-pumper combination fire truck.

Council members were told by Ald. Jerome Zaug (1st), finance chairman, to begin work on the 1968 budget.

Labor Strikes Being Accepted as Normal In Red Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Labor strikes surprised this Communist country at first, but now they have become accepted as a normal means for workers to try to improve their conditions, the Belgrade newspaper Borba said Sunday.

It urged trade unions and Communists to improve wages, social status and working conditions so "the very notion of the strike would be alien to workers."

Some 250 workers stayed out for two days at an electrical equipment plant in Zagreb this month to protest the suspension of the plant manager on charges of incompetence. The strikers won a promise that the suspension would be reviewed.

Mr. Lehrman reported that it was the opinion of the State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education that Area District No. 12 had been legally created effective July 1, 1967, that the District No. 12 Board members identified above had been duly appointed as required by law, and that appropriate evidence of the foregoing would be forwarded to the District No. 12 Board by the State Board in the near future.

The temporary Chairman noted that it would be in order for the Board members to select, as required by law, a school district administrator from within District No. 12 to serve as an ex-officio member of the Board. Upon the motion of Mr. Kirchner, seconded by Mr. Johnson, Mr. H. J. Ramsdell, Superintendent of the New London Unified School District, was unanimously selected as the ex-officio member of the Board of District No. 12 for a term of one year commencing July 1, 1967.

The temporary Chairman then suggested that it would be appropriate to select, as required by law, the officers of the Board—namely, a Chairman, a Vice Chairman, a Treasurer, and a Secretary.

Upon the motion of Mr. Letter, seconded by Mr. Smith, Mr. Johnson was nominated for the office of Chairman. Upon motions duly made and seconded, the nominations for the position of Chairman were declared closed and a unanimous ballot was cast for Mr. Johnson as Chairman.

Upon the motion of Mr. Steinfort, seconded by Mr. Sprister, Mr. Kirchner was nominated for the office of Vice Chairman. Upon motions duly made and seconded, the nomination for the position of Vice Chairman were declared closed and a unanimous ballot was cast for Mr. Kirchner as Vice Chairman.

Upon the motion of Mr. Steinfort, seconded by Mr. Kirchner, Mr. Smith was nominated for the office of Secretary. Upon motions duly made and seconded, the nominations for the position of Secretary were declared closed and a unanimous ballot was cast for Mr. Smith as Secretary.

On behalf of the State Board, Mr. Lehrman then suggested that it would be appropriate to consider and take action with respect to various subjects, such as the policy making functions of the Board of District No. 12, the receipt of properties of those schools within the District which cease to exist after July 1, 1967, the adoption of an official name for District No. 12, assumption of responsibility for non-resident tuition payments, participation in the Wisconsin Retirement Fund, and a designation of an official meeting place for the Board. After an extended discussion and upon motions duly made and seconded, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, Chapter 292, Laws of 1965, provides for the organization of the State of Wisconsin into Area Vocational, Technical and Adult Education Districts by July 1, 1970; and

WHEREAS, such organization would enable the expansion and improvement of vocational and technical opportunities to all of the people of Wisconsin; and

WHEREAS, Chapter 292, Laws of 1965, provides that the governing body of any school district operating a high school may elect singly or in contiguous combination to be constituted such a school district; and

Thereupon, the Board unanimously convened an executive session. In the executive session the various candidates, as submitted by the State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education, were interviewed in detail. At the conclusion of the executive session, upon the motion of Mr. Steinfort, seconded by Mr. Letter, it was unanimously

The Secretary reported that the costs of publishing the proceedings of the Board in the major daily newspapers within the District had been investigated and that such costs were subject to a maximum which is imposed by state law. After discussion of the desirability of adequate coverage of the proceedings of the Board, it was unanimously decided, until further notice, that all such proceedings would be published in the Appleton Post-Crescent and the Oshkosh Daily Northwestern.

The need for an appropriate evaluation of the entire insurance program for the District was then discussed in detail and it was unanimously decided that the Treasurer be authorized to consult with Mr. William Garvey of McClone Agency, Inc. to obtain an evaluation and to prepare recommendations concerning the District's insurance program.

AREA VOCATIONAL, TECHNICAL AND ADULT EDUCATION
DISTRICT NO. 12
MINUTES OF BOARD MEETING
JULY 14, 1967

A meeting of the Board of Area Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District No. 12 was held Friday, July 14, 1967 at 8:00 p.m. at the offices of the Appleton Vocational facilities in Appleton, Wisconsin. Present were Messrs. Johnson, Steinfort, Sprister, Ramsdell, Letter and Kirchner, Board members. Board member Smith arrived at 9:00 p.m. Also present were Director Sirek and acting Deputy Treasurer Kautz.

Upon motion by Mr. Kirchner, seconded by Mr. Steinfort, the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting of the Board was deferred until the next meeting of the Board.

Mr. Sprister reported that the insurance program for the District was being evaluated in accordance with the previous decision of the Board and that a temporary binder will be written to cover liability of the District for new personnel.

Upon motion by Mr. Kirchner, seconded by Mr. Steinfort, the Treasurer was unanimously authorized to obtain and present an insurance proposal to the Board at the next meeting.

Mr. Kautz indicated that funds in the amount of $131,398.51, from Neenah, Menasha and Appleton, had been transferred to the Board. Oshkosh will submit the trial balance amount of $107,000 after the city auditor reviews financial records on Monday or Tuesday of next week. Kaukauna will transfer all funds July 18, 1967, and Kimberly, subject to a community audit, will submit the funds as soon as possible. An audit of all schools is expected to be completed by August 1, 1967.

Mr. Sirek indicated that the official meeting place and time must be publicized and after polling members, on motion by Mr. Steinfort, seconded by Mr. Kirchner and carried, the third Monday of each month will be the official meeting date, 8:00 p.m. the official time. There will be no meeting on July 17 and due to the many decisions facing the Board at this time, the Board will meet on the first and third Monday in August. A suggestion to establish an adjournment time of 10:30 p.m. was made but members felt it would be too difficult to conduct a meeting in this fashion However, members were asked to bear this time in mind while attending sessions. Also, when necessary, special meetings will be conducted.

Upon motion by Mr. Steinfort, seconded by Mr. Sprister and carried, Mr. Sirek was authorized to employ the following teachers for the ensuing school year.

Conservation—Oshkosh - Addition.
Data Processing—Appleton - Replacement.
Accounting—Appleton - Replacement.
Practical Nursing—Neenah - Replacement.

Mr. Sirek explained that authority is given to the Chief Administrator (Area Director) to hire teachers, submit credentials to the State Board for their examination and place the teacher in the appropriate place in the salary schedule. He informed the Board that instructors are placed in the exact category in the salary schedule as his experience and qualifications call for and no exceptions are made or extended to anyone.

Mr. Sprister explained the advisory committee personnel arrangement that the Appleton Vocational Board had established. Board members indicated that this was an excellent suggestion for District No. 12 and would keep this in mind.

Mr. Sirek indicated painting would be necessary at the Appleton facility but was informed by Mr. Kautz that it was in process at this time. The Board will be responsible for payment of the bill, has assumed this obligation, and will approve bill for payment when submitted.

Upon motion by Mr. Kirchner, seconded by Mr. Letter, Mr. Sirek was unanimously authorized to advertise for fuel oil bids for the Appleton School for the 1967-68 school year.

Mr. Sirek indicated that the first Monday in August Mr. Lehrman will be coming to meet with him in regard to the leasing of present facilities.

Upon motion by Mr. Letter, seconded by Mr. Steinfort, it was unanimously decided that Mr. Smith will be contacted prior to consulting an attorney in regard to the leasing contracts, should legal counsel be required.

Mr. Sirek presented two proposals for painting four rooms and a hall at the Oshkosh School. An amount of $1,500.00 is in the budget and proposals were as follows:

Ed Marx	$1,160.00
Ed Rehbein	$1,387.00

Upon motion by Mr. Kirchner, seconded by Mr. Steinfort, the low bid of Ed Marx in the amount of $1,160.00 for painting four rooms and hall at the Oshkosh School was unanimously approved.

Mr. Sirek was informed that his contract is effective July 10, 1967 to June 30, 1968. Some questions had arisen in the Oshkosh Office and this information was presented for clarification purposes.

Mr. Sirek will need office space and clerical help and has discussed this matter with the State Board. He was instructed to sever relations with the Oshkosh facility and act as Area Director. He indicated that there is no uniformity among the six schools with respect to various matters and that much is needed to be done to bring the facilities within a standardized system. He recommended that office space be leased and a secretary employed to enable him to carry out the duties as Area Director. He asked if he should start looking for space to lease and report back to the Board. Upon motion by Mr. Sprister, seconded by Mr. Steinfort, the Area Director was unanimously authorized to investigate leasing of office space and report back to the Board. All agreed it should be centrally located. Mr. Sirek indicated it should be large enough for at least one or two secretaries and three or four administrative assistants. By the next meeting, Mr. Sirek will have drawn up an immediate staff and be prepared to make recommendations to the Board.

The State Board has advised that an Acting Director should be appointed for the Oshkosh School. Mr. Sirek indicated Stan Spanbauer would be interested in an Acting Director position but not as Director. Upon motion by Mr. Steinfort, seconded by Mr. Kirchner, Mr. Sirek was unanimously authorized to appoint an Acting Director at Oshkosh and ask for his credentials.

A communication from Don Myers of the Central Valley Plumbing and Heating Contractors Association was read in which he indicated that the Local had leased an educational building in an effort to give better training facilities for apprentices and journeymen. They have requested that the Board provide a circuit instructor for this program, with the Appleton School in charge of the records and registration. Mr. Smith joined the meeting at this time. After a lengthy discussion which included the legal aspects of the proposition, Mr. Sirek stated there was no legal problem in conducting classes at the facility leased by the Local. Some members stated that the Board should be completely certain as to the legal aspects prior to granting the request. Upon motion by Mr. Steinfort, seconded by Mr. Sprister, it was proposed that the Area Director be authorized to negotiate with the Local on the same basis as the Oshkosh Plumbers and Pipefitters now have with the Oshkosh School. Mr. Kirchner moved, seconded by Mr. Letter, that the previous motion be amended to delete the reference to Oshkosh and to add that legal counsel to the Board approve the contract. After discussion, the amendment and the motion were duly withdrawn.

After further discussion, Mr Steinfort moved, seconded by Mr. Sprister, that a circuit instructor would be provided under the supervision of District No 12 for Central Valley Plumbers and Fitters for the 1967-68 school year. The motion was not carried After further discussion, upon motion by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Kirchner, the Area Director was authorized to review the request of the Central Valley Plumbing and Heating Contractors Association with counsel to the Board and subject to the receipt of favorable opinion to work out an agreement to present at the next Board meeting. The motion was carried over the nay vote of Mr. Steinfort.

Mr Sprister and Mr. Ramsdell asked to be excused early and left the meeting.

Mr Sirek gave a presentation which included a review of the existing programs, demands for new programs, planning for future programs, and a tentative administrative staff.

Mr. Smith suggested that a public relations program should be initiated since many people seemed uninformed concerning District No. 12. Mr. Sirek indicated that articles for newspapers in various localities would be prepared for these purposes.

Upon motion duly made and seconded, the meeting was adjourned at 11:15 p.m.

Civilian Candidate Warns of Foul Vietnam Election Tactics

Tran Implies Military Will be Able to Vote Twice for Military

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — Tran Van Huong, considered the leading civilian candidate for president of South Vietnam, implied today that soldiers would be able to vote twice for his military opponents—once at their bases and once at home

At a news conference, the former premier charged that soldiers had been issued voting cards from both their home district and their base district

He also charged the current military regime with intimidating his representatives in the provinces and said unless his warning led to reform, "we shall be compelled to reconsider our participation in the election"

But he said he would be with the other nine civilian candidates when they go to nearby Bien Hoa to start a campaign tour for the Sept 3 election in which the military ticket—Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu for president and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky for vice president—is expected to win

'Contract for Democracy'

"We view this election as a contract between ourselves and the nation to see if democracy will be established," Huong said "For that reason we will make every effort to continue to campaign and we shall only adopt a different attitude when we are completely convinced there is no other way out"

Huong's news conference included statements from persons he said were his representatives in the provinces Some told of "friends of friends" who supported Huong but allegedly had been warned to support Thieu and Ky instead

One said he had been asked to report to the deputy chief of police in his area but declined to go, apparently afraid he was going to be intimidated

Neither Thieu nor Ky was immediately available for comment on the charges, but a spokesman for them said, "I am sure the government will answer the charges."

The representatives at Huong's news conference refused to give their names because, they said, their lives would be in danger

"Since they are making the charges, do you really think there is any threat to them?" the government spokesman asked

Although he said the government would answer the charges later, the spokesman added: "If we put on a show every day of slugging it out with the other candidates for the American public opinion to watch, it would serve no purpose" Huong's charges also included allegations that representatives of Thieu and Ky were using government transportation and communications facilities for the campaign He said even American helicopters were being enlisted.

The U.S. Embassy has issued strict orders that no Americans or American equipment will be in any way associated with political events.

Huong named places and a few dates of what he called incidents of harassment, intimidation and other unfair campaign practices, but no names were reported and there was no immediate way to confirm the charges.

In Monday's strikes by tactical fighter-bombers, Navy A6 Intruders blasted for the second day in a row the Na Phuc railroad yard 16 miles south of Communist China's border. Pilots reported ripping up tracks in three different places.

In still two other raids Monday, A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Constellation returned to Lang Son to blast two bypass bridges over the Ky Cung River. Pilots reported dropping the southern span of one of the bridges, a 360-foot, four-span structure. Smoke and dust prevented a bomb damage assessment for the second bypass bridge

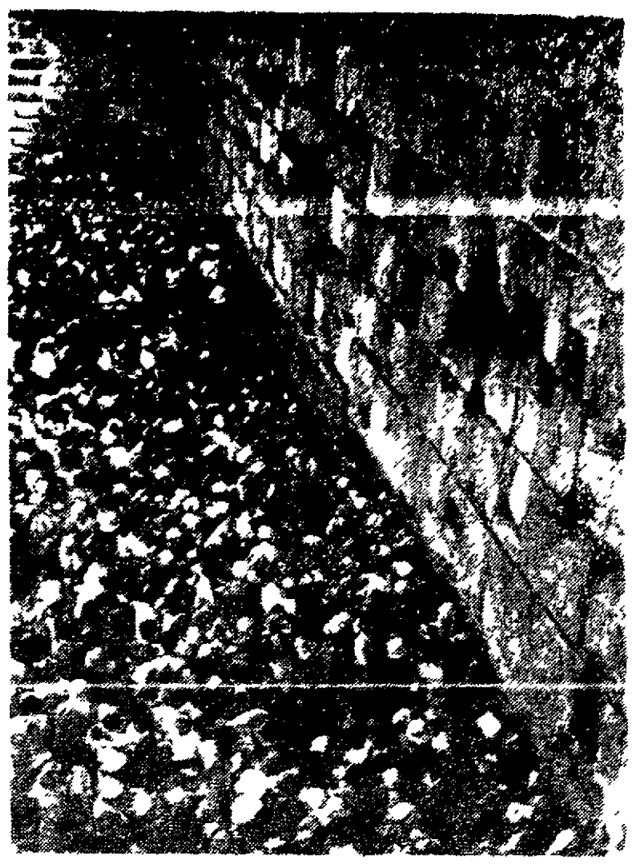

Haiphong Bridge

Other Navy pilots hit near Haiphong. Intruders and Skyhawks from the Constellation dropped 500, 1,000-and 2,000-pound bombs on a 1,150-foot highway bridge across the Red River seven miles north of the center of the port city Pilots reported knocking two spans of the bridge into the river.

Navy pilots said they heavily damaged a surface-to-air missile site which reportedly contained three launchers seven miles west of Haiphong

In the ground war, Vietnamese army spokesmen said late reports from the area where South Vietnamese rangers battled Communist forces for two days showed 203 enemy soldiers killed. The rangers reported they suffered light casualties.

Initial reports had listed 156 enemy dead from the fighting Saturday and Sunday in rolling hills 30 miles south of Da Nang The additional enemy losses were announced after a further sweep of the battlefield.

Between 2 a m. and 4:30 a m., the bear stayed at the edge of the area lit by the campfire, moving about in the brush.

"When the attack started, I was the first to see the bear," Miss Huckle said. "Squirt started to squeal. I looked over a log and the bear was loping straight toward the camp. The fire was big and I could see his face and the upper half of his body Then about four or five feet from me, he stopped

"By that time I was back under the covers," she said. "All of a sudden he grabbed one of the packs and we could hear him ripping the pack Then he stopped and I could hear him breathing I kept Squirt very quiet"

"Then he came toward me," Dunn said "I could hear him come I remained perfectly still and he just sniffed It was kind of hard because I could hear him right above me, breathing. Then I heard a crunch into my sleeping bag He bit half my shirt right off I lifted up the covers and hit him. He reared back on his hind legs I climbed a tree 30 feet high in 10 seconds I saw the bear turn toward Ron"

"I yelled to Denise that we had to get out of there," Ron said

"No, I can't," she replied "I've got to undo the collar around Squirt's neck" The dog was tied in the sleeping bag with her.

"I kept watching," Ron said, "and the bear took several steps back and started for Michele. Denise and I jumped out of our bags and ran 50 yards down the beach"

"Ron shoved me up a tree," Denise said, "and tried to throw the dog up. I finally caught him"

Paul Dunn, who was in the tree, said· "All of a sudden Michele yelled, 'He's ripping my arm' By that time, Ray had run down the beach but Michele couldn't get out of her bag. I heard something being dragged down the beach and I realized the bear had the sleeping bag

"I said 'Michele, get out of your bag, run, climb a tree,' and she said, 'I can't, he's got the zipper'

"Then she screamed, 'Oh my God, I'm dead!'"

Hearing Set on Nuclear Plant Request by Utility

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Electric Power Co of Milwaukee has asked the Public Service Commission to authorize construction of a $61 9 million nuclear power complex at Two Creeks in Manitowoc County

The commission said Monday the application for the project would be reviewed at a public hearing in Madison Sept 13

The firm said the 454,600 kilowatt nuclear power unit was needed because of increased demand for electricity and due to the retirement of a Milwaukee power plant and the revitalization of six units of the Oak Creek plant

The commission said it may investigate "the books, accounts, practices and activities" of the electric utility in voting on the proposed expansion.

The request is for the second unit of the complex Construction already is underway for the first unit which has been approved for Wisconsin Michigan Power Co, subsidiary of Wisconsin Electric Power Co.

White, Negro Teachers Don't Want Transfer

Alabama Schools Have Difficulty Obeying New Law

By REX THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

MONTGOMERY, Ala (AP) — Some school superintendents in Alabama say Negro as well as white teachers are reluctant to transfer to schools now predominantly of the opposite race

Because of that, school boards, particularly in counties where Negroes have a population majority, say they are finding it difficult to comply with federal court desegregation orders

In rural Lowndes County, where Negroes outnumber white residents 4 to 1 and where the board has been directed to "take affirmative steps" toward faculty integration, every white teacher has resigned except at one school But in Selma, in adjoining Dallas County, school authorities say proportionately more white than Negro teachers have volunteered for desegregation assignments

Fear Reprisals

Negro leaders attribute the reluctance within their race to fear of reprisals, and as one of them expressed it, possibly the belief that the superintendent wants them to display an unwilling attitude.

One spokesman, Executive Secretary Joe Reed of the Negro Alabama State Teachers Association, said school boards invite a negative response by asking for volunteers, as some have done.

He said Negro teachers in a potentially hostile atmosphere feel more secure if they are ordered to transfer than if they volunteer

Most Alabama school systems already have experienced some pupil integration, but when classes reopen next month for the fall term, they will be under statewide court orders to begin quickening the pace And in most instances, faculties will be desegregated for the first time

Charge Brown With Inciting to Riot and Arson

CAMBRIDGE, Md (AP) — The Dorchester County grand jury meeting in special session, has returned indictments charging Black Power advocate H Rap Brown with arson and inciting to riot in a racial disturbance in Cambridge July 24

Brown is presently free on bail after his arrest in Virginia on charges of interstate flight to avoid prosecution in Maryland An extradition hearing for Brown is scheduled in Richmond Aug 23

Thirty-eight witnesses testified before the grand jury before the indictments were handed down against Brown and five other Negroes who are already out on bond All the charges stem from the July 24 riot

Housing Vote Fails, Negro Mayor Quits

'Equal Opportunity Lie' Rejected in Flint Commission

FLINT, Mich (AP) — Mayor Floyd J McCree, the only Negro in the nation heading a city of 200,000 or larger, declares he is resigning because the city commission has rejected an open occupancy housing law.

"I'm not going to sit up here any longer and live an equal opportunity lie," the 44-year-old mayor said Monday night after the commission voted down the law, 5-3.

The auto plant foreman, elected in November 1966, said he will resign Monday.

McCree said he also will resign as commissioner of Flint's heavily-Negro third ward. He had represented the third ward for eight years when he was elected mayor by his fellow commissioners About 25 per cent of Flint's 200,000 residents are Negroes.

"I can no longer serve in good conscience on a commission which does not represent the needs of all citizens," McCree said He is the only Negro on the commission.

He has been an avid supporter of the proposed open occupancy law since it was proposed last year

Commissioners rushed to prepare a final draft of the ordinance last week, just two weeks after violence spread to Flint and a number of other Michigan cities after Detroit erupted in the worst civil outbreak in recent American history Flint is 60 miles northwest of Detroit

Folk Singer Thanks DAR For Publicity

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I want to thank the DAR for all the publicity," folksinger Joan Baez told an estimated 30,000 persons she entertained free at the grounds of the Washington Monument Monday night

Then she sang songs of her antiwar philosophy which the Daughters of the American Revolution had attacked in banning her from their nearby Constitution Hall

U S Park Police set the crowd size at 30,000—ten times Constitution Hall's capacity.

There was a scattering of beards and bare feet, but mostly it was a casually dressed, well-mannered crowd that could as well have been at a Fourth of July celebration.

Miss Baez would have been guaranteed her standard $10,000 for the concert at Constitution Hall But the DAR barred her, saying there were reports she had refused to pay part of her income taxes as an anti-Vietnam war protest. So she announced the free program.

Father Says Son Told of Killing 3 In Lake Cottage

Hearing Opens on 4 Murder Counts Against James D. McBrair

WAUTOMA—The father of accused slayer, James D. McBrair, 27, Plainfield, testified at a preliminary hearing this morning that his son told him early in the morning of March 5, "I did something bad. I just killed Marv, Marge and Carol."

James A. McBrair was the first witness called in the preliminary hearing on four first degree counts against his son. McBrair is accused of murdering his estranged wife, Carol, 25; her father, Marvin Behr, 62; her sister, Barbara, 15, and a babysitter, Cheryl Oleson, 14, during a shooting spree at Behr's Fish Lake cottage early Sunday morning, March 5.

(Although McBrair's father testified that his son told him of killing three persons, there were four victims, and none of the victims was named "Marge," one of the persons the younger McBrair allegedly told his father of killing.)

The senior McBlair's testimony was taken by Waushara County Judge Boyde Clark after the case was transferred back to County Court for the hearing.

Father Testifies

The accused slayer's father said he had heard his son come home shortly after 4 a.. When he got up, he found McBrair sitting in a chair in the living room taking off his boots. The senior McBrair said the first thing his son said to him was "that he had done something bad." He testified he saw blood on his son's jacket.

After his son told him of the killings, he went to wake up his wife and the three of them went to the Waushara County sheriff's office, about 15 miles away.

McBrair had been living with his parents since he was separated from his wife, approximately two weeks before the slayings.

Also testifying today was Sheriff Virgil Batterman. He said that after taking McBrair into custody, he and his chief deputy, Edward Olegney, went to the scene—a small cottage 5 miles east of here.

Find Bodies

Batterman said they found the bodies of Mrs. McBrair and her sister lying on the floor just inside a bedroom door. Miss Oleson's body was sprawled over a bed in which the two McBrair children lay sleeping. Behr's body was found on the living room floor.

A .22 caliber rifle was the murder weapon, the sheriff testified. Although he didn't testify ow many times each victim was shot, Batterman testified that Mrs. McBrair and Behr "were shot up quite bad."

The rifle used in the murders was found in the front seat of a car owned by McBrair's brother, the same car McBrair took home that night, according to testimony. Also found on the front seat of the car was an empty box of .22 caliber cartridges and a leather glove.

"The glove found on the front seat of the car next to the rifle matched the one I found in front of a car at the murder scene."

Buried his Face

The defendant appeared in court today wearing slacks and a knit T-shirt. Throughout the morning's proceedings he sat with his face buried in his hands. He was flanked by his two attorneys, John Wilcox, Wautoma, and John Kotter, Wisconsin Rapids.

McBrair appeared slimmer than when he was arraigned days after the shootings. Since being taken into custody, McBrair spent 60 days at Central State Hospital where he underwent psychiatric examinations. He was returned to the Waushara County jail June 6.

Dist. Atty. Howard Dutcher is being assisted with the prosecution by a Stevens Point attorney, John Haka.

The courtroom this morning was suprisingly empty. Only 22 persons, including police and the press, were present.

man said. Another reason a reverse hydraulic well was not bid by his firm was that there is not an adequate supply of fresh water at the proposed well site, and for that type of a well it is necessary to have a good source of water during the drilling.

Lindenman also explained how the 88-foot deep caisson-type well would be developed. It takes more work, and more men, but the end-result is a better well, Lindenman said.

After the public hearing, Lindenman said it is doubtful work can start on the well this fall. even if PSC approval is granted. He said material would have to be ordered, and it would take 60 to 90 days to drill the well after the material was on the site.

Even after the well is dug, a pump must be installed, a pump house constructed, and water mains installed.

The city, which now has three wells, requires an average of 2,100 gallons of water per minute. Water from well No. 3 developed an objectionable taste and odor late in 1966 and it was taken out of service. However, it was placed back into use this summer because the other two wells were unable to supply enough water.

Water department officials have been under continual pressure from citizens who are objecting to the quality of the water. Recently, one citizen paid his water bill with a check made out to the "Swamp Water Utility."

Mrs. Heil to Head CESA No. 8 Board

Oshkosh Delegate Walks Out in Dispute Over Unit Organization

Delegates to the 3rd annual Cooperative Educational Service Agency No. 8 (CESA 8) re-elected Mrs. Helen Heil, Appleton, as chairman of the group's board of control Monday.

Oshkosh was not represented in the voting when delegate Milton Seefeld walked out of the session in a dispute over the group's organizational structure. This brought the number of school districts represented to 15 of the 17 total (one delegate was absent).

Representatives chose 11 persons to serve on the control unit for the 1967-68 year. They are: Mrs. Heil; Robert Steig, Clintonville; Donald Timm, Hortonville; James Kluge, Kimberly; Richard Kilsdonk, Little Chute; Dr. Elvin K. Prather, Manawa; Mrs. Fern Gaertner, Menasha; Frank X. Hochholzer, Neenah; Fred Bernegger, New London; Elmo Merry, Omro, and Mrs. Marguerite Wentzel, Winneconne.

Mrs. Heil

Other Officers

Mrs. Gaertner was elected to serve as board of control vice chairman and Timm will act as treasurer for the group.

Other delegates to CESA 8 are: Herbert Poppe, Black Creek; Donald Devine, Freedom; Olin G. Dryer, Kaukauna; Seefeld, Oshkosh; Jack Lammers, Shiocton, and Sidney Faulks, Weyauwega.

Prior to voting for the selection of the board of control a request was submitted by Seefeld, the Oshkosh delegate, that his name be stricken from consideration as a candidate. Seefeld charged that the organization was dominated by smaller schools in the district and that larger systems were not properly represented.

Convention chairman Mrs. Heil replied that elections to the board of control were conducted in a democratic manner as set up by the state statutes that govern CESA organization and that if inequities were present they must be worked out at the state level and that the district organization was not at liberty to remove a delegate.

11-Man Board

Mrs. Heil added that when CESA 8 had been organized the group had voted to have an 11-man board of control (under the state set up that allowed each district to chose a 3, 5, 7, 9 or 11-member board) to insure the widest representation possible. She continued that there was "no move to discriminate against larger schools."

It was pointed out that board of control members were elected by the delegates themselves, that Oshkosh had been represented on the board in the first year of the organization and that there were other school districts that had not been represented.

Seefeld termed the organizational structure of the group the "height of folly" and left the meeting when balloting for board of control members began. He received three votes for a board post.

Organizational Meeting

Following the annual convention the new board of control convened in an organizational meeting.

Chairman Mrs. Heil again pointed out that since the state had placed Oshkosh in the CESA 8 district, representation could be removed only on the state level. She added, however, that it was the delegate's prerogative to participate or not participate in the group's preceedings.

In other business the board of control authorized coordinator Kenneth F. Poppy to pay CESA 8 hired teachers $200 of their first month's salary after the first week of work in the fall.

The board also authorized the Appleton State Bank as depository for the 1967-68 fiscal year.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said the first meeting of the drive would take place in a Havana ocean-front park. The aim of the meeting will be to show solidarity with "the Negro population in America against exploitation and discrimination by the imperialist U.S. government," the radio said.

The movement will demand a guarantee of safety from the U.S. government for Carmichael and his companions.

when they have been approved by legislative act," he said, referring to the backing given the two new schools in adopting the 1967-69 biennial state budget.

Work Within Statutes

"I hav ealways felt that the Building Commission is not the body to delay an institution referred to it by legislative act," he added. The function of the building agency is to work within statutes, not to change their intent, he went on to say.

He has hopes that lawsuits over the campuses can be resolved within the next six months, he said, "and hopefully they can be open for students in the fall of 1969,"

Only state Sen. Chester Dempsey, R-Hartland, opposed the release of the funds, citing the litigation regarding the site selection process as his reason.

Voting for the release were Gov. Warren P. Knowles, Martin, Emmer, state Sens. Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, and William Hansen, D-Stevens Point, and Assemblymen Harvey Gee, R-Wisconsin Rapids, and Robert Kordus, D-Milwaukee.

The vote Monday means that state planners have been unable to gain any time in their race against the calendar in the construction of the schools.

It had been hoped that the release of funds could be approved last month, and a month gained in the planning schedule by jumping the process ahead of earlier plans which had scheduled the approval for the August meeting of the commission.

Could Fall Short

The timetable of planning detailed construction of the new campuses may fall a month and a half short of the scheduled fall, 1969 opening date, and state planners had hoped to gain a major portion of that timing by moving ahead the release of funds and by allowing the letting of bids.

Martin's forces blocked that attempt at two July meetings of the commission, as he argued that a state agency should not approve the release of funds for working drawings based on preliminary plans for the Green Bay campus which had not yet been completed at that point.

The Parkside plans had already been completed at that time.

Backers of the campuses opposed attempts by Kordus to split the two campuses into two separate projects at the time of that delay due to fears that after the Parkside project had gained approval, the Green Bay institution would be killed.

If additional delays are met when the projects are again presented to the commission after the completion of the working drawings, the opening of the schools could be endangered even further.

Vandals Damage Tent Used for Beer Stand

Vandals caused extensive damage some time last week to a tent that had been used for a beer stand during softball tournaments at Telulah Park.

The vandalism was reported to Appleton police Monday by George Theiss, 301 W. Prospect Ave., owner of the tent, who said he had loaned the 20 by 20 foot tent to someone else for use at the park. There were several tears in the tent, which police were told is valued at $225.

Other features include a developed 30-car parking area, outdoor recreational facilities and complete landscaping, outdoor lighting of walks and parking area and grade-level entrance to all units, or service by an elevator.

Developers must provide a metropolitan-area map outlining site selection in regard to shopping, medical and other services; site map showing building location on property; exterior sketches; ground floor sketch and typical floor plan (including sketch of furniture in room); photographs of proposed site; photographs and data on previous construction; anticipated completion date, and an estimated price, and breakdown of cost figures on construction and site purchase.

Once a developer is selected, further details of the project will be worked out.

NLHA members also felt the developer would be able to work out any snags holding up progress of the project.

One snag is enacting what HUD calls a "workable program." HUD is to be contacted today for a definition of what "workable program" entails.

Need Clarification

Under one definition, it means having several codes and two special committees. The two committees have been named and all but one of the codes is in effect.

Several months have been spent on a housing code and it is possible it will be submitted at tonight's city council meeting

Although several persons have submitted requests for housing to the NLHA, applications are not being accepted at this time.

Three firms notified NLHA they were interested in the "turn key" program.

Expressing interest were Hackner, Schroeder and Associates, La Crosse; Nichols and Barone, Green Bay, and Mike Jolin, a Hortonville real estate broker. Jolin indicated he had contacts with a Milwaukee firm.

Firemen Help Little Girl in Predicament

Why, you take her to the nearest fire station, of course.

Mrs Earl Burr did just that about 12.30 p m Monday when her daughter, Jeanne, got a finger stuck in the head of a small plastic doll Mrs. Burr, 116 E. Marquette St, took the girl to nearby No. 4 fire station at E Greenfield and N. Meade Streets

Firemen, who have come to expect most anything in the line of duty, solved the girl's predicament with a few snips of a side-cutters.

Byrnes Sees Added Burden Of Tax Falling on Poor

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — In a modern version of an old popular tune, the rich may not actually get richer, but the poor certainly will have to pay the taxes, if the President's proposed 10 per cent surtax increase becomes a law, according to Eighth Dist Rep. John W. Byrnes, R, Green Bay.

The Wisconsin congressman, who is the top man on the House tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, commented this week that the burden of the higher taxes will fall principally on the poor.

"The rich can hedge against higher taxes through investment in growth stocks," Byrnes said, during an interview. "The poor cannot. They must rely on credit and further belt-tightening. So there is no point in giving to the poor with one hand, via new spending programs and taking it away from them with the other hand via higher taxes and inflation."

Always a believer that the government should practice the austerity in spending that it preaches for others, Byrnes suggests several areas of spending which could be either reduced or cut back.

He believes Congress should review the expensive timetable for putting a man on the moon by 1970; the need for a supersonic transport plane immediately and the continuation of the present rate of foreign aid throughout the world.

"Even though these programs may seem desirable, we have to ask ourselves if we should continue them and other programs at their current pace," he concluded.

3 Possible Growth Selections Currently Attractively Priced
...Highlighted in the August MARSHALL LETTER

GENERAL TELEPHONE & ELECTRONICS
Largest Telephone Independent & Important Electronics Firm

It is our judgement that the common stock of GENERAL TELEPHONE, a highly popular issue with investors, is close to the most attractive level in months.

We feel GENERAL TELEPHONE is an attractive vehicle for participation in the above average growth seen for the communications industry.

GRAIN BELT BREWERIES
Profitable Minneapolis Brewer

We feel this issue is attractive at its below average earnings multiple which prevails despite a growth record over the past 10 years considerably above that for the industry as a whole.

INLAND CONTAINER CORPORATION
3rd Largest Corrugated Box Manufacturer

INLAND has shown good sales, earnings, and dividend growth over the past 6 years. Recent prices of the common, close to the lows of the past 3 years, provide, in our opinion, a currently favorable opportunity to participate in further good growth potential seen for INLAND and to obtain a moderately good yield.

Bevers' RBI Single in Eighth Trips Neenah '9'

Little Chute Angels Win Tourney Title

LITTLE CHUTE — Steve Bevers' single with one out in the last of the eighth inning propelled the Little Chute Angels to a 3-2 victory over Twin City Savings, Neenah, for the championship of the Boys Baseball Tournament here Monday evening.

Bevers, who had three hits in the championship game, including a homer which tied up the contest in the fourth frame, rapped out his winning hit with the bases loaded. The Angels had filled the sacks on a walk, a single and an error.

Larry Lamers went the distance on the mound for the winners and allowed seven hits while striking out six. He did not issue a walk. Lamers retired the six in order in five of the eight innings.

Mike Gagnon did the pitching for Twin City Savings and gave up six hits and fanned five.

Twin City jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the top of the second when Gagnon slammed a home run with a mate aboard.

The Angels scored a single tally in the bottom of the second when a walk, stolen base and error allowed a run to score. Bevers' homer then tied it in the fourth.

Tom Eccles had a single and double for the losers.

The Angels and other boys baseball teams from Little Chute will be honored at a banquet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the village hall. Tickets will be available from team members and also will be sold at the door. Cal Spice, former Outagamie County sheriff, will be the guest speaker.

$4.5 Million Suit Against Boone in Rick Barry Case

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A $4.5 million suit will be filed today against singer Pat Boone, owner of the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association.

An injunction was issued by Superior Court Judge Robert J. Drewes last Tuesday preventing Barry from joining the Oaks. The judge said Barry can't play with anyone but the Warriors during the 1967-68 season.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax, the star southpaw who pitched a no-hitter and had a 17-2 lifetime mark against the New York Mets before retiring because of an arthritic left elbow, will be honored by the Mets on Monday night, Sept. 18.

Speculate on Merger of 2 Soccer Loops

NEW YORK (AP) -- Officials of the United Soccer Association and the National Professional Soccer League went into a huddle today that may result in a merger of the rival, fledgling pro leagues.

The expansion committees of the two leagues had day-long, closed door sessions Monday, but officials declined comment on their discussions.

"We feel it would be improper, perhaps harmful, to either or both leagues, to make any comment at this time," a United Association spokesman said, but added:

"It is possible that an important announcement will be made after the Tuesday meeting."

Burlington Wins; Clinton Captures Pair

Burlington defeated Quincy, 7-3, to maintain its second-place standing in the Midwest League, 5½ games behind Appleton.

Last-place Clinton dealt first half champion Wisconsin Rapids a double setback.

The Twins' Jerry Lyscio and the ML's leading ERA pitcher John Lamb hooked in a pitching duel in the first game. Both scattered four hits but clinton scored once in the second and that proved to be enough to win.

In the second game Wisconsin Rapids was again held to four hits by two Clinton hurlers as the Pilots won, 5-0.

Cedar Rapids and Dubuque battled to a scoreless deadlock for nine innings but in the tenth Cedar Rapids pushed across a run to win, 1-0.

The Refugee Problem in Vietnam

In this war that we are fighting for the people of Vietnam, a major method is the search and destroy operation, creating "free-fire zones" where anything that moves can freely be shot. It has not yet been demonstrated that the strategy has any lasting importance. But it certainly does create refugees.

The American technique is simple enough. First leaflets are dropped in the villages, explaining that this is a hamlet where everyone is to be rescued from the Viet Cong. Some 12,500 of the 13,000 hamlets in the area have not yet been pacified — that is they have an invisible anti-government governing system which runs the village. The leaflets explain that this is dangerous, of course, and that to rescue the villagers, their homes must be burned and they must go to resettlement centers. Next, military forces come in and move everyone out — or all those who have not in the meantime disappeared into the jungle. Naturally some things must be left behind — rice crops, cattle, the larger belongings. In South Vietnam today there are more than two million refugees — and not all have willingly fled the Viet Cong.

Can this technique really succeed in the long run? Some villagers may resent Viet Cong domination. Defections from the Viet Cong run about as high as those from the military forces of South Vietnam. But there are indications that the villagers understand the Viet Cong way of doing things. As in other Asian countries, most notably the Philippines, local Communist organizations have a way of offering instant justice, free of blatant graft, which government officials have been unable or unwilling to provide.

Refugees at some of the resettlement centers are quartered in homes that are far better than the ones burned down. They are given money, encouraged to try new ways of farming, helped to find jobs. In other camps, there is only squalor and despair. After all a government cannot do everything. And there are thousands more hamlets to pacify or burn down in search of the Viet Cong, whose numbers never seem to decrease.

The Arab refugees, kept in camps near the Gaza Strip, turned out to be of tremendous political importance in perpetuating the hatreds and fears of the earlier Arab-Israeli war. There are hundreds of thousands more since the brief June war. This time there will be more extended efforts really to resettle the refugees rather than to maintain them as a potentially explosive issue.

Certainly the same thing must be done in Vietnam. At the present time we may be creating as many potential Viet Cong members as we are destroying. Uprooting people from their homes hardly seems to be the best way of encouraging confidence in the government of South Vietnam.

The Return of the Piano

A beloved mentor of our youth was fond of saying that the man or woman who has learned to play the piano has accomplished something, whatever other limitations may be. He was the same wise old fellow who would say, when he overheard a criticism about somebody's narrow achievements, that all that Galli-Curci, the celebrated coloratura soprano of another era, had managed to do was to learn to sing beautifully.

All of which leads us to note gratefully that the piano is making a happy recovery in this country, as shown by recent sales reports.

The 1966 shipments of American manufacturers reached the highest total since the roaring twenties. The aggregate of about 209,000 may seem comparatively modest, given the size and the affluence of the country, but it is a vast improvement over the shrunken market of three and one half decades ago, when sales plummeted to a mere 51,000.

The phonograph, the radio, the depression of the thirties, and finally the ubiquitous TV set, combined to keep the piano industry's sales on the skids for many years. Even today there is competition, from the electric guitar, and the astonishing popularity of the home organ. But the piano is returning to its old place in American family life, and we take note of the fact as an encourageing sign of the American taste and temper.

Censoring Greek Dramas

The stern new government of Greece is bound and determined it is going to "protect the moral, spiritual, artistic and cultural" standards of the Greek people. And so it is tossing out quite a bit of Greek drama that has lasted centuries.

The new censorship orders prohibit all plays, theatrical reviews and public spectacles which might disturb public order, promote subversive theories, discredit the nation and tourism, offend the Christian faith, the King or the Government, undermine the people's healthy social traditions and customs or damage the esthetic development of the people, according to a report from Athens.

That is a pretty big order and there may be some amount of conflict in determining what helps esthetic development and what promotes subversive theories. So just in case, the government has set up a plays control board which must review all scripts before a performance and at the dress rehearsal. Any uncensored lines spoken by a player is blamed on the theater manager.

The results already are notable. Aristophanes' plays, The Birds, The Clouds and The Frogs have been dropped from the summer schedule of ancient drama performances in Athens. So too have Sophocles' Ajax, Aeschylus' Pommetheus Bound and Euripides' Phoenecian Women and The Suppliants.

Greek youth morals and yearnings toward democratic government may be successfully protected and suppressed. But there is a lot of Greek culture and freedom of thought from the old days being conveniently forgotten.

Lincoln's Call for Day of Prayer Contrasts with President Johnson's

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

When President Johnson thought to name the last Sunday in July a National Day of Prayer for Peace and Reconciliation, he probably did not expect such a reaction as he got from Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of Rochester. This eloquent and spiritual man took the occasion to recall a haunting passage from the only previous such proclamation in American history, Abraham

Buckley

Lincoln's during the Civil War. And then to draw a conclusion inimical to President Johnson's policies, a conclusion inimical, in the judoment of many of us, to the ends the Bishop so ardently seeks. Which is — and it was a political bombshell — that we pull out of Vietnam.

But there were the preliminaries. To begin with, as a master dialectician, the Bishop could not forbear the opportunity to bring delicately to the President's attention the paradox of his proclamation: "Is there not something amiss," he asked, "in our government when the President asks us to pray and the Supreme Court tells us where we may not pray — namely in our schools?"

And then he quoted from Abraham Lincoln, whose analysis of why it was that America was being tortured by a civil war could only strike the contemporary secularist as positively fanatical.

LINCOLN QUOTED

Lincoln had said that: "It is a duty of nations as well as of men to own their dependence upon the overruling power of God; to confess their sins and transgressions in humble sorrow, yet with assured hope that genuine repentance will lead to mercy and pardon; and to recognize the sublime truth announced in the Holy Scriptures and proven by all history, that these nations only are blessed."

Then Lincoln asked whether "the awful calamity of civil war which now desolates the land may be but a punishment inflicted upon us for our presumptuous sins, to the needful end of our national reformation as a whole people?" And Lincoln's prescription: "Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving Grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us — it behooves us, then, to humble ourselves, before the Offended Power, to confess our na[illegible] sins, and to pray for c[illegible]cy and forgiveness."

Applying Lincoln's analysis to our own situation, Bishop Sheen first carefully affirmed his separation from his separated political brethren: "Completely disassociating myself from all those who would carry placards instead of a Cross, who would pretend fear of a China doll in order that a great Bear might make war against us; disassociating myself further from all of those who forget that true peace demands a higher price of self-renunciation than many a war, may I speak only as a Christian and humbly ask the President to announce: 'In the Name of God who bade us love our neighbor with our whole heart and soul and mind for the sake of reconciliation, I shall withdraw all our forces immediately from South Vietnam.'"

WHAT ABOUT VIETNAMESE?

Such holy rhetoric is exhilarating, and no doubt all who heard the Bishop's words were moved by them. But does not reconciliation call for the humbling of ourselves only? Surely it does not call for humbling others — "humbling" in this sense meaning the casting of them into servitude. If it were only American pride that were involved in Vietnam, one could more easily respond enthusiastically to the Bishop's exhortations. But there are sixteen million people in South Vietnam, and that figure would be greatly reduced the day after the country was turned over to the Viet Cong. How can we incur God's blessings by withdrawing our soldiers, tucking them neatly home, leaving our brethren to vassalage at the hands of men whose philosophy is based on the repudiation of any sense of Christian restraint?

There are those who, reading the Bishop's words, will feel not that his central point — that we must be humbled — is wrong, but that it calls on us to redouble our efforts in Vietnam in order to lay the basis for a just reconciliation. The Bishop dissociates himself from all of those who forget that true peace demands a higher price of self-renunciation than many a war." Isn't this one such war?

U.S. Does Not Need to Fight to Make Friends

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I write to congratulate you on the thoughtful and informative editorial "The Arms Supply Game" in your edition of July 25. That editorial brings out clearly two regrettable facts. One is the large fraction of U.S. foreign aid which is in the nonconstructive and dangerous form of military hardware. The other is the fact that the United States has a systematic program of "pushing" the sales of American arms abroad

It is important that these matters be widely discussed because they are symptomatic of a serious disease of our foreign policy and "international image." This disease is a heavy and increasing reliance on military violence as our means of solving all problems. The United States is in very serious trouble in Vietnam because we elected to attempt a military solution to a problem which was (and is) political and economic

Another aspect of this problem was also mentioned in your editorial our arms customers more often use their arms against one another than against those we consider our enemies. Often also these arms are used by wealthy minorities to maintain a status quo against a hungry population. There is no surer way to build a strong communist movement.

The tragedy of this situation is that America really does not have to rely on arms production to "make a living" in international trade. We can out-manufacture anyone on any product. Nor does America have to arm every little conservative dictator in order to have friends in the world Indeed, the reverse is true. Vietnam has lost us a great many friends.

Again, thank you for an important editorial.

Legislature Isn't Judged on Number Of Measures Passed

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Some commentators are taking the Legislature to the woodshed for rhetorical chastisement based on the claim that it has in about seven months of work thus far passed very few bills.

That is like complaining that the farmer who regards himself as a cattle breeder has time to rear very few chickens.

Wyngaard

To measure the Legislature by the statistical total of the acts it has approved is invidious, at best, a nit-picking exercise by writers who should know better, and undoubtedly do. The habit of condemning the legislative branch, however, is so deeply ingrained among political critics and observers that it is difficult to break even when in a fair assessment the performance is a reasonably good one.

It is true that in a comparative measurement the number of new laws written this year is modest and that a fair number of bills, some of them of comparatively fairly great interest and importance, remain in committee files without action. Some of them have had no hearings thus far and others have passed through one house but have been delayed for one reason or another in the second house.

REASONS NOT DIFFICULT

But the reasons are not difficult to identify. The major issues of the year, the state budget, the reorganization of state administrative services, the highway safety bill issue, to name a few, were extraordinarily costly in debate time, amendment drafting, and preparation of the members.

The Legislature's record won't be judged by counting melons and berries, in a manner of speaking, but by the impact of its decisions on the major state issues of the day. Is there anyone who would deny that the achievement of the first air pollution control act in the state outranks in significance the fact that a couple of dozen trivial measures were pushed aside in the process?

There is a tendency in these criticisms, reflex reactions as they unfortunately are in too many instances, to overlook the generous elasticity of the Wisconsin legislative process with respect to the presentation of bills and resolutions, impracticable, unnecessary or crank-inspired as many of them are.

IGNORE FUNCTION

Critics often tend to ignore also that the function of the legislature is not only to make new laws but to get rid of those that are no longer needed or were unwisely enacted in the first instance, or are unworkable. Perhaps the best known contemporary illustration was the repeal of the margarine embargo law. There were many factors involved in that decision. But among them was the growing awareness of lawmakers that it was unenforceable and was making involuntary bootleggers out of thousands of otherwise honorable citizens.

Bills are offered for an infinite variety of reasons, not all of them serious or valid. There are the frivolous measures presented only because a legislator doesn't care to offend a constituent who insists that his scheme to resolve the world's ills ought to have a hearing.

There are many others presented only to make party propaganda. The motive is demonstrated in both political parties according to the minority or majority positions they happen to occupy in any session. There is the bill plainly — often honestly — offered to publicize the name of the author. A study of the bulletin of legislative proceedings is illuminating here, and especially the volume and variety of titles under the names of young and ambitious lawmakers who dream each night of their march toward the governor's mansion, or beyond. There are special interest bills, representing minority viewpoints that probably wouldn't come to a vote if the legislature met 300 days annually.

VOTING WITH FEET

It is often said that the refugees of tyrannical regimes, as those who flee from Communist-oriented nations, are voting with their feet.

Legislators also vote with their backsides. To fail to take up a bill is a way of disposing of it, too, in the Wisconsin Legislature, in any legislature, and in the Congress of the United States.

How Do Patriotism, Nationalism Differ?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Most people fail to understand the difference between "patriotism" and "nationalism"

Patriotism is wanting what is best for your country. Nationalism is thinking your country is best, no matter what it does.

Harris

Patriotism means asking your country to conform to the highest laws of man's nature, to the eternal standards of justice and equality. Nationalism means supporting your country even when it violates these eternal standards.

Patriotism means going underground if you have to — as the anti-Nazis in Germany did — and working for the overthrow of your government when it becomes evil and inhuman and incapable of reform.

Nationalism means "going along" with a Hitler or a Stalin or any other tyrant who waves the flag, mouths obscene devotion to the Fatherland, and meanwhile tramples the rights of people.

Patriotism is a form of faith. Nationalism is a form of superstition, of fanaticism, of idolatry

Patriotism would like every country to become like ours, in its best aspects Nationalism despises other countries as incapable of becoming like ours.

Just as we fail to understand the difference between patriotism and nationalism so many people fail to understand what "Americanism" really consists of.

"Americanism" was something utterly new in the world when it was conceived by our Founding Fathers. It was not just another form of nationalism — indeed, it was a repudiation of all the then existing nationalisms.

It was conceived as a form of government unrestricted to one geographical place or one kind of people. It was open to all men everywhere — no matter where they were born or came from. In this respect, it was utterly unique. Its patriotism was potentially worldwide.

The word "Americanism" must not be narrowed or flattened or coarsened to apply only to one flag, one people, one government. In its highest, original sense, it asks that all men become patriots to an idea, not to a particular country or government. And this idea is self-government by all men, who are regarded as equals in the law.

This is why American patriotism — properly understood — is the best patriotism in the world, because it is for all the world, and not just for us. To confuse it with nationalism, to use it for ugly purposes, is to betray the dream of those who made it come true.

Commandos to Replace 'Combat' Infantrymen

Like Men in 'Dirty Dozen,' Foursome In New Series All Convicted Criminals

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Those bone-tired, dirty, unshaven infantrymen of ABC's long running "Combat" who have been crawling through mud and wiping out nests of Germans so realistically will march off the network screen at the end of the month. They'll be succeeded by a jolly band of superfighters of the television fun wars.

The new series is called "Garrison's Gorillas," and centers on the exploits of four convicted criminals—a con man, a thief, a killer and a card shark—serving as a sort of special Allied commando group of World War II.

The format resembles the plot of a new film, "The Dirty Dozen," and has some kinship with "Mission: Impossible," and last season's ill-starred "Jericho."

Generally speaking, war stories built around more or less contemporary conflict have not been overwhelmingly successful in television. Even some good shows like "Convoy" and "Wackiest Ship in the Army"—rarely lasted more than one season, although "McHale's Navy," and "Rat Patrol" have done very well.

Derring-Do Mold

"Garrison's Gorillas" will be in the currently popular derring-do mold and the four "Gorillas" with their commanding officer will play their roles straight. The tongue-in-cheek, camp approach that swept such action shows the past two seasons is now dead.

Ron Harper plays the leader. A tall, good-looking blond Princeton graduate, Harper first came to public notice in "87th Precinct" several season's back, playing a young policeman in a better-than-average action series. It survived but one season. Then followed "Wendy and Me," a sad little situation comedy in which he played Connie Stevens' husband. This barely staggered through a season. Last year he emerged as Jean Arthur's lawyer-son in a highly touted comedy series that was the season's first casualty.

Ordaz to Visit U.S. in October

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Gustavo diaz Ordaz of Mexico has accepted an invitation from President Johnson to pay a state visit to Washington on Oct. 26-27 and then go to he ceremonies ending a long territorial dispute.

The two presidents will fly on Oct. 28 to the scene of the Chamizal settlement involving a small piece of land between El Paso, Tex., and Ciudad Juarez, across the Rio Grande in Mexico.

To Your Good Health

Eye Surgery Can Prevent Blindness

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you recommend removal of cataracts? My father is 85 and has cataracts on both eyes. An eye specialist recommends surgery. His general health is no problem and he recently had a complete physical.

How soon do you think this might cause blindness if he doesn't have surgery? Should you let him go blind, or nearly blind, before considering surgery? — Mrs. I. H.

Dr. Molner

Of course I favor removal of cataracts. That is one kind of near blindness which can be corrected with great success.

Overtones from parts of your letter which I did not print indicate that somebody is trying to frighten this elderly gentleman with false tales. That is a cruel thing to do.

Obviously your father's eyesight already is seriously impaired. Anyway, eye specialists do not, except under extraordinary circumstances, recommend surgery until cataracts have caused considerable loss of vision. (It might be recommended sooner for, let us say, a toolmaker, jeweler or other person who needs his eyesight at maximum.)

Removal of cataracts is being performed every day and with great success, and I have in past months printed several letters from patients describing how much happier they are, and in some cases commenting that they had not realized how much their eyes had failed, because the failure had been gradual.

How soon your father would be classified as "blind" is something I cannot predict, but the eye specialist, by noting the rate at which the cataracts are progressing, probably can give you a good estimate.

Your father is evidently in good condition for a man of his age. It seems a shame to delay the cataract surgery until, perhaps, he becomes too frail to tolerate the surgery well, and then would be blind as well as old and feeble.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a myocardial infraction? Is it a heart attack? Is it in the severe or light classification? — J. B. S.

Yes, it's a heart attack — but it is infarction, not infraction, a mistake which a great many people make.

"Infarct" means that blood has been shut off to part of the heart muscle, thus damaging the muscle. You will find such heart attacks discussed in my booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," which you can obtain by sending to Dr. Molner, in care of this newspaper, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Any infarction — or heart attack — is serious, but the location of the clot or embolus which shuts off the blood flow largely determines how serious the attack is. It always does some damage, but about 75 per cent of patients return to their usual work.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read in a 1967 consumer's publication that radium dial watches are dangerous and young people should not wear them or carry them in their pockets. Is this true? If so, how dangerous are they? I have worn such a watch for two years. — D. K.

I am completely unable to find any such report in the publications I have. The amount of radiation from such a watch dial is so faint that it could not possibly be harmful.

Dear Dr Molner: What is the "Circle of Willis"? I never heard of it. — Mrs. G. H.

The Circle of Willis is a complex of arteries which circle the spinal cord at the base of the brain. Sometimes an aneurysm (bulge) in one of these vessels may rupture, causing hemorrhage, which perhaps is the connection in which you heard the term.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr Molner's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need To Know About Them." Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Red China Diary on CBS Reports

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 — Channels 2-12 — 10:30-11:30 —Channel 7 — One of the most fascinating of news documentaries is Morley Safer's Red China Diary covering a three-week period the CBS correspondent spent in that country. The program is lacking in film polish and it is just this element that makes it so intriguing. Safer and a cameraman, John Peters, got tourist visas to visit China and surreptitiously photographed these scenes and smuggled the raw film, uncensored, out of China. There are a dozen highlights in the program but throughout is the ferocious element of the youth taking over the country. Worse, these young people are often seen as mindless Maoists who have destroyed the ancient cultures and traditions of their country, and replaced all with a blind adoration of one man. (C)

8:30-9 — Channels 2-12 — Meredith MacRae reveals a little of her real life in Petticoat Junction. (She is a part-time poet.) As Bobbie Jo, she sells a poem to a magazine and immediately is bitten by the beatnik bug. (This is not a part of Meredith's real life.) Kate's problem is beating the culture cult of self-ordained intellectuals to whom Billie Jo gravitates. (C-R)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — Combat's "A Child's Game" is a curious drama and a new twist to the usual war games. This one may give you the shudders since it concerns a trio of German teen-agers who will fight to the death to defend a farmhouse Sgt. Saunders and his men want to take. C-R)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 2-7-12 — Judy's sensitive nature is offended again on Daktari and Clarence is the victim once more. The guest star is a pet vulture and who wouldn't want a vulture for a pet? This one is a disease carrier which infects Clarence. (C-R)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 4-5 — The Girl From U.N.C.L.E. finally gets around to that old underwater chestnut, Atlantis. THRUSH discovers a secret tunnel to the lost continent which has crystals 100 times more powerful than an H-bomb. All this prompts a silly race (C-R)

7:30-8:30 — Channels 2-7-12 — Musical stars Eddie Fisher and Connie Stevens share the Spotlight with British variety groups on this production, filmed in England. (C)

* * *

7:30-8:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — Followers of The Invaders will probably enjoy David Vincent's electronic adventure with the aliens. To his surprise, Vincent discovers that six scientists have mysteriously disappeared. (C-R)

* * *

7:30-10 — Channels 4-5 — "A Place in the Sun" is the Tuesday Night at the Movies feature. The outstanding 1951 Paramount film, based on Theodore Dreiser's novel, an "An American Tragedy," stars Elizabeth Taylor, Shelley Winters and Montgomery Clift. (R)

Hair Today . . .

Reflections on Pate Mirror Baldy's Anger

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that bald men get tired of hearing:

"Hi, there, cueball!"

"Have you read any good hair-raising mysteries lately, Elmer?"

"Cheer up, old man. They say that in a million years or so everybody will be bald. If you can just hold out until then, you'll have plenty of company."

"Wherever you go on your vacation, Elmer, don't go to Africa. If you met a near-sighted ostrich, he might try to hatch you."

"Well, hair today, gone tomorrow."

"The big thing that puzzles me is how he tells where his forehead ends and his back bone begins."

Head Upside Down

"Of course, you could grow a crewcut beard, Elmer, but that would only make you look like you had your head screwed on your neck upside down."

"He doesn't have hair for the same reason grass doesn't grow on a busy street. It can't get up through the concrete.

"Don't tell me that's Elmer K. Bugby. Why, in high school he had the longest, curliest hair in our class. All the girls envied him."

"I forget your name, old boy, but the fuzz is familiar."

"As your friend for 30 years would I lie to you, Elmer? I swear it's beginning to grow back in."

"Just trim it on the sides, sir? There doesn't seem much to do-uh-on the top."

Landing Strip

"When he dozes in a chair on the front porch, the flies use his head for a landing strip."

"It makes him kinda look like Yul Brynner—that is, if you don't look too closely."

"According to some scientists, baldness is a sign of great virility. If that's really true, Elmer must be even more masculine than Tarzan."

"I hear he combs with a washcloth."

"It's nice to have Elmer along on our camping trips. In the morning, when we want to shave, we just wait until the sun comes up and use his head for a mirror."

"How did it start in your case? Was your great-granddad scalped by the Indians?"

"Yeah, that's him. Us kids used to sing "On Top of Old Baldy" every time he went by with his wife. Now he pays us each a dime a week not to do it any more."

"There have been a lot of famous bald men in history, Elmer. Lemme see now. Ther was Socrates and Julius Caesar and-uh-well, I guess that's all I can think of offhand."

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

False. The old patriarchal idea was that a man paid little attention to his children until they were big enough to take fishing — or at least were housebroken. But many a modern father finds that feeding and bathing and changing an infant are activities with meaning for him. Such a father can discipline his sons without withdrawing his love from them, and he can work with his wife without losing his feeling of being a real man. This new concept of fatherhood allows a man much more latitude than his old-fashioned father ever knew.

Can a person learn to appreciate great art?

Yes— No—

A reader wrote in and asked this question. We have two suggestions. First, be honest. If you try to pretend that you love great art or music, merely because "everyone else" says that it is great, when actually you do not think so, your pretense will only get in the way. Secondly, give yourself a chance. Read the great classics, poems and novels. See the great paintings. Listen to the great music. Don't try to "appreciate" it or even to enjoy it. Just give yourself a chance and see what happens.
